

The Lamentable Tragedy of Titus Andronicus
by William Shakespeare, c.1588-93

Adapted for Avatar Repertory Theater from the Brandeis First Folio
by Judith Adele/Ada Radius

Notes:

If this is performed as it was in the 16thC, fast (the hysterical speeches even faster) and with simple carryon set pieces, running time is about 2 1/2 hours. Titus Andronicus, set in a fictional Imperial Rome, is a gory revenge play, a popular genre then and now.

I conformed printing characters: j for i, u for v, v for u, vv to w, fixed obvious typos and connected a few hyphenations to make it easier to speak.

- 10 I did not change spelling or punctuation. Elizabethan and Jacobean spelling is phonetic: sound it out, paying attention to rhythm, rhyme, and understandability. Shakespeare writes in both prose and poetry. A poetic line may be split between two speeches. Punctuation matters. Line spacing often matters. This is not grammar, it's stage direction. Pause and breathe accordingly.

16th century English did not sound like modern posh Brit, so please don't unless that's your native dialect. Some regional American and U.K. accents are closer (see history of Appalachia). It's not just consonants and vowel shapes - rhythm, phrasing and the length of the vowels can matter.

- 20 See:

To keep actors and directors from going nuts: I standardized character titles in italic caps, with the folio title in red italic, if different. The character titles in the folio change, depending on scene and character intent. For example, Saturninus' speeches are sometimes titled by his name, and sometimes Emperor or King. It's a stage direction. Character names can also change within speeches, indicating differences in

- 30 pronunciation, intent, or relationship between characters.

We are working on formatting for readability on digital devices such as Kindle, retaining the line breaks of the original printing, best possible.

Color coding is adapted from entertainment industry script standards (actor, sound, sets, props & costume, effects, notes). Chapter titles label each scene, with a list of the characters who will be playing in that scene.

90 Flourish. Enter the Tribunes and Senators aloft. And then enter Saturninus and his Followers at one doore, and Bassianus and his Followers at the other, with Drum & Colours.*

SATURN. Noble Patricians, Patrons of my right,
Defend the justice of my Cause with Armes.
And Countrey-men, my loving Followers,
Pleade my Successive Title with your Swords.
I was the first borne Sonne, that was the last
That wore the Imperiall Diadem of Rome:

100 Then let my Fathers Honours live in me,
Nor wrong mine Age with this indignitie.

BASSIANUS. Romaines, Friends, Followers,
Favourers of my Right:
If ever Bassianus, Casars Sonne,
Were gracious in the eyes of Royall Rome,
Keepe then this passage to the Capitoll:
And suffer not Dishonour to approach
Th'Imperiall Seate to Vertue: consecrate
To Justice, Continence, and Nobility:

110 But let Desert in pure Election shine;
And Romanes, fight for Freedom in your Choice.

Enter Marcus Andronicus aloft with the Crowne.

Princes, that strive by Factions, and by Friends,
Ambitiously for Rule and Empery:
Know, that the people of Rome for whom we stand
A speciall Party, have by Common voyce
In Election for the Romane Emperie,
Chosen Andronicus, Sur-named Pious,
For many good and great deserts to Rome.

120 A Nobler man, a braver Warriour,
Lives not this day within the City Wallles.
He by the Senate is accited home
From weary Warres against the barbarous Gothes,
That with his Sonnes (a terror to our Foes)
Hath yoak'd a Nation strong, train'd up in Armes.
Ten yeares are spent, since first he undertooke
This Cause of Rome, and chasticed with Armes
Our Enemies pride. Five times he hath return'd
Bleeding to Rome, bearing his Valiant Sonnes
130 In Coffins from the Field.

And now at last, laden with Honours Spoyles,
Returns the good Andronicus to Rome,
Renowned Titus, flourishing in Armes.
Let us intreat, by Honour of his Name,
Whom (worthily) you would have now succede,
And in the Capitoll and Senates right,
Whom you pretend to Honour and Adore,
That you withdraw you, and abate your Strength,
Dismiss your Followers, and as Suters should,
140 Pleade your Deserts in Peace and Humblenesse.

SATURN. How fayre the Tribune speakes,
To calme my thoughts.

BASSIANUS. Marcus Andronicus, so I do affieⁱ
In thy uprightness and Integrity:
And so I Love and Honor thee, and thine,
Thy Noble Brother Titus, and his Sonnes,
And Her (to whom my thoughts are humbled all)
Gracious Lavinia, Romes rich Ornament,
That I will heere dismiss my loving Friends:
150 And to my Fortunes, and the Peoples Favour,
Commit my Cause in ballance to be weigh'd.

Exit Souldiours.

SATURN. Friends, that have beene
Thus forward in my Right,
I thanke you all, and heere Dismiss you all,
And to the Love and Favour of my Countrey,
Commit my Selfe, my Person, and the Cause:
Rome, be as just and gracious unto me,
As I am confident and kinde to thee.
160 Open the Gates, and let me in.

BASSIANUS. Tribunes, and me, a poore Competitor.

Flourish. They go up into the Senat house.
Enter a Captaine.

CAPTAIN. Romanes make way: the good Andronicus,
Patron of Vertue, Romes best Champion,
Successefull in the Battailes that he fights,
With Honour and with Fortune is return'd,
From whence he circumscribed with his Sword,
And brought to yoke the Enemies of Rome.

170 Sound Drummes and Trumpets. And then enter two of Titus Sonnes [Lucius, Mutius]; After them, two men bearing a Coffin covered with blacke, then two other Sonnes [Quintus, Martius]. After them, Titus Andronicus, and then Tamora the Queene of Gothes, & her two Sonnes Chiron and Demetrius [and Alarbus], with Aaron the Moore, and others, as many as can bee: They set downe the Coffin, and Titus speakes.

TITUS. Haile Rome:

Victorious in thy Mourning Weedes:

Loe as the Barke that hath discharg'd his fraught,

Returns with precious lading to the Bay,

180 From whence at first she weigh'd her Anchorage:

Commeth Andronicus bound with Lawrell bowes,

To resalute his Country with his teares,

Teares of true joy for his returne to Rome,

Thou great defender of this Capitoll,

Stand gracious to the Rites that we intend.

Romaines, of five and twenty Valiant Sonnes,

Halfe of the number that King Priam had,

Behold the poore remaines alive and dead!

These that Survive, let Rome reward with Love:

190 These that I bring unto their latest home,

With buriall amongst their Auncestors.

Heere Gothes have given me leave to sheath my Sword:

Titus unkinde, and carelesse of thine owne,

Why suffer'st thou thy Sonnes unburied yet,

To hover on the dreadfull shore of Stix?

Make way to lay them by their Bretheren.

They open the Tombe.

There greete in silence as the dead are wont,

And sleepe in peace, slaine in your Countries warres:

200 O sacred receptacle of my joyes,

Sweet Cell of vertue and Noblitie,

How many Sonnes of mine hast thou in store,

That thou wilt never render to me more?

LUCIUS. Give us the proudest prisoner of the Gothes,

That we may hew his limbes, and on a pile

Ad manus fratrumⁱⁱ, sacrifice his flesh:

Before this earthly prison of their bones,

That so the shadowes be not unappeas'd,

Nor we disturb'd with prodigies on earth.

210 TITUS. I give him you, the Noblest that Survives,

The eldest Son of this distressed Queene.

TAMORA. Stay Romaine Bretheren, gracious Conqueror,

Victorious Titus, rue the teares I shed,

A Mothers teares in passion for her sonne:

And if thy Sonnes were ever deere to thee,

Oh thinke my sonnes to be as deere to mee.

Sufficeth not, that we are brought to Rome

To beautifie thy Triumphs, and returne

Captive to thee, and to thy Romaine yoake,

220 But must my Sonnes be slaughtred in the streetes,

For Valiant doings in their Countries cause?

O! If to fight for King and Common-weale,
Were piety in thine, it is in these:
Andronicus, staine not thy Tombe with blood.
Wilt thou draw neere the nature of the Gods?
Draw neere them then in being mercifull.
Sweet mercy is Nobilities true badge,
Thrice Noble Titus, spare my first borne sonne.

TITUS. Patient your selfe Madam, and pardon me.

230 These are the Brethren, whom you Gothes beheld
Alive and dead, and for their Bretheren slaine,
Religiously they aske a sacrifice:
To this your sonne is markt, and die he must,
T'appease their groaning shadowes that are gone.

LUCIUS. Away with him, and make a fire straight,
And with our Swords upon a pile of wood,
Let's hew his limbes till they be cleane consum'd.

Exit Sonnes with Alarbus.

TAMORA. O cruell irreligious piety.

240 CHIRON. Was ever Scythia halfe so barbarous?

DEMETRIUS. Oppose me Scythia to ambitious Rome,
Alarbus goes to rest, and we survive,
To tremble under Titus threatning lookes,
Then Madam stand resolv'd, but hope withall,
The selfe same Gods that arm'd the Queene of Troy
With opportunitie of sharpe revenge
Upon the Thracian Tyrant in his Tent,
May favour Tamora the Queene of Gothes,
(When Gothes were Gothes, and Tamora was Queene)

250 To quit the bloody wrongs upon her foes.

Enter the Sonnes of Andronicus againe.

LUCIUS. See Lord and Father, how we have perform'd
Our Romaine rightes, Alarbus limbs are lopt,
And intrals feede the sacrificing fire,
Whose smoke like incense doth perfume the skie.
Remaineth nought but to interre our Brethren,
And with low'd Larums welcome them to Rome.

TITUS. Let it be so, and let Andronicus
Make this his latest farewell to their soules.

260 Flourish.

Then Sound Trumpets, and lay the Coffins in the Tombe.

In peace and Honour rest you heere my Sonnes,
Romes readiest Champions, repose you heere in rest,
Secure from worldly chaunces and mishaps:
Heere lurks no Treason, heere no envie swels,

Heere grow no damned grudges, heere are no stormes,
No noyse, but silence and Eternall sleepe,
In peace and Honour rest you heere my Sonnes.

Enter Lavinia.

270 LAVINIA. In peace and Honour, live Lord Titus long,
My Noble Lord and Father, live in Fame:
Loe at this Tombe my tributarie teares,
I render for my Bretherens Obsequies:
And at thy feete I kneele, with teares of joy
Shed on the earth for thy returne to Rome.
O blesse me heere with thy victorious hand,
Whose Fortune Romes best Citizens applau'd.

TITUS. Kind Rome,
That hast thus lovingly reserv'd

280 The Cordiall of mine age to glad my hart,
Lavinia live, out-live thy Fathers dayes:
And Fames eternall date for vertues praise.

MARCUS. Long live Lord Titus, my beloved brother,
Gracious Triumpher in the eyes of Rome.

TITUS. Thankes Gentle Tribune,
Noble brother Marcus.

MARCUS. And welcome Nephews from succesfull wars,
You that survive and you that sleepe in Fame:
Faire Lords your Fortunes are all alike in all,

290 That in your Countries service drew your Swords.
But safer Triumph is this Funerall Pompe,
That hath aspir'd to Solons Happines,
And Triumphs over chaunce in honours bed.
Titus Andronicus, the peopleof Rome,
Whose friend in justice thou hast ever bene,
Send thee by me their Tribune and their trust,
This Palliament of white and spotlesse Hue,
And name thee in Election for the Empire,
With these our late deceased Emperours Sonnes:

300 Be Candidatus then, and put it on,
And helpe to set a head on headlesse Rome.

TITUS. A better head her Glorious body fits,
Then his that shakes for age and feeblenesse:
What should I d'on this Robe and trouble you,
Be chosen with proclamations to day,
To morrow yeeld up rule, resigne my life,
And set abroad new businesse for you all.
Rome I have bene thy Souldier forty yeares,
And led my Countries strength successefully,

310 And buried one and twenty Valiant Sonnes,

Knighted in Field, slaine manfully in Armes,
In right and Service of their Noble Countrie:
Give me a staffe of Honour for mine age.
But not a Scepter to controule the world,
Upright he held it Lords, that held it last.

MARCUS. Titus, thou shalt obtaine and aske the Emperie.

SATURN. Proud and ambitious Tribune can'st thou tell?

TITUS. Patience Prince Saturninus.

SATURN. Romaines do me right.

320 Patricians draw your Swords, and sheath them not Till Saturninus be Romes Emperour:
Andronicus would thou wert shipt to hell,
Rather then rob me of the peoples harts.

LUCIUS. Proud Saturnine, interrupter of the good
That Noble minded Titus meanes to thee.

TITUS. Content thee Prince, I will restore to thee
The peoples harts, and weane them from themselves.

BASSIANUS. Andronicus, I do not flatter thee
But Honour thee, and will doe till I die:

330 My Faction if thou strengthen with thy Friend?
I will most thankfull be, and thanks to men
Of Noble mindes, is Honourable Meede.

TITUS. People of Rome, and Noble Tribunes heere,
I aske your voyces and your Suffrages,
Will you bestow them friendly on Andronicus?

TRIBUNE. To gratifie the good Andronicus,
And Gratulate his safe returne to Rome,
The people will accept whom he admits.

TITUS. Tribunes I thanke you, and this sure I make,
340 That you Create your Emperours eldest sonne,
Lord Saturnine, whose Vertues will I hope,
Reflect on Rome as Tytans Rayes on earth,
And ripen Justice in this Common-weale:
Then if you will elect by my advise,
Crowne him, and say: Long live our Emperour.

MARCUS. With Voyces and applause of every sort,
Patricians and Plebeans we Create
Lord Saturninus Romes Great Emperour.
And say, Long live our Emperour Saturnine.

350 A long Flourish till they come downe.

SATURN. Titus Andronicus, for thy Favours done,
To us in our Election this day,

I give thee thanks in part of thy Deserts,
And will with Deeds requite thy gentlenesse:
And for an Onset Titus to advance
Thy Name, and Honorable Familie,
Lavinia will I make my Empresse,
Romes Royall Mistris, Mistris of my hart
And in the Sacred Pathan her espouse:

360 Tell me Andronicus doth this motion please thee?

TITUS. It doth my worthy Lord, and in this match,
I hold me Highly Honoured of your Grace,
And heere in sight of Rome, to Saturnine,
King and Commander of our Common-weale,
The Wide-worlds Emperour, do I Consecrate,
My Sword, my Chariot, and my Prisoners,
Presents well Worthy Romes Imperiall Lord:
Receive them then, the Tribute that I owe,
Mine Honours Ensignes humbled at my feete.

370 SATURN. Thanks Noble Titus, Father of my life,
How proud I am of thee, and of thy gifts
Rome shall record, and when I do forget
The least of these unspeakable Deserts,
Romans forget your Fealtie to me.

TITUS. [to Tamara] Now Madam are your prisoner to an Emperour,
To him that for you Honour and your State,
Will use you Nobly and your followers. [exit Tamara]

SATURN. A goodly Lady, trust me of the Hue
That I would choose, were I to choose a new:
380 Cleere up Faire Queene that cloudy countenance,
Though chance of warre
Hath wrought this change of cheere,
Thou com'st not to be made a scorne in Rome:
Princely shall be thy usage every way.
Rest on my word, and let not discontent
Daunt all your hopes: Madam he comforts you,
Can make your Greater then the Queene of Gothes?
Lavinia you are not displeas'd with this?

LAVINIA. Not I my Lord, sith true Nobilitie,
390 Warrants these words in Princely curtesie.

SATURN. Thanks sweete Lavinia, Romans let us goe:
Ransomlesse heere we set our Prisoners free,
Proclaime our Honors Lords with Trumpe and Drum.

BASSIANUS. Lord Titus by your leave, this Maid is mine.

TITUS. How sir? Are you in earnest then my Lord?

BASSIANUS. Aye Noble Titus, and resolv'd withall,
To doe my selfe this reason, and this right.

MARCUS. *Suum cuiquam*ⁱⁱⁱ, is our Romane Justice,
This Prince in Justice ceazeth but his owne.

400 LUCIUS. And that he will and shall, if Lucius live.

TITUS. Traytors avant, where is the Emperours Guard?
Treason my Lord, Lavinia is surpris'd.

SATURN. Surpris'd, by whom?

BASSIANUS. By him that justly may
Beare his Betroth'd, from all the world away.

MUTIUS. Brothers helpe to convey her hence away,
And with my Sword Ile keepe this doore safe.

TITUS. Follow my Lord, and Ile soone bring her backe.

MUTIUS. My Lord you passe not heere.

410 TITUS. What villaine Boy, bar'st me my way in Rome?

MUTIUS. Helpe Lucius helpe. he kills him [Titus kills Mutius]

LUCIUS. My Lord you are unjust, and more then so,
In wrongfull quarrell, you have slaine your son.

TITUS. Nor thou, nor he are any sonnes of mine,
My sonnes would never so dishonour me.
Traytor restore Lavinia to the Emperour.

LUCIUS. Dead if you will, but not to be his wife,
That is anothers lawfull promist Love.

Enter aloft the Emperour with Tamora and her two 420 sonnes [Chiron, Demetrius], and Aaron the Moore.

SATURN. [Empe.] No Titus, no, the Emperour needs her not,
Nor her, nor thee, nor any of thy stocke:
Ile trust by Leisure him that mocks me once.
Thee never: nor thy Trayterous haughty sonnes,
Confederates all, thus to dishonour me.
Was none in Rome to make a stale
But Saturnine? Full well Andronicus
Agree these Deeds, with that proud bragge of thine,
That said'st, I beg'd the Empire at thy hands.

430 TITUS. O monstrous, what reproachfull words are these?

SATURN. But goe thy wayes, goe give that changing peece,
To him that flourisht for her with his Sword:
A Valliant sonne in-law thou shalt enjoy:
One, fit to bandy with thy lawlesse Sonnes,
To ruffle in the Common-wealth of Rome.

TITUS. These words are Razors to my wounded hart.

SATURN. And therefore lovely Tamora Queene of Gothes,
That like the stately Thebe mong'st her Nymphs
Dost over-shine the Gallant'st Dames of Rome,
440 If thou be pleas'd with this my sodaine choyse,
Behold I choose thee Tamora for my Bride,
And will Create thee Empresse of Rome.
Speake Queene of Goths dost thou applau'd my choyse?
And heere I sweare by all the Romaine Gods,
Sith Priest and Holy-water are so neere,
And Tapers burne so bright, and every thing
In readines for Hymeneus stand,
I will not resalute the streets of Rome,
Or clime my Pallace, till from forth this place,
450 I leade espous'd my Bride along with me,

TAMORA. And heere in sight of heaven to Rome I sweare,
If Saturnine advance the Queen of Gothes,
Shee will a Hand-maid be to his desires,
A loving Nurse, a Mother to his youth.

SATURN. Ascend Faire Qeene,
Panthean Lords, accompany
Your Noble Emperour and his lovely Bride,
Sent by the heavens for Prince Saturnine,
Whose wisdom hath her Fortune Conquered,
460 There shall we Consummate our Spousall rites.

Exeunt omnes. [manet Titus]

TITUS. I am not bid to waite upon this Bride:
Titus when wer't thou wont to walke alone,
Dishonoured thus and Challenged of wrongs?
Enter Marcus and Titus Sonnes. [Lucius, Quintus, Martius]

MARCUS. O Titus see! O see what thou hast done!
In a bad quarrell, slaine a Vertuous sonne.

TITUS. No foolish Tribune, no: No sonne of mine,
Nor thou, nor these Confederates in the deed,
470 That hath dishonoured all our Family,
Unworthy brother, and unworthy Sonnes.

LUCIUS. But let us give him buriall as becomes:
Give Mutius buriall with our Bretheren.

TITUS. Traytors away, he rest's not in this Tombe:
This Monument five hundreth yeares hath stood,
Which I have Sumptuously re-edified:
Heere none but Souldiers, and Romes Servitors,

Repose in Fame: None basely slaine in braules,
Bury him where you can, he comes not heere.

480 MARCUS. My Lord this is impiety in you,
My Nephew Mutius deeds do plead for him,
He must be buried with his bretheren.

Titus two Sonnes speakes.

QUINTUS. MARTIUS. And shall, or him we will accompany.

TITUS. And shall! What villaine was it spake that word?

Titus sonne speakes.

LUCIUS. He that would vouch'd it in any place but heere.

TITUS. What would you bury him in my despight?

MARCUS. No Noble Titus, but intreat of thee,

490 To pardon Mutius, and to bury him.

TITUS. Marcus, Even thou hast stroke upon my Crest,
And with these Boyes mine Honour thou hast wounded,
My foes I doe repute you every one.
So trouble me no more, but get you gone.

LUCIUS. He is not himselfe, let us withdraw.

QUINTUS. Not I tell Mutius bones be buried.

The Brother and the sonnes kneele.

MARCUS. Brother, for in that name doth nature plea'd.

QUINTUS. Father, and in that name doth nature speake.

500 TITUS. Speake thou no more if all the rest will speede.

MARCUS. Renowned Titus more then halfe my soule.

LUCIUS. Deare Father, soule and substance of us all.

MARCUS. Suffer thy brother Marcus to interre
His Noble Nephew heere in vertues nest,
That died in Honour and Lavinia's cause.
Thou art a Romaine, be not barbarous:
The Greekes upon advise did bury Ajax
That slew himselfe: And Laertes sonne,
Did graciously plead for his Funerals:

510 Let not young Mutius then that was thy joy,
Be bar'd his entrance heere.

TITUS. Rise Marcus, rise,
The dismall'st day is this that ere I saw,
To be dishonored by my Sonnes in Rome:
Well, bury him, and bury me the next.

They put him in the Tombe.

LUCIUS. There lie thy bones sweet Mutius with thy friends
Till we with Trophees do adorne thy Tombe.

They all kneele and say.

520 [SONS]. No man shed teares for Noble Mutius,
He lives in Fame, that di'd in vertues cause. Exit. [sons]

MARCUS. My Lord to step out of these sudden dumps,
How comes it that the subtile Queene of Gothes,
Is of a sodaine thus advanc'd in Rome?

TITUS. I know not Marcus: but I know it is,
(Whether by devise or no) the heavens can tell,
Is she not then beholding to the man,
That brought her for this high good turne so farre?
Yes, and will Nobly him remunerate.

530 Flourish.

*Enter the Emperor, Tamora, and her two sons,
with the Moore at one doore.*

Enter at the other doore Bassianus and Lavinia with others.

SATURN. So Bassianus, you have plaid your prize,
God give you joy sir of your Gallant Bride.

BASSIANUS. And you of yours my Lord: I say no more,
Nor wish no lesse, and so I take my leave.

SATURN. Traytor, if Rome have law, or we have power,
Thou and thy Faction shall repent this Rape.

540 BASSIANUS. Rape call you it my Lord, to cease my owne,
My true betrothed Love, and now my wife?
But let the lawes of Rome determine all,
Meanewhile I am possest of that is mine.

SATURN. 'Tis good sir: you are very short with us,
But if we live, wee be as sharpe with you.

BASSIANUS. My Lord, what I have done as best I may,
Answer I must, and shall do with my life,
Onely thus much I give your Grace to know,
By all the duties that I owe to Rome,

550 This Noble Gentleman Lord Titus heere,
Is in opinion and in honour wrong'd,
That in the rescue of Lavinia,
With his owne hand did slay his youngest Son,
In zeale to you, and highly mov'd to wrath.
To be controul'd in that he frankly gave:
Receive him then to favour Saturnine,
That hath expre'st himselfe in all his deeds,
A Father and a friend to thee, and Rome.

TITUS. Prince Bassianus leave to plead my Deeds,
560 'Tis thou, and those, that have dishonoured me,
Rome and the righteous heavens be my justdge,
How I have lov'd and Honour'd Saturnine.

TAMORA. My worthy Lord if ever Tamora,
Were gracious in those Princely eyes of thine,
Then heare me speake indifferently for all:
And at my sute (sweet) pardon what is past.

SATURN. What Madam, be dishonoured openly,
And basely put it up without revenge?

TAMORA. Not so my Lord,
570 The Gods of Rome forfend,
I should be Authour to dishonour you.
But on mine honour dare, I undertake
For good Lord Titus innocence in all:
Whose fury not dissembled speakes his griefes:
Then at my sute looke graciously on him,
Loose not so noble a friend on vaine suppose,
Nor with sowre lookes afflict his gentle heart.
My Lord, be rul'd by me, be wonne at last,
Dissemble all your griefes and discontents,
580 You are but newly planted in your Throne,
Least then the people, and Patricians too,
Upon a just survey take Titus part,
And so supplant us for ingratitude,
Which Rome reputes to be a hainous sinne.
[aside to Saturn.] Yeeld at intreats, and then let me alone:
Ile finde a day to massacre them all,
And race their faction, and their familie,
The cruell Father, and his trayt'rous sonnes,
To whom I sued for my deare sonnes life.
590 And make them know what 'tis to let a Queene.
Kneele in the streetes, and beg for grace in vaine.
Come, come, sweet Emperour, (come Andronicus)
[to all] Take up this good old man, and cheere the heart,
That dies in tempest of thy angry frowne.

SATURN. [King]. Rise Titus, rise,
My Empresse hath prevail'd.

TITUS. I thanke your Majestie,
And her my Lord.
These words, these lookes,
600 Infuse new life in me.

TAMORA. Titus, I am incorporate in Rome,
A Roman now adopted happily.
And must advise the Emperour for his good,

This day all quarrels die Andronicus.
And let it be mine honour good my Lord,
That I have reconcil'd your friends and you.
For you Prince Bassianus, I have past
My word and promise to the Emperour,
That you will be more milde and tractable.

610 And feare not Lords:

And you Lavinia,
By my advise all humbled on your knees,
You shall aske pardon of his Majestie. [all the Andronici kneel]

LUCIUS. [Son]. We doe,
And vow to heaven, and to his Highnes,
That what we did, was mildly, as we might,
Tendring our sisters honour and our owne.

MARCUS. That on mine honour heere I do protest.

SATURN. [King]. Away and talke not, trouble us no more.

620 TAMORA. Nay, nay,
Sweet Emperour, we must all be friends,
The Tribune and his Nephews kneele for grace,
I will not be denied, sweetheart looke back.

SATURN. [King]. Marcus,
For thy sake and thy brothers heere,
And at my lovely Tamora's intreats,
I doe remit these young mens haynous faults.
Stand up: Lavinia, though you left me like a churle,
I found a friend, and sure as death I sware,

630 I would not part a Batchellour from the Priest.
Come, if the Emperours Court can feast two Brides,
You are my guest Lavinia, and your friends:
This day shall be a Love-day Tamora.

TITUS. To morrow and it please your Majestie,
To hunt the Panther and the Hart with me,
With horne and Hound,
Weele give your Grace Bon jour.

SATURN. Be it so Titus, and Gramercy to. Exeunt.

640 A2S1 Rome, before the Capitol. Aaron, Chiron, Demetrius.
Actus Secunda.

Flourish. Enter Aaron alone.

AARON. Now climbeth Tamora Olympus toppe,
Safe out of Fortunes shot, and sits aloft,
Secure of Thunders cracke or lightning flash,
Advanc'd about pale envies threatning reach:

As when the golden Sunne salutes the morne,
And having gilt the Ocean with his beames,
Gallops the Zodiacke in his glistering Coach,
650 And over-lookes the highest piercing hills:
So Tamora
Upon her wit doth earthly honour waite,
And vertue stoopes and trembles at her frowne.
Then Aaron arme thy hart, and fit thy thoughts,
To mount aloft with thy Emperiall Mistris,
And mount her pitch, whom thou in triumph long
Hast prisoner held, fettred in amorous chaines,
And faster bound to Aarons charming eyes,
Then is Prometheus ti'de to Caucasus.
660 Away with slavish weedes, and idle thoughts,
I will be bright and shine in Pearle and Gold,
To waite upon this new made Empresse.
To waite said I? To wanton with this Queene,
This Goddesse, this Semerimis, this Queene,
This Syren, that will charme Romes Saturnine,
And see his shipwracke, and his Commonweales.
Hollo, what storme is this?

Enter Chiron and Demetrius braving. [sword fight]

DEMETRIUS. Chiron thy yeres wants wit, thy wit wants edge
670 And manners to intru'd where I am grac'd,
And may for ought thou know'st affected be.

CHIRON. Demetrius, thou doo'st over-weene in all,
And so in this, to beare me downe with braves,
'Tis not the difference of a yeere or two
Makes me lesse gracious, or thee more fortunate:
I am as able, and as fit, as thou,
To serve, and to deserve my Mistris grace,
And that my sword upon thee shall approve,
And plead my passions for Lavinia's love.

680 AARON. Clubs, clubs, these lovers will not keep the peace.

DEMETRIUS. Why Boy, although our mother (unadvised)
Gave you a daunsing Rapier by your side,
Are you so desperate growne to threat your friends?
Goe too: have your Lath glued within your sheath,
Till you know better how to handle it.

CHIRON. Meanewhile sir, with the little skill I have,
Full well shalt thou perceive how much I dare.

DEMETRIUS. Aye Boy, grow ye so brave? They drawe.

AARON. Why how now Lords?
690 So nere the Emperours Pallace dare you draw,

And maintaine such a quarrell openly?
Full well I wote, the ground of all this grudge.
I would not for a million of Gold,
The cause were knowne to them it most concernes.
Nor would your noble mother for much more
Be so dishonored in the Court of Rome:
For shame put up.

DEMETRIUS. Not I, till I have sheath'd
My rapier in his bosome, and withall
700 Thrust these reprochfull speeches downe his throat,
That he hath breath'd in my dishonour heere.

CHIRON. For that I am prepar'd, and full resolv'd,
Foule spoken Coward,
That thundrest with thy tongue,
And with thy weapon nothing dar'st performe.

AARON. Away I say.
Now by the Gods that warlike Gothes adore,
This pretty brabble will undoo us all:
Why Lords, and thinke you not how dangerous
710 It is to set upon a Princes right?
What is Lavinia then become so loose,
Or Bassianus so degenerate,
That for her love such quarrels may be broacht,
Without controulement, Justice, or revenge?
Young Lords beware, and should the Empresse know,
This discord ground, the musicke would not please.

CHIRON. I care not I, knew she and all the world,
I love Lavinia more then all the world.

DEMETRIUS. Youngling,
720 Learne thou to make some meaner choise,
Lavinia is thine elder brothers hope.

AARON. Why are ye mad? Or know ye not in Rome,
How furious and impatient they be,
And cannot brooke Competitors in love?
I tell you Lords, you doe but plot your deaths,
By this devise.

CHIRON. Aaron, a thousand deaths would I propose,
To atchieve her whom I do love.

AARON. To atcheive her, how?

730 DEMETRIUS. Why, mak'st thou it so strange?
Shee is a woman, therefore may be woo'd,
Shee is a woman, therfore may be wonne,
Shee is Lavinia therefore must be lov'd.

What man, more water glideth by the Mill
Then wots the Miller of, and easie it is
Of a cut loafe to steale a shive we know:
Though Bassianus be the Emperours brother,
Better then he have worne Vulcans badge.

AARON. Aye, and as good as Saturnius may.

740 DEMETRIUS. Then why should he dispaire that knowes to court it
With words, faire lookes, and liberality:
What hast not thou full often strucke a Doe,
And borne her cleanly by the Keepers nose?

AARON. Why then it seemes some certaine snatch or so
Would serve your turnes.

CHIRON. Aye so the turne were served.

DEMETRIUS. Aaron thou hast hit it.

AARON. Would you had hit it too,
Then should not we be tir'd with this adoo:
750 Why harke yee, harke yee, audare^{iv} you such fooles,
To square for this? Would it offend you then?

CHIRON. Faith not me.

DEMETRIUS. Nor me, so I were one.

AARON. For shame be friends, & joyne for that you jar:
'Tis pollicie, and stratageme must doe
That you affect, and so must you resolve,
That what you cannot as you would atcheive,
You must perforce accomplish as you may:
Take this of me, Lucrece was not more chast
760 Then this Lavinia, Bassianus love,
A speedier course this lingring languishment
Must we pursue, and I have found the path:
My Lords, a solemne hunting is in hand.
There will the lovely Roman Ladies troope:
The Forrest walkes are wide and spacious,
And many unfrequented plots there are,
Fitted by kinde for rape and villanie:
Single you thither then this dainty Doe,
And strike her home by force, if not by words:
770 This way or not at all, stand you in hope.
Come, come, our Empresse with her sacred wit
To villainie and vengeance consecrate,
Will we acquaint with all that we intend,
And she shall file our engines with advise,
That will not suffer you to square yourselves,
But to your wishes height advance you both.

The Emperours Court is like the house of Fame,
The pallace full of tongues, of eyes, of eares:
The Woods are ruthlesse, dreadfull, deafe, and dull:
780 There speake, and strike brave Boyes, & take your turnes.
There serve your lusts, shadow'd from heavens eye,
And revell in Lavinia's Treasurie.

CHIRON. Thy counsell Lad smells of no cowardise.

DEMETRIUS. Sij fas aut nefas^v, till I finde the streames,
To coole this heat, a Charme to calme their fits,
Per Stigia per manes Vehor^{vi}. Exeunt.

Enter Titus Andronicus and his three sonnes [Lucius, Quintus, Martius], making a noyse with hounds and hornes, and Marcus.

TITUS. The hunt is up, the morne is bright and gray,
790 The fields are fragrant, and the Woods are greene,
Uncouple heere, and let us make a bay,
And wake the Emperour, and his lovely Bride,
And rouze the Prince, and ring a hunters peale,
That all the Court may eccho with the noyse.
Sonnes let it be your charge, as it is ours,
To attend the Emperours person carefully:
I have bene troubled in my sleepe this night,
But dawning day new comfort hath inspir'd.

Winde Hornes.
800 Heere a cry of houndes, and winde hornes in a peale,
then enter Saturninus, Tamora, Bassianus, Lavinia, Chiron,
Demetrius, and their Attendants.

TITUS. Many good morrowes to your Majestie,
Madam to you as many and as good.
I promised your Grace, a Hunters peale.

SATURN. And you have rung it lustily my Lords,
Somewhat to earely for new married Ladies.

BASSIANUS. Lavinia, how say you?

LAVINIA. I say no:
810 I have bene awake two houres and more.

SATURN. Come on then, horse and Chariots let us have,
And to our sport: Madam, now shall ye see,
Our Romaine hunting.

MARCUS. I have dogges my Lord,
Will rouze the proudest Panther in the Chase,
And clime the highest Pomontary top.

TITUS. And I have horse will follow where the game
Makes way, and runnes likes Swallowes ore the plaine

DEMETRIUS. [aside] Chiron we hunt not we, with Horse nor Hound
820 But hope to plucke a dainty Doe to ground. Exeunt

A2S3 A lonely part of the forest. Aaron, Tamora, Bassianus, Lavinia, Chiron, Demetrius.

Enter Aaron alone. [holding a scroll]

AARON. He that had wit, would thinke that I had none,
To bury so much Gold under a Tree,
And never after to inherit it.
Let him that thinks of me so abjectly,
Know that this Gold must coine a stratageme,
Which cunningly effected, will beget
A very excellent peece of villany:
And so repose sweet Gold for their unrest,
830 That have their Almes out of the Empresse Chest.

Enter Tamora to the Moore.

TAMORA. My lovely Aaron,
Wherefore look'st thou sad,
When everything doth make a Gleefull boast?
The Birds chaunt melody on every bush,
The Snake lies rolled in the chearefull Sunne,
The greene leaves quiver with the cooling winde,
And make a cheker'd shadow on the ground:
Under their sweete shade, Aaron let us sit,
840 And whil'st the babling Eccho mock's the Hounds,
Replying shrilly to the well tun'd-Hornes,
As if a double hunt were heard at once,
Let us sit downe, and marke their yelping noyse:
And after conflict, such as was suppos'd.
The wandring Prince and Dido once enjoy'd,
When with a happy storme they were surpris'd,
And Curtain'd with a Counsaile-keeping Cave,
We may each wreathed in the others armes,
(Our pastimes done) possesse a Golden slumber,
850 Whiles Hounds and Hornes, and sweet Melodious Birds
Be unto us, as is a Nurses Song
Of Lullabie, to bring her Babe asleepe.

AARON. Madame,
Though Venus governe your desires,
Saturne is Dominator over mine:
What signifies my deadly standing eye,
My silence, and my Cloudy Melancholie,
My fleece of Woolly haire, that now uncurls,
Even as an Adder when she doth unrowle
860 To do some fatall execution?
No Madam, these are no Veneriall signes,
Vengeance is in my heart, death in my hand,
Blood, and revenge, are Hammering in my head.

Harke Tamora, the Empresse of my Soule,
Which never hopes more heaven, then rests in thee,
This is the day of Doome for Bassianus;
His Philomel must loose her tongue today,
Thy Sonnes make Pillage of her Chastity,
And wash their hands in Bassianus blood.

870 Seest thou this Letter, take it up I pray thee,
And give the King this fatall plotted Scrowle,
Now question me no more, we are espied,
Heere comes a parcell of our hopefull Booty,
Which dreads not yet their lives destruction.

Enter Bassianus and Lavinia.

TAMORA. Ah my sweet Moore:
Sweeter to me then life.

AARON. No more great Empresse, Bassianus comes,
Be crosse with him, and Ile goe fetch thy Sonnes
880 To backe thy quarrell what so ere they be.

BASSIANUS. Whom have we heere?
Romes Royall Empresse,
Unfurnisht of our well beseeming troope?
Or is it Dian habited like her,
Who hath abandoned her holy Groves,
To see the generall Hunting in this Forrest?

TAMORA. Sawcie controuler of our private steps:
Had I the power, that some say Dian had,
Thy Temples should be planted presently.
890 With Hornes, as was Acteons, and the Hounds
Should drive upon his new transformed limbes,
Unmannerly Intruder as thou art.

LAVINIA. Under your patience gentle Empresse,
'Tis thought you have a goodly gift in Horning,
And to be doubted, that your Moore and you
Are singled forth to try experiments:
Jove sheild your husband from his Hounds to day,
'Tis pittie they should take him for a Stag.

BASSIANUS. Beleeve me Queene, your swarth Cymerion,
900 Doth make your Honour of his bodies Hue,
Spotted, detested, and abhominable.
Why are you sequestred from all your traine?
Dismounted from your Snow-white goodly Steed,
And wandred hither to an obscure plot,
Accompanied with a barbarous Moore,
If foule desire had not conducted you?

LAVINIA. And being intercepted in your sport,
Great reason that my Noble Lord, be rated
For Saucinesse, I pray you let us hence,
910 And let her joy her Raven coloured love,
This valley fits the purpose passing well.

BASSIANUS. The King my Brother shall have notice of this.

LAVINIA. Aye, for these slips have made him noted long,
Good King, to be so mightily abused.

TAMORA. Why I have patience to endure all this?

Enter Chiron and Demetrius.

DEMETRIUS. How now deere Sovereigne
And our gracious Mother,
Why doth your Highnes looke so pale and wan?

920 TAMORA. Have I not reason thinke you to looke pale.
These two have tic'd me hither to this place,
A barren, detested vale you see it is.
The Trees though Sommer, yet forlorne and leane,
Ore-come with Mosse, and balefull Misselto.
Heere never shines the Sunne, heere nothing breeds,
Unlesse the nightly Owle, or fatall Raven:
And when they shew'd me this abhorred pit,
They told me heere at dead time of the night,
A thousand Fiends, a thousand hissing Snakes,
930 Ten thousand swelling Toades, as many Urchins,
Would make such fearefull and confused cries,
As any mortall body hearing it,
Should straite fall mad, or else die suddenly.
No sooner had they told this hellish tale,
But strait they told me they would binde me heere,
Unto the body of a dismall yew,
And leave me to this miserable death.
And then they call'd me foule Adulteresse,
Lascivious Goth, and all the bitterest tearmes
940 That ever eare did heare to such effect.
And had you not by wondrous fortune come,
This vengeance on me had they executed:
Revenge it, as you love your Mothers life,
Or be ye not henceforth cal'd my Children.

DEMETRIUS. This is a witnesse that I am thy Sonne. stab him.

CHIRON. And this for me, [stabs Bassianus]
Strook home to shew my strength.

LAVINIA. [screaming] Aye come Semeramis, nay Barbarous Tamora.
For no name fits thy nature but thy owne.

950 TAMORA. Give me thy poyniard, you shal know my boyes
Your Mothers hand shall right your Mothers wrong.

DEMETRIUS. Stay Madam heere is more belongs to her,
First thrash the Corne, then after burne the straw:
This Minion stood upon her chastity,
Upon her Nuptiall vow, her loyaltie.
And with that painted hope, braves your Mightinesse,
And shall she carry this unto her grave?

CHIRON. And if she doe,
I would I were an Eunuch,
960 Drag hence her husband to some secret hole,
And make his dead Trunke-Pillow to our lust.

TAMORA. But when ye have the hony we desire,
Let not this Waspe out-live us both to sting.

CHIRON. I warrant you Madam we will make that sure:
Come Mistris, now perforce we will enjoy,
That nice-preserved honesty of yours.

LAVINIA. Oh Tamora, thou bear'st a woman face.

TAMORA. I will not heare her speake, away with her.

LAVINIA. Sweet Lords intreat her heare me but a word.

970 DEMETRIUS. Listen faire Madam, let it be your glory
To see her teares, but be your hart to them,
As unrelenting flint to drops of raine.

LAVINIA. When did the Tigers young-ones teach the dam?
O doe not learne her wrath, she taught it thee,
The milke thou suck'st from her did turne to Marble,
Even at thy Teat thou had'st thy Tyranny,
Yet every Mother breeds not Sonnes alike,
Do thou intreat her shew a woman pittie.

CHIRON. What,
980 Would'st thou have me prove myselfe a bastard?

LAVINIA. 'Tis true,
The Raven doth not hatch a Larke,
Yet have I heard, Oh could I finde it now,
The Lion mov'd with pittie, did indure
To have his Princely pawes par'd all away.
Some say, that Ravens foster forlorne children,
The whil'st their owne birds famish in their nests:
Oh be to me though thy hard hart say no,
Nothing so kind but something pittifull.

990 TAMORA. I know not what it meanes, away with her.

LAVINIA. Oh let me teach thee for my Fathers sake,
That gave thee life when well he might have slaine thee:
Be not obdurate, open thy deafe eares.

TAMORA. Had'st thou in person nere offended me.
Even for his sake am I pittillesse:
Remember Boyes I powr'd forth teares in vaine,
To save your brother from the sacrifice,
But fierce Andronicus would not relent,
Therefore away with her, and use her as you will,
1000 The worse to her, the better lov'd of me.

LAVINIA. Oh Tamora,
Be call'd a gentle Queene,
And with thine owne hands kill me in this place,
For 'tis not life that I have beg'd so long,
Poore I was slaine, when Bassianus dy'd.

TAMORA. What beg'st thou then? fond woman let me go?

LAVINIA. 'Tis present death I beg, and one thing more,
That womanhood denies my tongue to tell:
Oh keepe me from their worse then killing lust,
1010 And tumble me into some loathsome pit,
Where never mans eye may behold my body,
Doe this, and be a charitable murderer.

TAMORA. So should I rob my sweet Sonnes of their fee,
No let them satisfie their lust on thee.

DEMETRIUS. Away,
For thou hast staid us heere too long. [drags Lavinia off]

LAVINIA. No Garace,
No womanhood? Ah beastly creature,
The blot and enemy to our generall name,
1020 Confusion fall---

CHIRON. Nay then Ile stop your mouth
Bring thou her husband,
This is the Hole where Aaron bid us hide him. [drags Bass. into the hole, then exit after Lav. & Dem.]

TAMORA. Farewell my Sonnes, see that you make her sure,
Nere let my heart know merry cheere indeed,
Till all the Andronici be made away:
Now will I hence to seeke my lovely Moore,
And let my spleenefull Sonnes this Trull defloure. Exit.

1030

Enter Aaron with two of Titus Sonnes. [Quintius, Martius]

AARON. Come on my Lords, the better foote before,
Straight will I bring you to the lothsome pit,
Where I espied the Panther fast asleepe.

QUINTUS. My sight is very dull what ere it bodes.

MARTIUS. And mine I promise you, were it not for shame,
Well could I leave our sport to sleepe a while. [falls into a hole]

QUINTUS. What art thou fallen?

What subtile Hole is this,

1040 Whose mouth is covered with Rude growing Briers,
Upon whose leaves are drops of new-shed-blood,
As fresh as mornings dew distil'd on flowers,
A very fatall place it seemes to me:
Speake Brother hast thou hurt thee with the fall?

MARTIUS. Oh Brother,
With the dismal'st object
That ever eye with sight made heart lament.

AARON. Now will I fetch the King to finde them heere,
That he thereby may have a likely gesse,
1050 How these were they that made away his Brother. Exit Aaron.

MARTIUS. Why dost not comfort me and helpe me out,
From this unhallow'd and blood-stained Hole?

QUINTUS. I am surprised with an uncouth feare,
A chilling sweat ore-runs my trembling joynts,
My heart suspects more then mine eie can see.

MARTIUS. To prove thou hast a true divining heart,
Aaron and thou looke downe into this den,
And see a fearefull sight of blood and death.

QUINTUS. Aaron is gone,
1060 And my compassionate heart
Will not permit mine eyes once to behold
The thing whereat it trembles by surmise:
Oh tell me how it is, for nere till now
Was I a child, to feare I know not what.

MARTIUS. Lord Bassianus lies embrewed heere,
All on a heape like to the slaughtred Lambe,
In this detested, darke, blood-drinking pit.

QUINTUS. If it be darke, how doost thou know 'tis he?

MARTIUS. Upon his bloody finger he doth weare
1070 A precious Ring, that lightens all the Hole:
Which like a Taper in some Monument,
Doth shine upon the dead mans earthly cheekes,
And shewes the ragged intrailles of the pit:

So pale did shine the Moone on Piramus,
When he by night lay bath'd in Maiden blood:
O Brother helpe me with thy fainting hand.
If feare hath made thee faint, as mee it hath,
Out of this fell devouring receptacle,
As hatefull as Ocitus mistie mouth.

1080 QUINTUS. Reach me thy hand, that I may helpe thee out,
Or wanting strength to doe thee so much good,
I may be pluckt into the swallowing wombe,
Of this deepe pit, poore Bassianus grave:
I have no strength to plucke thee to the brinke.

MARTIUS. Nor I no strength to clime without thy help.

QUINTUS. Thy hand once more, I will not loose againe,
Till thou art heere aloft, or I below,
Thou can'st not come to me, I come to thee. Boths fall in.

Enter the Emperour, Aaron the Moore.

1090 SATURN. Along with me, Ile see what hole is heere,
And what he is that now is leapt into it.
Say, who art thou that lately did'st descend,
Into this gaping hollow of the earth?

MARTIUS. The unhappie sonne of old Andronicus,
Brought hither in a most unluckie houre,
To finde thy brother Bassianus dead.

SATURN. My brother dead? I know thou dost but jest,
He and his Lady both are at the Lodge,
Upon the North-side of this pleasant Chase,

1100 'Tis not an houre since I left him there.

MARTIUS. We know not where you left him all alive,
But out alas, heere have we found him dead.

Enter Tamora, Andronicus, and Lucius.

TAMORA. Where is my Lord the King?

SATURN. [King]. Heere Tamora, though griev'd with killing griefe.

TAMORA. Where is thy brother Bassianus?

SATURN. [King]. Now to the bottome dost thou search my wound,
Poore Bassianus heere lies murthered.

TAMORA. Then all too late I bring this fatall writ,

1110 The complot of this timelesse Tragedie,
And wonder greatly that mans face can fold,
In pleasing smiles such murderous Tyrannie.

She giveth Saturnine a Letter.

SATURN. reads the Letter.

And if we misse to meete him handsomely,
Sweet huntsman, Bassianus 'tis we meane,
Doe thou so much as dig the grave for him,
Thou know'st our meaning, looke for thy reward
Among the Nettles at the Elder tree:

1120 Which over-shades the mouth of that same pit:
Where we decreed to bury Bassianuss
Doe this and purchase us thy lasting friends.

SATURN. [King]. Oh Tamora, was ever heard the like?
This is the pit, and this the Elder tree,
Looke sirs, if you can finde the huntsman out,
That should have murdered Bassianus heere.

AARON. My gracious Lord heere is the bag of Gold.

SATURN. [King]. Two of thy whelpes, fell Curs of bloody kind
Have heere bereft my brother of his life:
1130 Sirs drag them from the pit unto the prison,
There let them bide untill we have devis'd
Some never heard-of tortering paine for them.

TAMORA. What are they in this pit,
Oh wondrous thing!
How easily murder is discovered?

TITUS. High Emperour, upon my feeble knee,
I beg this boone, with teares, not lightly shed,
That this fell fault of my accursed Sonnes,
Accursed, if the faults be prov'd in them.

1140 SATURN. [King]. If it be prov'd? you see it is apparant,
Who found this Letter, Tamora was it you?

TAMORA. Andronicus himselfe did take it up.

TITUS. I did my Lord,
Yet let me be their baile,
For by my Fathers reverent Tombe I vow
They shall be ready at yout Highnes will,
To answere their suspition with their lives.

SATURN. [King]. Thou shalt not baile them, see thou follow me:
Some bring the murdered body, some the murtherers,
1150 Let them not speake a word, the guilt is plaine,
For by my soule, were there worse end then death,
That end upon them should be executed.

TAMORA. Andronicus I will entreat the King,
Feare not thy Sonnes, they shall do well enough.

TITUS. Come Lucius come,
Stay not to talke with them. Exeunt.

A2S4 Another part of the forest. Demetrius, Chiron, Lavinia, Marcus

Enter the Empresse Sonnes, with Lavinia, her hands cut off and her tongue 1160 cut out, and ravisht.

DEMETRIUS. So now goe tell and if thy tongue can speake,
Who t'was that cut thy tongue and ravisht thee.

CHIRON. Write downe thy mind, bewray thy meaning so,
And if thy stumpes will let thee play the Scribe.

DEMETRIUS. See how with signes and tokens she can scowle.

CHIRON. Goe home,
Call for sweet water, wash thy hands.

DEMETRIUS. She hath no tongue to call, nor hands to wash.
And so let's leave her to her silent walkes.

1170 CHIRON. And t'were my cause, I should goe hang myselfe.

DEMETRIUS. If thou had'st hands to helpe thee knit the cord.
Exeunt.[Chirus Demetrius.]

Winde Hornes.

Enter Marcus from hunting, to Lavinia.

MARCUS. Who is this, my Neece that flies away so fast?
Cosen a word, where is your husband?
If I do dreame, would all my wealth would wake me;
If I doe wake, some Planet strike me downe,
That I may slumber in eternall sleepe.

1180 Speake gentle Neece, what sterne ungentle hands
Hath lopt, and hew'd, and made thy body bare
Of her two branches, those sweet Ornaments
Whose circkling shadowes, Kings have sought to sleep in
And might not gaine so great a happines
As halfe thy Love: Why doost not speake to me?
Alas, a Crimson river of warme blood,
Like to a bubling fountaine stir'd with winde,
Doth rise and fall betweene thy Rosed lips,
Comming and going with thy hony breath.

1190 But sure some Tereus hath defloured thee,
And least thou should'st detect them, cut thy tongue.
Ah, now thou turn'st away thy face for shame:
And notwithstanding all this losse of blood,
As from a Conduit with their issuing Spouts,
Yet doe thy cheekes looke red as Titans face,
Blushing to be encountred with a Cloud,
Shall I speake for thee? shall I say 'tis so?
Oh that I knew thy hart, and knew the beast

That I might raile at him to ease my mind.

1200 Sorrow concealed, like an Oven stopt,
Doth burne the hart to Cinders where it is.
Faire Philomela she but lost her tongue,
And in a tedious Sampler sowed her minde.
But lovely Neece, that meane is cut from thee,
A craftier Tereus hast thou met withall,
And he hath cut those pretty fingers off,
That could have better sowed then Philomel.
Oh had the monster seene those Lilly hands,
Tremble like Aspen leaves upon a Lute,
1210 And make the silken strings delight to kisse them,
He would not then have toucht them for his life.
Or had he heard the heavenly Harmony,
Which that sweet tongue hath made:
He would have dropt his knife and fell asleepe,
As Cerberus at the Thracian Poets feete.
Come, let us goe, and make thy father blinde,
For such a sight will blinde a fathers eye.
One houres storme will drowne the fragrant meades,
What, will whole months of teares thy Fathers eyes?
1220 Doe not draw backe, for we will mourne with thee:
Oh could our mourning ease thy misery. Exeunt

A3S1. Rome, a street. NPC Judges & Senators, Titus, Lucius, Marcus, Lavinia, Aaron, Messenger,

Actus Tertius.

*Enter the Judges and Senatours with Titus two sonnes bound, passing on the Stage to the place of execution,
and Titus going before pleading.*

TITUS. Heare me grave fathers, noble Tribunes stay,
For pittie of mine age, whose youth was spent
In dangerous warres, whilst you securely slept:
For all my blood in Romes great quarrell shed,
1230 For all the frosty nights that I have watcht,
And for these bitter teares, which now you see,
Filling the aged wrinkles in my cheekes,
Be pittifull to my condemned Sonnes,
Whose soules is not corrupted as 'tis thought:
For two and twenty sonnes I never wept,
Because they died in honours lofty bed.
Andronicus lyeth downe, and the Judges passe by him.
For these, Tribunes, in the dust I write
My harts deepe languor, and my soules sad teares:
1240 Let my teares stanch the earths drie appetite.
My sonnes sweet blood, will make it shame and blush:
O earth! I will befriend thee more with raine Exeunt [all but Titus]
That shall distill from these two ancient ruines,
Then youthfull Aprill shall with all his showres

In summers drought: Ile drop upon thee still,
In Winter with warme teares Ile melt the snow,
And keepe erernall springtime on thy face,
So thou refuse to drinke my deare sonnes blood.

Enter Lucius, with his weapon drawne.

1250 Oh reverent Tribunes, oh gentle aged men,
Unbinde my sonnes, reverse the doome of death,
And let me say (that never wept before)
My teares are now prevailing Oratours.

LUCIUS. Oh noble father, you lament in vaine,
The Tribunes heare not, no man is by,
And you recount your sorrowes to a stone.

TITUS. Ah Lucius for thy brothers let me plead,
Grave Tribunes, once more I intreat of you.

LUCIUS. My gracious Lord, no Tribune heares you speake.

1260 TITUS. Why 'tis no matter man, if they did heare
They would not marke me: oh if they did heare
They would not pittie me.
Therefore I tell my sorrowes bootles to the stones.
Who though they cannot answeere my distresse,
Yet in some sort they are better then the Tribunes,
For that they will not intercept my tale;
When I doe weepe, they humbly at my feete
Receive my teares, and seeme to weepe with me,
And were they but attired in grave weedes,

1270 Rome could afford no Tribune like to these.
A stone is as soft waxe,
Tribunes more hard then stones:
A stone is silent, and offendeth not,
And Tribunes with their tongues doome men to death.
But wherefore stand'st thou with thy weapon drawne?

LUCIUS. To rescue my two brothers from their death,
For which attempt the Judges have pronounc'st
My everlasting doome of banishment.

TITUS. O happy man, they have befriended thee:
1280 Why foolish Lucius, dost thou not perceive
That Rome is but a wildernes of Tigers?
Tigers must pray, and Rome affords no prey
But me and mine: how happy art thou then,
From these devourers to be banished?
But who comes with our brother Marcus heere?

Enter Marcus and Lavinia.

MARCUS. Titus, prepare thy noble eyes to weepe,
Or if not so, thy noble heart to breake:
I bring consuming sorrow to thine age.

1290 TITUS. Will it consume me? Let me see it then.

MARCUS. This was thy daughter.

TITUS. Why Marcus so she is.

LUCIUS. Aye me this object kills me.

TITUS. Faint-harted boy, arise and looke upon her,
Speake Lavinia, what accursed hand
Hath made thee handlesse in thy Fathers sight?
What foole hath added water to the Sea?
Or brought a faggot to bright burning Troy?
My griefe was at the height before thou cam'st,
1300 And now like Nylus it disdaineth bounds:
Give me a sword, Ile chop off my hands too,
For they have fought for Rome, and all in vaine:
And they have nur'st this woe,
In feeding life:
In bootelesse prayer have they bene held up,
And they have serv'd me to effectlesse use.
Now all the service I require of them,
Is that the one will helpe to cut the other:
'Tis well Lavinia, that thou hast no hands,
1310 For hands to do Rome service, is but vaine.

LUCIUS. Speake gentle sister, who hath martyr'd thee?

MARCUS. O that delightfull engine of her thoughts,
That blab'd them with such pleasing eloquence,
Is torne from forth that pretty hollow cage,
Where like a sweet mellodius bird it sung,
Sweet varied notes inchanting every eare.

LUCIUS. Oh say thou for her,
Who hath done this deed?

MARCUS. Oh thus I found her straying in the Parke,
1320 Seeking to hide herselfe as doth the Deare
That hath receivde some unrecuring wound.

TITUS. It was my Deare,
And he that wounded her,
Hath hurt me more, then had he kild me dead:
For now I stand as one upon a Rocke,
Invirion'd with a wildernessse of Sea.
Who markes the waxing tide,
Grow wave by wave,
Expecting ever when some envious surge,

1330 Will in his brinish bowels swallow him.
This way to death my wretched sonnes are gone:
Heere stands my other sonne, a banisht man,
And heere my brother weeping at my woes.
But that which gives my soule the greatest spurne,
Is deere Lavinia, deerer then my soule.
Had I but seene thy picture in this plight,
It would have madded me. What shall I doe?
Now I behold thy lively body so?
Thou hast no hands to wipe away thy teares,

1340 Nor tongue to tell me who hath martyr'd thee:
Thy husband he is dead, and for his death
Thy brothers are condemn'd, and dead by this.
Looke Marcus, ah sonne Lucius looke on her:
When I did name her brothers, then fresh teares
Stood on her cheekes, as doth the hony dew,
Upon a gathred Lillie almost withered.,

MARCUS. Perchance she weepes because they kil'd her husband,
Perchance because she knowes him innocent.

1350 TITUS. If they did kill thy husband then be joyfull,
Because the law hath tane revenge on them.
No, no, they would not doe so foule a deede,
Witnes the sorrow that their sister makes.
Gentle Lavinia let me kisse thy lips,
Or make some signes how I may do thee ease:
Shall thy good Uncle, and thy brother Lucius,
And thou and I sit round about some Fountaine,
Looking all downewards to behold our cheekes
How they are stain'd in meadowes, yet not dry

And in the Fountaine shall we gaze so long,
Till the fresh taste be taken from that cleerenes,
And made a brine pit with our bitter teares?
Or shall we cut away our hands like thine?
Or shall we bite our tongues, and in dumbe shewes
Passe the remainder of our hatefull dayes?
What shall we doe? Let us that have our tongues
Plot some devise of further miseries
To make us wondred at in time to come.

1370 LUCIUS. Sweet Father cease your teares, for at your grieve
See how my wretched sister sobs and weeps.

MARCUS. Patience deere Neece, good Titus drie thine eyes.

TITUS. Ah Marcus, Marcus, Brother well I wot,
Thy napkin cannot drinke a teare of mine,
For thou poore man hast drown'd it with thine owne.

LUCIUS. Ah my Lavinia I will wipe thy cheekes.

TITUS. Marke Marcus marke, I understand her signes,
Had she a tongue to speake, now would she say
1380 That to her brother which I said to thee.
His Napkin with her true teares all be wet,
Can do no service on her sorrowfull cheekes.
Oh what a simpathy of woe is this!
As farre from helpe as Limbo is from blisse,

Enter Aron the Moore alone.

AARON. [Moore]. Titus Andronicus, my Lord the Emperour,
Sends thee this word, that if thou love thy sonnes,
Let Marcus, Lucius, or thyselfe old Titus,
Or any one of you, chop off your hand,
1390 And send it to the King: he for the same,
Will send thee hither both thy sonnes alive,
And that shall be the ransome for their fault.

TITUS. Oh gracious Emperour, oh gentle Aaron.
Did ever Raven sing so like a Larke,
That gives sweet tydings of the Sunnes uprise?
With all my heart, Ile send the Emperour my hand,
Good Aron wilt thou help to chop it off?

LUCIUS. Stay Father, for that noble hand of thine,
That hath throwne downe so many enemies,
1400 Shall not be sent: my hand will serve the turne,
My youth can better spare my blood then you,
And therfore mine shall save my brothers lives.

MARCUS. Which of your hands hath not defended Rome,
And rear'd aloft the bloody Battleaxe,
Writing destruction on the enemies Castle?
Oh none of both but are of high desert:
My hand hath bin but idle, let it serve
To ransome my two nephewes from their death,
Then have I kept it to a worthy end.

1410 AARON. [Moore] Nay come agree, whose hand shall goe along
For feare they die before their pardon come.

MARCUS. My hand shall goe.

LUCIUS. By heaven it shall not goe.

TITUS. Sirs strive no more, such withered hearbs as these
Are meete for plucking up, and therefore mine.

LUCIUS. Sweet Father, if I shall be thought thy sonne,
Let me redeeme my brothers both from death.

MARCUS. And for our fathers sake, and mothers care,
Now let me shew a brothers love to thee.

1420 TITUS. Agree betweene you, I will spare my hand.

LUCIUS. Then Ile goe fetch an Axe.

MARCUS. But I will use the Axe. Exeunt

TITUS. Come hither Aaron, Ile deceive them both,
Lend me thy hand, and I will give thee mine,

AARON. [Moore] If that be cal'd deceit, I will be honest,
And never whil'st I live deceive men so:
But Ile deceive you in another sort,
And that you'l say ere halfe an houre passe.

He cuts off Titus hand.

1430 Enter Lucius and Marcus againe.

TITUS. Now stay you strife, what shall be, is dispatcht:
Good Aron give his Majestie me hand,
Tell him, it was a hand that warded him
From thousand dangers: bid him bury it:
More hath it merited: That let it have.
As for for my sonnes, say I account of them,
As jewels purchast at an easie price,
And yet deere too, because I bought mine owne.

AARON. I goe Andronicus, and for thy hand,
1440 Looke by and by to have thy sonnes with thee:
Their heads I meane: Oh how this villany
Doth fat me with the very thoughts of it.
Let fooles doe good, and faire men call for grace,
Aron will have his soule blacke like his face. Exit.

TITUS. O heere I lift this one hand up to heaven,
And bow this feeble ruine to the earth,
If any power pitties wretched teares,
To that I call: what wilt thou kneele with me?
Doe then deare heart, for heaven shall heare our prayers,
1450 Or with our sighs wee breath the welkin dimme,
And staine the Sun with fogge as sometime cloudes,
When they do hug him in their melting bosomes.

MARCUS. Oh brother speake with possibilities,
And do not breake into these deepe extreames.

TITUS. Is not my sorrow deepe, having no bottome?
Then be my passions bottomlesse with them.

MARCUS. But yet let reason governe thy lament.

TITUS. If there were reason for these miseries,
Then into limits could I binde my woes:

1460 When heaven doth weepe, doth not the earth oreflow?

If the windes rage, doth not the Sea wax mad,
Threatning the welkin with his big-swolne face?
And wilt thou have a reason for this coile?

I am the Sea. Harke how her sighes doe flow:

Shee is the weeping welkin, I the earth:

Then must my Sea be moved with her sighes,

Then must my earth with her continuall teares,

Become a deluge: overflow'd and drown'd:

For why, my bowels cannot hide her woes,

1470 But like a drunkard must I vomit them:

Then give me leave, for loosers will have leave,

To ease their stomackes with their bitter tongues,

Enter a messenger with two heads and a hand.

MESS. Worthy Andronicus, ill art thou repaid,

For that good hand thou sentst the Emperour:

Heere are the heads of thy two noble sonnes.

And heeres thy hand in scorne to thee sent backe:

Thy griefes, their sports: Thy resolution mockt,

That woe is me to thinke upon thy woes,

1480 More then remembrance of my fathers death. Exit.

MARCUS. Now let hot Aetna coole in Cicilie,

And be my heart an ever-burning hell:

These miseries are more then may be borne.

To weepe with them that weepe, doth ease some deale,

But sorrow flouted at, is double death.

LUCIUS. Ah that this sight should make so deep a wound,

And yet detested life not shrinke thereat:

That ever death should let life beare his name,

Where life hath no more interest but to breath.

1490 MARCUS. Alas poore hart that kisse is comfortlesse,

As frozen water to a starved snake.

TITUS. When will this fearefull slumber have an end?

MARCUS. Now farwell flatterie, die Andronicus,

Thou dost not slumber, see thy two sons heads,

Thy warlike hands, thy mangled daughter here:

Thy other banisht sonnes with this deere sight

Strucke pale and bloodlesse, and thy brother I,

Even like a stony Image, cold and numme.

Ah now no more will I controule my griefes,

1500 Rent off thy silver haire, thy other hand

Gnawing with thy teeth, and be this dismall sight

The closing up of our most wretched eyes:
Now is a time to storme, why art thou still?

TITUS. Ha, ha, ha,

MARCUS. Why dost thou laugh? it fits not with this houre.

TITUS. Why I have not another teare to shed:

Besides, this sorrow is an enemy,
And would usurpe upon my watry eyes,
And make them blinde with tributarie teares.

1510 Then which way shall I finde Revenges Cave?
For these two heads doe seeme to speake to me,
And threat me, I shall never come to blisse,
Till all these mischiefes be returned againe,
Even in their throats that have committed them.

Come let me see what taske I have to doe,
You heavie people, circle me about,
That I may turne me to each one of you,
And sweare unto my soule to right your wrongs.

The vow is made, come Brother take a head,

1520 And in this hand the other will I beare.
And Lavinia thou shalt be employd in these things:
Beare thou my hand sweet wench betweene thy teeth:

As for thee boy, goe get thee from my sight,
Thou art an Exile, and thou must not stay,
Hie to the Gothes, and raise an army there,
And if you love me, as I thinke you doe,
Let's kisse and part, for we have much to doe. Exeunt.

Manet Lucius.

LUCIUS. Farewell Andronicus my noble Father:

1530 The woful'st man that ever liv'd in Rome:
Farewell proud Rome, til Lucius come againe,
He loves his pledges dearer then his life:
Farewell Lavinia my noble sister,
O would thou wert as thou to fore hast beene,
But now, nor Lucius nor Lavinia lives
But in oblivion and hateful griefes:
If Lucius live, he will requit your wrongs,
And make proud Saturnine and his Empresse
Beg at the gates like Tarquin and his Queene.

1540 Now will I to the Gothes and raise a power,
To be reveng'd on Rome and Saturnine. Exit Lucius

A3S2 Banquet room in Titus' house. Titus, Marcus, Lavinia, Boy

A Banket. [banquet]

Enter Andronicus, Marcus, Lavinia, and the Boy.

TITUS [An]. So, so, now sit, and looke you eate no more
Then will preserve just so much strength in us

As will revenge these bitter woes of ours.

Marcus unknot that sorrow-wreathen knot:

Thy Neece and I (poore Creatures) want our hands

And cannot passionate our tenfold grieffe,

1550 With foulded Armes. This poore right hand of mine,
Is left to tirranize uppon my breast.

Who when my hart all mad with misery,

Beats in this hollow prison of my flesh,

Then thus I thumpe it downe.

Thou Map of woe, that thus dost talk in signes,

When thy poore hart beates without ragious beating,

Thou canst not strike it thus to make it still?

Wound it with sighing girle, kil it with grones:

Or get some little knife betweene thy teeth,

1560 And just against thy hart make thou a hole,
That all the teares that thy poore eyes let fall
May run into that sinke, and soaking in,
Drowne the lamenting foole, in Sea salt teares.

MARCUS. Fy brother fy, teach her not thus to lay
Such violent hands uppon her tender life.

TITUS [An]. How now! Has sorrow made thee doate already?

Why Marcus, no man should be mad but I:

What violent hands can she lay on her life:

Ah, wherefore dost thou urge the name of hands,

1570 To bid Aeneas tell the tale twice ore
How Troy was burnt, and he made miserable?
O handle not the theame, to talke of hands,
Least we remember still that we have none,
Fie, fie, how Frantiquely I square my talke
As if we should forget we had no hands:

If Marcus did not name the word of hands.

Come, lets fall too, and gentle girle eate this,

Heere is no drinke? Harke Marcus what she saies,

I can interpret all her martir'd signes,

1580 She saies, she drinkes no other drinke but teares
Breu'd with her sorrow: mesh'd uppon her cheekes,
Speechlesse complaynet, I will learne thy thought:
In thy dumb action, will I be as perfect
As begging Hermits in their holy prayers.
Thou shalt not sighe nor hold thy stumps to heaven,
Nor winke, nor nod, nor kneele, nor make a signe,
But I (of these) will wrest an Alphabet,
And by still practice, learne to know thy meaning.

BOY. Good grandsire leave these bitter deepe laments,

1590 Make my Aunt merry, with some pleasing tale.

MARCUS. Alas, the tender boy in passion mov'd,
Doth weepe to see his grandsires heavinesse.

TITUS [An]. Peace tender Sapling, thou art made of teares,
And teares will quickly melt thy life away.

Marcus strikes the dish with a knife.

What doest thou strike at Marcus with knife.

MARCUS. At that that I have kil'd my Lord, a Flys

TITUS [An]. Out on the murderour: thou kil'st my hart,
Mine eyes cloi'd with view of Tirranie:

1600 A deed of death done on the Innocent
Becoms not Titus brother: get thee gone,
I see thou art not for my company.

MARCUS. Alas (my Lord) I have but kild a flie.

TITUS [An] But? How: if that Flie had a father and mother?
How would he hang his slender gilded wings
And buz lamenting doings in the ayer,
Poore harmelesse Fly,
That with his pretty buzging melody,
Came heere to make us merry,
1610 And thou hast kil'd him.

MARCUS. Pardon me sir,
It was a blacke illfavour'd Fly,
Like to the Empresse Moore, therefore I kild him.

TITUS [An]. O, o, o,
Then pardon me for reprehending thee,
For thou hast done a Charitable deed:
Give me thy knife, I will insult on him,
Flattering myselfes, as if it were the Moore,
Come hither purposely to poyson me. [takes knife]

1620 There's for thyselfe, and thats for Tamira: Ah sirra,
Yet I thinke we are not brought so low,
But that betweene us, we can kill a Fly,
That comes in likenesse of a Cole-blacke Moore.

MARCUS. Alas poore man, grieve ha's so wrought on him,
He takes false shadowes, for true substances.

TITUS [An]. Come, take away: Lavinia, goe with me,
Ile to thy closset, and goe read with thee
Sad stories, chanced in the times of old.

Come boy, and goe with me, thy sight is young,

1630 And thou shalt read, when mine begin to dazell. Exeunt

A4S1 Titus' garden. Boy, Lavinia, Titus, Marcus.

Actus Quartus.

Enter young Lucius and Lavinia running after him, and the Boy flies from her with his bookes under his arme.

Enter Titus and Marcus.

BOY. Helpe Grandsier helpe, my Aunt Lavinia,
Followes me everywhere I know not why.
Good Uncle Marcus see how swift she comes,
Alas sweet Aunt, I know not what you meane.

1640 MARCUS. Stand by me Lucius, doe not feare thy Aunt.

TITUS. She loves thee boy too well to doe thee harme

BOY. Aye when my father was in Rome she did.

MARCUS. What meanes my Neece Lavinia by these signes?

TITUS. Feare not Lucius, somewhat doth she meane:
See Lucius see, how much she makes of thee:
Some whether would she have thee goe with her.
Ah boy, Cornelia never with more care
Read to her sonnes, then she hath read to thee,
Sweet Poetry, and Tullies Oratour:

1650 Canst thou not gesse wherefore she plies thee thus?

BOY. My Lord I know not I, nor can I gesse,
Unlesse some fit or frenzie do possesse her:
For I have heard my Grandsier say full oft,
Extremitie of griefes would make men mad.
And I have read that Hecubae of Troy,
Ran mad through sorrow, that made me to feare,
Although my Lord, I know my noble Aunt,
Loves me as deare as ere my mother did,
And would not but in fury fright my youth,
1660 Which made me downe to throw my bookes, and flie
Causles perhaps, but pardon me sweet Aunt,
And Madam, if my Uncle Marcus goe,
I will most willingly attend your Ladyship.

MARCUS. Lucius I will.

TITUS. How now Lavinia, Marcus what meanes this?
Some booke there is that she desires to see,
Which is it girle of these? Open them boy,
But thou art deeper read and better skild,
Come and take choyse of all my Library,
1670 And so beguile thy sorrow, till the heavens
Reveale the damn'd contriver of this deed.
What booke?
Why lifts she up her armes in sequence thus?

MARCUS. I thinke she meanes that ther was more then one
Confederate in the fact, Aye more there was:
Or else to heaven she heaves them to revenge.

TITUS. Lucius what booke is that she tosseth so?

BOY. Grandsier 'tis Ovids Metamorphosis,
My mother gave it me.

1680 MARCUS. For love of her that's gone,
Perhaps she culd it from among the rest.

TITUS. Soft, so busily she turnes the leaves,
Helpe her, what would she finde? Lavinia shall I read?
This is the tragicke tale of Philomel?
And treates of Tereus treason and his rape,
And rape I feare was roote of thine annoy.

MARCUS. See brother see, note how she quotes the leaves

TITUS. Lavinia, wert thou thus surpriz'd sweet girle,
Ravisht and wrong'd as Philomela was?

1690 Forc'd in the ruthlesse, vast, and gloomy woods?
See, see, Aye such a place there is where we did hunt,
(O had we never, never hunted there)
Patern'd by that the Poet heere describes,
By nature made for murthers and for rapes.

MARCUS. O why should nature build so foule a den,
Unlesse the Gods delight in tragedies?

TITUS. Give signes sweet girle, for heere are none but friends
What Romaine Lord it was durst do the deed?

Or slunke not Saturnine, as Tarquin ersts,

1700 That left the Campe to sinne in Lucrece bed.

MARCUS. Sit downe sweet Neece, brother sit downe by me,
Appollo, Pallas, Jove, or Mercury,
Inspire me that I may this treason finde.
My Lord looke heere, looke heere Lavinia.

He writes his Name with his staffe, and guides it with feete and mouth.

This sandie plot is plaine, guide if thou canst
This after me, I have writ my name,
Without the helpe of any hand at all.

1710 Curst be that hart that forc'st us to that shift:
Write thou good Neece, and heere display at last,
What God will have discovered for revenge,
Heaven guide thy pen to print thy sorrowes plaine,
That we may know the Traytors and the truth.

She takes the staffe in her mouth, and guides it with her stumps and writes.

TITUS. Oh doe ye read my Lord what she hath writs?
Stuprum^{vii}, Chiron, Demetrius.

MARCUS. What, what, the lustfull sonnes of Tamora,
1720 Performers of this hainous bloody deed?

TITUS. Magni Dominator poli^{viii},
Tam lentus audis scelera, tam lentus vides?^{ix}

MARCUS. Oh calme thee gentle Lord: Although I know
There is enough written upon this earth,
To stirre a mutinie in the mildest thoughts,
And arme the mindes of infants to exclames.
My Lord kneele downe with me: Lavinia kneele,
And kneele sweet boy, the Romaine Hectors hope,
And sweare with me, as with the wofull Feere
1730 And father of that chast dishonoured Dame,
Lord Junius Brutus sweare for Lucrece rape,
That we will prosecute (by good advise)
Mortall revenge upon these traytorous Gothes,
And see their blood, or die with this reproach.

TITUS. Tis sure enough, and you knew how.
But if you hunt these Beare-whelpes, then beware
The Dam will wake, and if she winde you once,
Shee's with the Lyon deeply still in league.
And lulls him whilst she playeth on her backe,
1740 And when he sleepes will she do what she list.
You are a young huntsman Marcus, let it alone:
And come, I will goe get a leafe of brasse,
And with a Gad of steele will write these words,
And lay it by: the angry Northerne winde
Will blow these sands like Sibels leaves abroad,
And wheres your lesson then. Boy what say you?

BOY. I say my Lord, that if I were a man,
Their mothers bed-chamber should not be safe,
For these bad bond-men to the yoake of Rome.

1750 MARCUS. Aye that's my boy, thy father hath full oft,
For his ungratefull country done the like.

BOY. And Uncle so will I, and if I live.

TITUS. Come goe with me into mine Armorie,
Lucius Ile fit thee, and withall, my boy
Shall carry from me to the Empresse sonnes,
Presents that I intend to send them both,
Come, come, thou'lt do thy message, wilt thou not?

BOY. Aye with my dagger in their bosomes Grandsire:

TITUS. No boy not so, Ile teach thee another course,
1760 Lavinia come, Marcus looke to my house,
Lucius and Ile goe brave it at the Court,
Aye marry will we sir, and wee be waited on. Exeunt.

[Manet Marcus]

MARCUS. O heavens! Can you heare a good man grone
And not relent, or not compassion him?
Marcus attend him in his extasie,
That hath more scars of sorrow in his heart,
Then foe-mens markes upon his batter'd shield,
But yet so just, that he will not revenge,
1770 Revenge the heavens for old Andronicus. Exit

A4S2. The palace. Aaron, Chiron, Demetrius, Boy, Nurse.

*Enter Aron, Chiron and Demetrius at one dore:
and at another dore young Lucius and another,
with a bundle of weapons, and verses writ upon them.*

CHIRON. Demetrius heeres the sonne of Lucius,
He hath some message to deliver us.

AARON. Aye some mad message from his mad Grandfather.

BOY. My Lords, with all the humblenesse I may,
I greete your honours from Andronicus,
1780 And pray the Romane Gods confound you both.

DEMETRIUS. Gramercie lovely Lucius, what's the newes?
For villanie's markt with rape. May it please you,
My Grandsire well advis'd hath sent by me,
The goodliest weapons of his Armorie,
To gratifie your honourable youth,
The hope of Rome, for so he bad me say:
And so I do and with his gifts present
Your Lordships, whenever you have need,
You may be armed and appointed well,
1790 And so I leave you both: like bloody villaines. Exit [Boy]
What's heere? a scrole, & written round about?
Let's see.

Integer vitae scelerisque purus, non egit maury iaculis nec arcus.^x

CHIRON. O 'tis a verse in Horace, I know it well.
I read it in the Grammer long agoe.

AARON. [Moore] Aye just, a verse in Horace: right, you have it,
Now what a thing it is to be an Asse?
Heer's no sound jest, the old man hath found their guilt,
And sends the weapons wrapt about with lines,
1800 That wound (beyond their feeling) to the quick:
But were our witty Empresse well afoot,

She would applaud Andronicus conceit:
But let her rest, in her unrest awhile.
And now young Lords, wa'st not a happy starre
Led us to Rome strangers, and more then so;
Captives, to be advanced to this height?
It did me good before the Pallace gate,
To brave the Tribune in his brothers hearing.

1810 DEMETRIUS. But me more good, to see so great a Lord
Basely insinuate, and send us gifts.

AARON. [Moore] Had he not reason Lord Demetrius?
Did you not use his daughter very friendly?

DEMETRIUS. I would we had a thousand Romane Dames
At such a bay, by turne to serve our lust.

CHIRON. A charitable wish, and full of love.

AARON. [Moore] Heere lack's but you mother for to say, Amen.

CHIRON. And that would she for twenty thousand more.

DEMETRIUS. Come, let us go, and pray to all the Gods
For our beloved mother in her paines.

1820 AARON. [Moore] Pray to the devils, the gods have given us over.

Flourish.

DEMETRIUS. Why do the Emperors trumpets flourish thus?

CHIRON. Belike for joy the Emperour hath a sonne.

DEMETRIUS. Soft, who comes heere?

Enter Nurse with a blacke a Moore childe.

NURSE. Good morrow Lords:
O tell me, did you see Aaron the Moore?

AARON. Well, more or lesse, or nere a whit at all,
Heere Aaron is, and what with Aaron now?

1830 NURSE. Oh gentle Aaron, we are all undone,
Now helpe, or woe betide thee evermore.

AARON. Why, what a catterwalling dost thou keepe?
What dost thou wrap and fumble in thine armes?

NURSE. O that which I would hide from heavens eye,
Our Empresse shame, and stately Romes disgrace,
She is delivered Lords, she is delivered.

AARON. To whom?

NURSE. I meane she is brought abed?

AARON. Wel God give her good rest,
1840 What hath he sent her?

NURSE. A devill.

AARON. Why then she is the Devils Dam: a joyfull issue.

NURSE. A joylesse, dismall, blacke &, sorrowfull issue,
Heere is the babe as loathsome as a toad,
Among'st the fairest breeders of our clime,
The Empresse sends it thee, thy stampe, thy seale,
And bids thee christen it with thy daggers point.

AARON. Out you whore, is black so base a hue?
Sweet blowse, you are a beautious blossome sure.

1850 DEMETRIUS. Villaine what hast thou done?

AARON. That which thou canst not undoe.

CHIRON. Thou hast undone our mother.

DEMETRIUS. And therein hellish dog, thou hast undone,
Woe to her chance, and damn'd her loathed choyce,
Accur'st the off-spring of so foule a fiend.

CHIRON. It shall not live.

AARON. It shall not die.

NURSE. Aaron it must, the mother wils it so.

1860 AARON. What, must it Nurse? Then let no man but I
Doe execution on my flesh and blood.

DEMETRIUS. Ile broach the Tadpole on my Rapiers point:
Nurse give it me, my sword shall soone dispatch it.

AARON. Sooner this sword shall plough thy bowels up.
Stay murtherous villaines, will you kill your brother?
Now by the burning Tapers of the skie,
That sh'one so brightly when this Boy was got,
He dies upon my Semitars sharpe point,
That touches this my first borne sonne and heire.
I tell you young-lings, not Enceladus

1870 With all his threatning band of Typhons broode,
Nor great Alcides, nor the God of warre,
Shall ceaze this prey out of his fathers hands:
What, what, ye sanguine shallow harted Boyes,
Ye white-limb'd walls, ye Ale-house painted signes,
Cole-blacke is better then another hue,
In that it scornes to beare another hue:
For all the water in the Ocean,
Can never turne the Swans blacke legs to white,
Although she lave them hourelly in the flood:

1880 Tell the Empresse from me, I am of age
To keepe mine owne, excuse it how she can.

DEMETRIUS. Wilt thou betray thy noble mistress thus?

AARON. My mistress is my mistress: this my selfe,
The vigour, and the picture of my youth:
This, before all the world do I preferre,
This mauger^{xi} all the world will I keepe safe,
Or some of you shall smoake for it in Rome.

DEMETRIUS. By this our mother is forever sham'd.

CHIRON. Rome will despise her for this foule escape.

1890 NURSE. The Emperour in his rage will doome her death.

CHIRON. I blush to thinke upon this ignominie.

AARON. Why ther's the priviledge your beauty beares:
Fie trecherous hue, that will betray with blushing
The close enacts and counsels of the hart:
Heer's a young Lad fram'd of another leere,
Looke how the blacke slave smiles upon the father;
As who should say, old Lad I am thine owne.
He is your brother Lords, sensibly fed
Of that selfe blood that first gave life to you,
1900 And from that wombe where you imprisoned were
He is enfranchised and come to light:
Nay he is your brother by the surer side,
Although my seale be stamped in his face.

NURSE. Aaron what shall I say unto the Empresse?

DEMETRIUS. Advise thee Aaron, what is to be done,
And we will all subscribe to thy advise:
Save thou the child, so we may all be safe.

AARON. Then sit we downe and let us all consult.
My sonne and I will have the winde of you:

1910 Keepe there, now talke at pleasure of your safety.

DEMETRIUS. How many women saw this childe of his?

AARON. Why so brave Lords, when we joyne in league
I am a Lambe: but if you brave the Moore,
The chafed Bore, the mountaine Lyonesse,
The Ocean swells not so at Aaron stormes:
But say againe, how many saw the childe?

NURSE. Cornelia, the midwife, and myselfe,
And none else but the delivered Empresse.

AARON. The Empresse, the Midwife, and yourselfe,
1920 Two may keepe counsell, when the third's away:
Goe to the Empresse, tell her this I said, He kils her
Weeke, weeke, so cries a Pigge prepared to th'spit.

DEMETRIUS. What mean'st thou Aaron?
Wherefore did'st thou this?

AARON. O Lord sir, 'tis a deed of pollicie?
Shall she live to betray this guilt of our's:
A long tongu'd babling Gossip? No Lords no:
And now be it knowne to you my full intent.
Not farre, one Muliteus my Country-man
1930 His wife but yesternight was brought to bed,
His childe is like to her, faire as you are:
Goe packe with him, and give the mother gold,
And tell them both the circumstance of all,
And how by this their Childe shall be advaunc'd,
And be received for the Emperours heyre,
And substituted in the place of mine,
To calme this tempest whirling in the Court,
And let the Emperour dandle him for his owne.
Harke ye Lords, ye see I have given her physicke,
1940 And you must needs bestow her funerall,
The fields are neere, and you are gallant Groomes:
This done, see that you take no longer daies
But send the Midwife presently to me.
The Midwife and the Nurse well made away,
Then let the Ladies tattle what they please.

CHIRON. Aaron I see thou wilt not trust the ayre with secrets.

DEMETRIUS. For this care of Tamora,
Herselfe, and hers are highly bound to thee. Exeunt. [Manet Aaron]

AARON. Now to the Gothes, as swift as Swallow flies,
1950 There to dispose this treasure in mine armes,
And secretly to greete the Empresse friends:
Come on you thick-lipt-slave, Ile beare you hence,
For it is you that puts us to our shifts:
Ile make you feed on berries, and on rootes,
And feed on curds and whay, and sucke the Goate,
And cabbins in a Cave, and bring you up
To be a warriour, and command a Campe. Exit

A4S3. Before the palace. Titus, Marcus, Boy, Publius, Caius, Valentine, Sempronius, Clown.

Enter Titus, old Marcus, young Lucius [Boy], and other gentlemen with bowes, [Publius, Caius, Valentine, Sempronius] and Titus beares the 1960 arrowes with Letters on the end of them.

TITUS. Come Marcus, come, kinsmen this is the way.
Sir Boy let me see your Archerie,
Looke yee draw home enough, and 'tis there straight:
Terras Astrea reliquit^{xii}, be you remembred Marcus.

She's gone, she's fled, sirs take you to your tooles,
You Cosens shall goe sound the Ocean:
And cast your nets, haply you may find her in the Sea,
Yet ther's as little justice as at Land:
No Publius and Sempronius, you must doe it,

1970 'Tis you must dig with Mattocke, and with Spade,
And pierce the inmost Center of the earth:
Then when you come to Plutoes Region,
I pray you deliver him this petition,
Tell him it is for justice, and for aide,
And that it comes from old Andronicus,
Shaken with sorrowes in ungratefull Rome.
Ah Rome! Well, well, I made thee miserable,
What time I threw the peoples suffrages
On him that thus doth tyrannize ore me.

1980 Goe get you gone, and pray be carefull all,
And leave you not a man of warre unsearcht,
This wicked Emperour may have shipt her hence,
And kinsmen then we may goe pipe for justice.

MARCUS. O Publius is not this a heavie case
To see thy Noble Unckle thus distract?

PUBLIUS. Therefore my Lords it highly us concernes,
By day and night t'attend him carefully:
And feede his humour kindly as we may,
Till time beget some carefull remedie.

1990 MARCUS. Kinsmen, his sorrowes are past remedie.
Joyne with the Gothes, and with revengefull warre,
Take wreake on Rome for this ingratitude,
And vengeance on the Traytor Saturnine.

TITUS. Publius how now? how now my Maisters?
What have you met with her?

PUBLIUS. No my good Lord, but Pluto sends you word,
If you will have revenge from hell you shall,
Marrie for justice she is so imploy'd,
He thinkes with Jove in heaven, or somewhere else:

2000 So that perforce you must needs stay a time.

TITUS. He doth me wrong to feed me with delayes,
Ile dive into the burning Lake below,
And pull her out of Acaron by the heeles.
Marcus we are but shrubs, no Cedars we,
No big-bon'd-men, fram'd of the Cyclops size,
But mettall Marcus, steele to the very backe,
Yet wrung with wrongs more then our backe can beare:
And sith there's no justice in earth nor hell,
We will sollicite heaven, and move the Gods

2010 To send downe Justice for to wreake our wrongs:
Come to this geare, you are a good Archer Marcus.
He gives them the Arrowes.

Ad Jovem, that's for you: here ad Appollonem,
Ad Martem, that's for myselfe,
Heere Boy to Pallas, heere to Mercury,
To Saturnine, to Caius, not to Saturnine,
You were as good to shoote against the winde.
Too it Boy, Marcus loose when I bid:
Of my word, I have written to effect,

2020 Ther's not a God left unsolicited.

MARCUS. Kinsmen, shoot all your shafts into the Court,
We will afflict the Emperour in his pride.

TITUS. Now Maisters draw, Oh well said Lucius:
Good Boy in Virgoes lap, give it Pallas.

MARCUS. My Lord, I aime a Mile beyond the Moone,
Your letter is with Jupiter by this.

TITUS. Ha, ha, Publius, Publius, what hast thou done?
See, see, thou hast shot off one of Taurus hornes.

MARCUS. This was the sport my Lord, when Publius shot,

2030 The Bull being gal'd, gave Aries such a knocke,
That downe fell both the Rams hornes in the Court,
And who should finde them but the Empresse villaine:
She laught, and told the Moore he should not choose
But give them to his Maister for a present.

TITUS. Why there it goes, God give your Lordship joy.
Enter the Clowne with a basket and two Pigeons in it.

Newes, newes, from heaven,
Marcus the poast is come.
Sirrah, what tydings? have you any letters?

2040 Shall I have Justice, what sayes Jupiter?

CLOWN. Ho the Jibbetmaker, he sayes that he hath taken them downe againe, for the man must not be hang'd till the next weeke.

TITUS. But what sayes Jupiter I aske thee?

CLOWN. Alas sir I know not Jupiter:
I never dranke with him in all my life.

TITUS. Why villaine art not thou the Carrier?

CLOWN. Aye of my Pigions sir, nothing else.

TITUS. Why, did'st thou not come from heaven?

2050 CLOWN. From heaven? Alas sir, I never came there,
God forbid I should be so bold, to presse to heaven in my young dayes. Why I am going with my pigeons to the Tribunall Plebs, to take up a matter of brawle, betwixt

my Uncle, and one of the Emperialls men.

MARCUS. Why sir, that is as fit as can be to serve for your Oration, and let him deliver the Pigeons to the Emperour from you.

TITUS. Tell mee, can you deliver an Oration to the Em-perour with a Grace?

2060 CLOWN. Nay truely sir, I could never say grace in all my life.

TITUS. Sirrah come hither, make no more adoe,
But give your Pigeons to the Emperour,
By me thou shalt have Justice at his hands.
Hold, hold, meanwhile her's money for thy charges.
Give me pen and inke.
Sirrah, can you with a Grace deliver a Supplication?

CLOWN. Aye sir

2070 TITUS. Then here is a Supplication for you, and when you come to him, at the first approach you must kneele, then kisse his foote, then deliver up your Pigeons, and then looke for your reward. Ile be at hand sir, see you do it bravely.

CLOWN. I warrant you sir, let me alone.

TITUS. Sirrha hast thou a knife? Come let me see it.
Heere Marcus, fold it in the Oration,
For thou hast made it like an humble Suppliant:
And when thou hast given it the Emperour,
Knocke at my dore, and tell me what he sayes.

2080 CLOWN. God be with you sir, I will. Exit.

TITUS. Come Marcus let us goe, Publius follow me. Exeunt.

Enter Emperour and Empresse, and her two sonnes, the Emperour brings the Arrowes in his hand that Titus shot at him.

SATURN. Why Lords,
What wrongs are these? was ever seene
An Emperour in Rome thus overborne,
Troubled, Confronted thus, and for the extent
Of egall justice, us'd in such contempt?
2090 My Lords, you know the mightfull Gods,
(How ever these disturbers of our peace
Buz in the peoples eares) there nought hath past,
But even with law against the willfull Sonnes
Of old Andronicus. And what and if

His sorrowes have so overwhelm'd his wits,
Shall we be thus afflicted in his wreakes,
His fits, his frenzie, and his bitterness?
And now he writes to heaven for his redresse.
See, heeres to Jove, and this to Mercury,

2100 This to Apollo, this to the God of warre:
Sweet scrowles to flie about the streets of Rome:
What's this but Libelling against the Senate,
And blazoning our Injustice everywhere?
A goodly humour, is it not my Lords?
As who would say, in Rome no Justice were.
But if I live, his fained extasies
Shall be no shelter to these outrages:
But he and his shall know, that Justice lives
In Saturninus health; whom if he sleepe,
2110 Hee'l so awake, as he in fury shall
Cut off the proud'st Conspirator that lives.

TAMORA. My gracious Lord, my lovely Saturnine,
Lord of my life, Commander of my thoughts,
Calme thee, and beare the faults of Titus age,
Th'effects of sorrow for his valiant Sonnes,
Whose losse hath pier'st him deepe, and scar'd his heart;
And rather comfort his distressed plight,
Then prosecute the meanest or the best
For these contempts. Why thus it shall become 2120 High witted Tamora to glose with all: Aside.
But Titus, I have touch'd thee to the quicke,
Thy lifeblood out: If Aaron now be wise,
Then is all safe, the Anchor's in the Port.

Enter Clowne.

How now good fellow, would'st thou speake with us?

CLOWN. Yea forsooth, and your Mistership be Emperiall.

TAMORA. Empresse I am, but yonder sits the Emperour.

CLOWN. 'Tis he; God & Saint Stephen give you good den;
I have brought you a Letter, & a couple of Pignons heere.

2130 He [Saturninus] reads the Letter.

SATURN. Goe take him away, and hang him presently.

CLOWN. How much money must I have?

TAMORA. Come sirrah you must be hang'd.

CLOWN. Hang'd? berLady, then I have brought up a neck to a faire end. Exit.

SATURN. Despightfull and intollerable wrongs,
Shall I endure this monstrous villany?

I know from whence this same devise proceedes:
May this be borne? As if his traytrous Sonnes,
2140 That dy'd by law for murther of our Brother,
Have by my meanes beene butcher'd wrongfully?
Goe dragge the villaine hither by the haire,
Nor Age, nor Honour, shall shape priviledge:
For this proud mocke, Ile be thy slaughterman:
Sly franticke wretch, that holp'st to make me great,
In hope thyselfe should governe Rome and me.

Enter Nuntius Emillius.

SATURN. What newes with thee Emillius?

EMILLIUS. Arme my Lords, Rome never had more cause,
2150 The Gothes have gather'd head, and with a power
Of high resolved men, bent to the spoyle
They hither march amaine, under conduct
Of Lucius, Sonne to old Andronicus:
Who threats in course of this revenge to do
As much as ever Coriolanus did.

SATURN. [King]. Is warlike Lucius Generall of the Gothes?
These tydings nip me, and I hang the head
As flowers with frost, or grasse beat downe with stormes:
Aye, now begins our sorrowes to approach,
2160 'Tis he the common people love so much,
My selfe hath often heard them say,
(When I have walked like a private man)
That Lucius banishment was wrongfully,
And they have wisht that Lucius were their Emperour.

TAMORA. Why should you feare? Is not our City strong?

SATURN. [King]. Aye, but the Cittizens favour Lucius,
And will revolt from me, to succour him.

TAMORA. King, be thy thoughts Imperious like thy name.
Is the Sunne dim'd, that Gnats do flie in it?
2170 The Eagle suffers little Birds to sing,
And is not carefull what they meane thereby,
Knowing that with the shadow of his wings,
He can at pleasure stint their melodie.
Even so mayest thou, the giddy men of Rome,
Then cheare thy spirit, for know thou Emperour,
I will enchaunt the old Andronicus,
With words more sweet, and yet more dangerous
Then baites to fish, or honystalkes to sheepe,
When as the one is wounded with the baite,
2180 The other rotted with delicious foode.

SATURN. [King]. But he will not entreat his Sonne for us.

TAMORA. If Tamora entreat him, then he will,
For I can smooth and fill his aged eare,
With golden promises, that were his heart
Almost Impregnable, his old eares deafe,
Yet should both eare and heart obey my tongue.
Goe thou before to our Embassadour,
Say, that the Emperour requests a parly
Of warlike Lucius, and appoint the meeting.

2190 SATURN. [King]. Emillius do this message Honourably,
And if he stand in Hostage for his safety,
Bid him demaund what pledge will please him best.

EMILLIUS. Your bidding shall I do effectually. Exit.

TAMORA. Now will I to that old Andronicus,
And temper him with all the Art I have,
To plucke proud Lucius from the warlike Gothes.
And now sweet Emperour be blithe againe,
And bury all thy feare in my devises.

SATURN. Then goe successantly and plead for him. Exit. [Exeunt]

2200

A5S1 Plains near Rome. Lucius, Goth, Aaron, Emillius.

Actus Quintus.

Flourish. Enter Lucius with an Army of Gothes, with Drum and Souldiers.

LUCIUS. Approved warriours, and my faithfull Friends,
I have received Letters from great Rome,
Which signifies what hate they beare their Emperour,
And how desirous of our sight they are.
Therefore great Lords, be as your Titles witnesse,
Imperious and impatient of your wrongs,

2210 And wherein Rome hath done you any scathe,
Let him make treble satisfaction.

GOTH. Brave slip, sprung from the Great Andronicus,
Whose name was once our terrour, now our comfort,
Whose high exploits, and honourable Deeds,
Ingratefull Rome requites with foule contempt:
Behold in us, wee follow where thou lead'st,
Like stinging Bees in hottest Sommers day,
Led by their Maister to the flowred fields,

2220 And be aveng'd on cursed Tamora:
And as he saith, so say we all with him.

LUCIUS. I humbly thanke him, and I thanke you all.
But who comes heere, led by a lusty Goth?

Enter a Goth leading of Aaron with his child in his armes.

GOTH. Renowned Lucius, from our troupes I straid,
To gaze upon a ruinous Monasterie,
And as I earnestly did fixe mine eye
Upon the wasted building, suddainely
2230 I heard a childe cry underneath a wall:
I made unto the noyse, when soone I heard,
The crying babe control'd with this discourse:
Peace Tawny slave, halfe me, and halfe thy Dam,
Did not thy Hue bewray whose brat thou art?
Had nature lent thee, but thy Mothers looke,
Villaine thou might'st have bene an Emperour.
But where the Bull and Cow are both milk-white,
They never do beget a cole-blacke-Calfe:
Peace, villaine peace, even thus he rates the babe,
2240 For I must beare thee to a trusty Goth,
Who when he knowes thou art the Empresse babe,
Will hold thee dearely for thy Mothers sake.
With this, my weapon drawne I rusht upon him,
Surpriz'd him suddainely, and brought him hither
To use, as you thinke needefull of the man.

LUCIUS. Oh worthy Goth, this is the incarnate devill,
That rob'd Andronicus of his good hand:
This is the Pearle that pleas'd your Empresse eye,
And heere's the Base Fruit of his burning lust.
2250 Say wall-ey'd slave, whether would'st thou convay
This growing Image of thy fiend-like face?
Why dost not speake? what deafe? Not a word?
A halter Souldiers, hang him on this Tree,
And by his side his Fruite of Bastardie.

AARON. Touch not the Boy, he is of Royall blood.

LUCIUS. Too like the Syre for ever being good.
First hang the Child that he may see it sprall,
A sight to vexe the Fathers soule withall.

AARON. Get me a Ladder Lucius, save the Childe,
2260 And beare it from me to the Empresse:
If thou do this, Ile shew thee wondrous things,
That highly may advantage thee to heare;
If thou wilt not, befall what may befall,
Ile speake no more: but vengeance rot you all.

LUCIUS. Say on, and if it please me which thou speak'st,
Thy child shall live, and I will see it Nourisht.

AARON. And if it please thee? why assure thee Lucius,
'Twill vexe thy soule to heare what I shall speake:

For I must talke of Murthers, Rapes, and Massacres,
2270 Acts of Blacke-night, abhominable Deeds,
Complots of Mischiefe, Treason, Villanies
Ruthfull to heare, yet pittiously preform'd,
And this shall all be buried by my death,
Unlesse thou sweare to me my Childe shall live.

LUCIUS. Tell on thy minde,
I say thy Childe shall live.

AARON. Sweare that he shall, and then I will begin.

LUCIUS. Who should I sweare by,
Thou beleevest no God,
2280 That graunted, how can'st thou beleeeve an oath?

AARON. What if I do not, as indeed I do not,
Yet for I know thou art Religious,
And hast a thing within thee, called Conscience,
With twenty Popish trickes and Ceremonies,
Which I have seene thee carefull to observe:
Therefore I urge thy oath, for that I know
An Ideot holds his Bauble for a God,
And keepes the oath which by that God he sweares,
To that Ile urge him: therefore thou shalt vow
2290 By that same God, what God so ere it be
That thou adorest, and hast in reverence,
To save my Boy, to nourish and bring him up,
Ore else I will discover nought to thee.

LUCIUS. Even by my God I sweare to to thee I will.

AARON. First know thou,
I begot him on the Empresse.

LUCIUS. Oh most Insatiate luxurious woman!

AARON. Tut Lucius, this was but a deed of Charitie,
To that which thou shalt heare of me anon,
2300 'Twas her two Sonnes that murdered Bassianus,
They cut thy Sisters tongue, and ravisht her,
And cut her hands off, and trim'd her as thou saw'st.

LUCIUS. Oh detestable villaine!
Call'st thou that Trimming?

AARON. Why she was washt, and cut, and trim'd,
And 'twas trim sport for them that had the doing of it.

LUCIUS. Oh barbarous beastly villaines like thyselfe!

AARON. Indeede, I was their Tutor to instruct them,
That Codding spirit had they from their Mother,
2310 As sure a Card as ever wonne the Set:

That bloody minde I thinke they learn'd of me,
As true a Dog as ever fought at head.
Well, let my Deeds be witnesse of my worth:
I trayn'd thy Bretheren to that guilefull Hole,
Where the dead Corps of Bassianus lay:
I wrote the Letter, that thy Father found,
And hid the Gold within the Letter mention'd.
Confederate with the Queene, and her two Sonnes,
And what not done, that thou hast cause to rue,

2320 Wherein I had no stroke of Mischeife in it.
I play'd the Cheater for thy Fathers hand,
And when I had it, drew myselfe apart,
And almost broke my heart with extreame laughter.
I pried me through the Crevice of a Wall,
When for his hand, he had his two Sonnes heads,
Beheld his teares, and laught so hartily,
That both mine eyes were rainie like to his:
And when I told the Empresse of this sport,
She sounded almost at my pleasing tale,
2330 And for my tydings, gave me twenty kisses.

GOTH. What canst thou say all this, and never blush?

AARON. Aye, like a blacke Dogge, as the saying is.

LUCIUS. Art thou not sorry for these hainous deedes?

AARON. Aye, that I had not done a thousand more:

Even now I curse the day, and yet I thinke
Few come within few compasse of my curse,
Wherein I did not some Notorious ill,
As kill a man, or else devise his death,
Ravish a Maid, or plot the way to do it,
2340 Accuse some Innocent, and forswear myselfe,
Set deadly Enmity betweene two Friends,
Make poore mens Cattell breake their neckes,
Set fire on Barnes and Haystackes in the night,
And bid the Owners quench them with the teares:
Oft have I dig'd up dead men from their graves,
And set them upright at their deere Friends doore,
Even when their sorrowes almost was forgot,
And on their skinnnes, as on the Barke of Trees,
Have with my knife carved in Romaine Letters,

2350 Let not your sorrow die, though I am dead.
Tut, I have done a thousand dreadfull things
As willingly, as one would kill a Fly,
And nothing greeves me hartily indeede,
But that I cannot doe ten thousand more.

LUCIUS. Bring downe the divell, for he must not die
So sweet a death as hanging presently.

AARON. If there be divels, would I were a devill,
To live and burne in everlasting fire,
So I might have your company in hell,
2360 But to torment you with my bitter tongue.

LUCIUS. Sirs stop his mouth, & let him speake no more.

Enter Emillius.

GOTH. My Lord, there is a Messenger from Rome
Desires to be admitted to your presence.

LUCIUS. Let him come neere.
Welcome Emillius, what the newes from Rome?

EMILLIUS. Lord Lucius, and you Princes of the Gothes,
The Romaine Emperour greetes you all by me,
And for he understands you are in Armes,
2370 He craves a parly at your Fathers house
Willing you to demand your Hostages,
And they shall be immediately delivered.

GOTH. What saies our Generall?

LUCIUS. Emillius, let the Emperour give his pledges
Unto my Father, and my Uncle Marcus, Flourish.
And we will come: march away. Exeunt.

A5S2 Before Titus' house. Tamora, Chiron, Demetrius. Titus, Publius, Caius, Valentine

Enter Tamora, and her two Sonnes disguised.

TAMORA. Thus in this strange and sad Habilliament,
I will encounter with Andronicus,
2380 And say, I am Revenge sent from below,
To joyne with him and right his hainous wrongs:
Knocke at his study where they say he keepes,
To ruminat strange plots of dire Revenge,
Tell him Revenge is come to joyne with him,
And worke confusion on his Enemies.

They knocke [on the upstage door?]and Titus opens his study dore. [aloft]

TITUS. Who doth mollest my Contemplation?
Is it your tricke to make me ope the dore,
That so my sad decrees may flie away,
2390 And all my studie be to no effect?
You are deceiv'd, for what I meane to do,
See heere in bloody lines I have set downe:
And what is written shall be executed.

TAMORA. Titus, I am come to talke with thee,

TITUS. No not a word: how can I grace my talke,
Wanting a hand to give it action,
Thou hast the ods of me, therefore no more.

TAMORA. If thou did'st know me,
Thou would'st talke with me.

2400 TITUS. I am not mad, I know thee well enough,
Witnesse this wretched stump,
Witnesse these crimson lines,
Witnesse these Trenches made by griefe and care,
Witnesse the tiring day, and heavie night,
Witnesse all sorrow, that I know thee well
For our proud Empresse, Mighty Tamora:
Is not thy comming for my other hand?

TAMORA. Know thou sad man, I am not Tamora,
She is thy Enemie, and I thy Friend,
2410 I am Revenge sent from th'infernall Kingdome,
To ease the gnawing Vulture of the mind,
By working wreakefull vengeance on my Foes:
Come downe and welcome me to this worlds light,
Conferre with me of Murder and of Death,
Ther's not a hollow Cave or lurking place,
No Vast obscurity, or Misty vale,
Where bloody Murther or detested Rape,
Can couch for feare, but I will finde them out,
And in their eares tell them my dreadfull name,
2420 Revenge, which makes the foule offenders quake.

TITUS. Art thou Revenge? and art thou sent to me,
To be a torment to mine Enemies?

TAMORA. I am, therefore come downe and welcome me.

TITUS. Doe me some service ere I come to thee:
Loe by thy side where Rape and Murder stands,
Now give some surance that thou art Revenge,
Stab them, or teare them on thy Chariot wheeles,
And then Ile come and be thy Waggoner,
And whirle along with thee about the Globes.
2430 Provide thee two proper Palfries, as blacke as Jet,
To hale thy vengefull Waggon swift away,
And finde out Murder in their guilty cares.
And when thy Car is loaden with their heads,
I will dismount, and by the Waggon wheele,
Trot like a Servile footeman all day long,
Even from Eptons rising in the East,
Untill his very downefall in the Sea.

And day by day Ile do this heavy taske,
So thou destroy Rapine and Murder there.

2440 TAMORA. These are my Ministers, and come with me.

TITUS. Are them thy Ministers, what are they call'd?

TAMORA. Rape and Murder, therefore called so,
Cause they take vengeance of such kind of men.

TITUS. Good Lord how like the Empresse Sons they are,
And you the Empresse: But we worldly men,
Have miserable mad mistaking eyes:
Oh sweet Revenge, now do I come to thee,
And if one armes imbracement will content thee,
I will imbrace thee in it by and by. [he enters onto the stage]

2450 TAMORA. [aside] This closing with him, fits his Lunacie,
What ere I forge to feede his braine-sicke fits,
Do you uphold, and maintaine in your speeches,
For now he firmly takes me for Revenge,
And being Credulous in this mad thought,
Ile make him send for Lucius his Sonne,
And whil'st I at a Banquet hold him sure,
Ile find some cunning practise out of hand
To scatter and disperse the giddie Gothes,
Or at the least make them his Enemies:

2460 See heere he comes, and I must play my theame.

TITUS. Long have I bene forlorne, and all for thee,
Welcome dread Fury to my woefull house,
Rapine and Murther, you are welcome too,
How like the Empresse and her Sonnes you are.
Well are you fitted, had you but a Moore,
Could not all hell afford you such a devill?
For well I wote the Empresse never wags;
But in her company there is a Moore,
And would you represent our Queene aright

2470 It were convenient you had such a devill:
But welcome as you are, what shall we doe?

TAMORA. What would'st thou have us doe Andronicus?

DEMETRIUS. Shew me a Murtherer, Ile deale with him.

CHIRON. Shew me a Villaine that hath done a Rape,
And I am sent to be reveng'd on him.

TAMORA. Shew me a thousand that have done thee wrong,
And Ile be revenged on them all.

TITUS. Looke round about the wicked streets of Rome,
And when thou find'st a man that's like thyselfe,

2480 Good Murder stab him, hee's a Murtherer.
Goe thou with him, and when it is thy hap
To finde another that is like to thee,
Good Rapine stab him, he is a Ravisher.
Go thou with them, and in the Emperours Court,
There is a Queene attended by a Moore,
Well maist thou know her by thy owne proportion,
For up and downe she doth resemble thee.
I pray thee doe on them some violent death,
They have bene violent to me and mine.

2490 TAMORA. Well hast thou lesson'd us, this shall we do.
But would it please thee good Andronicus,
To send for Lucius thy thrice Valiant Sonne,
Who leades towards Rome a Band of Warlike Gothes,
And bid him come and Banquet at thy house.
When he is heere, even at thy Solemne Feast,
I will bring in the Empresse and her Sonnes,
The Emperour himselfe, and all thy Foes,
And at thy mercy shall they stoop, and kneele,
And on them shalt thou ease, thy angry heart:
2500 What saies Andronicus to this devise?

Enter Marcus.

TITUS. Marcus my Brother, 'tis sad Titus calls,
Go gentle Marcus to thy Nephew Lucius,
Thou shalt enquire him out among the Gothes,
Bid him repaire to me, and bring with him
Some of the chieftest Princes of the Gothes,
Bid him encampe his Souldiers where they are,
Tell him the Emperour, and the Empresse too,
Feasts at my house, and he shall Feast with them,
2510 This do thou for my love, and so let him,
As he regards his aged Fathers life.

MARCUS. This will I do, and soone returne againe.

TAMORA. Now will I hence about thy businesse,
And take my Ministers along with me.

TITUS. Nay, nay, let Rape and Murder stay with me,
Or els Ile call my Brother backe againe,
And cleave to no revenge but Lucius.

TAMORA. What say you Boyes, will you bide with him,
Whiles I goe tell my Lord the Emperour,
2520 How I have govern'd our determined jest?
Yeeld to his Humour, smooth and speake him faire,
And tarry with him till I turne againe.

TITUS. I know them all, though they suppose me mad,
And will ore-reach them in their owne devises,
A payre of cursed hell-hounds and their Dam.

DEMETRIUS. Madam depart at pleasure, leave us heere.

TAMORA. Farewell Andronicus, revenge now goes
To lay a complot to betray thy Foes. [Exit]

TITUS. I know thou doo'st, and sweet revenge farewell.

2530 CHIRON. Tell us old man, how shall we be imploy'd?

TITUS. Tut, I have worke enough for you to doe,
Publius come hither, Caius, and Valentine. [Enter Publius, Caius, Valentine]

PUBLIUS. What is your will?

TITUS. Know you these two?

PUBL. The Empresse Sonnes
I take them, Chiron, Demetrius.

TITUS. Fie Publius, fie, thou art too much deceav'd,
The one is Murder, Rape is the others name,
And therefore bind them gentle Publius,
2540 Caius, and Valentine, lay hands on them,
Oft have you heard me wish for such an houre,
And now I find it, therefore binde them sure,

CHIRON. Villaines forbear, we are the Empresse Sonnes.

PUBLIUS. And therefore do we, what we are commanded.
Stop close their mouthes, let them not speake a word,
Is he sure bound, looke that you binde them fast. [binds them]
Exeunt [Publius, Titus, leaving Chiron, Demetrius, bound]

Enter Titus Andronicus, with a knife, and Lavinia with a Bason.

TITUS. Come, come Lavinia, looke, thy Foes are bound,
Sirs stop their mouthes, let them not speake to me,
But let them heare what fearefull words I utter.
Oh Villaines, Chiron, and Demetrius,
Here stands the spring whom you have stain'd with mud,
This goodly Sommer with your Winter mixt,
You kil'd her husband, and for that vil'd fault,
Two of her Brothers were condemn'd to death,
My hand cut off, and made a merry jest,
2560 Both her sweet Hands, her Tongue, and that more deere
Then Hands or tongue, her spotlesse Chastity,
Inhumaine Traytors, you constrain'd and for'st.
What would you say, if I should let you speake?
Villaines for shame you could not beg for grace.

Harke Wretches, how I meane to martyr you,
This one Hand yet is left, to cut your throats,
Whil'st that Lavinia tweene her stumps doth hold:
The Bason that receives your guilty blood.
You know your Mother meanes to feast with me,
2570 And calls herselfe Revenge, and thinkes me mad.
Harke Villaines, I will grin'd your bones to dust,
And with your blood and it, Ile make a Paste,
And of the Paste a Coffen I will reare,
And make two Pasties of your shamefull Heads,
And bid that strumpet your unhallowed Dam,
Like to the earth swallow her increase.
This is the Feast, that I have bid her to,
And this the Banquet she shall surfet on,
For worse then Philomel you usd my Daughter,
2580 And worse then Progne, I will be reveng'd,
And now prepare your throats: Lavinia come.
Receive the blood, and when that they are dead,
Let me goe grin'd their Bones to powder small,
And with this hatefull Liquor temper it,
And in that Paste let their vil'd Heads be bakte,
Come, come, be everyone officious,
To make this Banket, which I wish might prove,
More sterne and bloody then the Centaures Feast.
He cuts their throats.
2590 So now bring them in, for Ile play the Cooke,
And see them ready, gainst their Mother comes.

Exeunt.

A5S3 Banquet in Titus house. Lucius, Marcus, Goth. Saturninus, Tamora, Titus, Lavinia, Emillius, Boy. NPC Goths, Titus' Kinsmen, Tribunes.

Enter Lucius, Marcus [carrying Moor's baby], and the Gothes.

LUCIUS. Unckle Marcus, since 'tis my Fathers minde
That I repair to Rome, I am content.

GOTH. And ours with thine befall, what Fortune will.

LUCIUS. Good Unckle take you in this barbarous Moore,
This Ravenous Tiger, this accursed devill,
2600 Let him receive no sustenance, fetter him,
Till he be brought unto the Emperous face,
For testimony of her foule proceedings.
And see the Ambush of our Friends be strong,
If ere the Emperour meanes no good to us.

AARON. Some devill whisper curses in my eare,
And prompt me that my tongue may utter forth,
The Venemous Mallice of my swelling heart.

LUCIUS. Away Inhumaine Dogge, Unhallowed Slave,
Sirs, helpe our Unckle, to convey him in, Flourish.

2610 The Trumpets shew the Emperour is at hand.

Sound Trumpets. Enter Emperour and Empresse, with Tribunes, and others. [Sat, Tam, Emil, Boy]

SATURN. What, hath the Firemament more Suns then one?

LUCIUS. What bootes it thee to call thyselfe a Sunne?

MARCUS. Romes Emperour & Nephewe breake the parle
These quarrels must be quietly debated,
The Feast is ready which the carefull Titus,
Hath ordained to an Honourable end,

2620 For Peace, for Love, for League, and good to Rome:
Please you therfore draw nie and take your places.

SATURN. Marcus we will. Hoboyes.

A Table brought in.

Enter Titus like a Cooke^{xiii}, placing the meat on the Table, and Lavinia with a vale over her face.

TITUS. Welcome my gracious Lord,
Welcome Dread Queene,
Welcome ye Warlike Gothes, welcome Lucius,
And welcome all: although the cheere be poore,

2630 'Twill fill your stomacks, please you eat of it.

SATURN. Why art thou thus attir'd Andronicus?

TITUS. Because I would be sure to have all well,
To entertaine your Highnesse, and your Empresse.

TAMORA. We are beholding to you good Andronicus?

TITUS. And if your Highnesse knew my heart, you were:
My Lord the Emperour resolve me this,
Was it well done of rash Virginus,
To slay his daughter with his owne right hand,
Because she was enfor'st, stain'd, and deflowr'd?

2640 SATURN. It was Andronicus.

TITUS. Your reason, Mighty Lord?

SATURN. Because the Girle, should not survive her shame,
And by her presence still renew his sorrowes.

TITUS. A reason mighty, strong, and effectuell,
A patterne, president, and lively warrant,
For me (most wretched) to performe the like:
Die, die, Lavinia, and thy shame with thee,
And with thy shame, thy Fathers sorrow die. He kils her.

SATURN. What hast done, unnaturall and unkinde?

2650 TITUS. Kil'd her for whom my teares have made me blind.
I am as wofull as Virginus was,
And have a thousand times more cause then he.

SATURN. What was she ravisht? tell who did the deed,

TITUS. Wilt please you eat,
Wilt please your Highesse feed?

TAMORA. Why hast thou slaine thine onely Daughter?

TITUS. Not I, 'twas Chiron and Demetrius,
They ravisht her, and cut away her tongue,
And they, 'twas they, that did her all this wrong.

2660 SATURN. Go fetch them hither to us presently.

TITUS. Why there they are both, baked in that Pie,
Whereof their Mother dantly hath fed,
Eating the flesh that she herselfe hath bred.
'Tis true, 'tis true, wnesse my knives sharpe point.

He stabs the Empresse.

SATURN. Die franticke wretch, for this accursed deed. [kills Titus]

LUCIUS. Can the Sonnes eye, behold his Father bleed?
There's meede for meede, death for a deadly deed. [kills Saturn.]

MARCUS. You sad fac'd men, people and Sonnes of Rome,
2670 By uprores sever'd like a flight of Fowle,
Scattred by windes and high tempestuous gusts:
Oh let me teach you how, to knit againe
This scattred Corne, into one mutuall sheafe,
These broken limbs againe into one body.

GOTH. Let Rome herselfe be bane unto herselfe,
And shee whom mightie kingdoms curtsie too,
Like a forlorne and desperate castaway,
Doe shamefull execution on herselfe.
But if my frostie signes and chaps of age,
2680 Grave witnesses of true experience,
Cannot induce you to attend my words,
Speake Romes deere friend, as 'erst our Auncestor,
When with his solemne tongue he did discourse
To love-sicke Didoes sad attending eare,
The story of that balefull burning night,
When subtil Greekes surpriz'd King Priams Troy:
Tell us what Sinon hath bewicht our eares,
Or who hath brought the fatall engine in,
That gives our Troy, our Rome the civill wound.

2690 My heart is not compact of flint nor steele,
Nor can I utter all our bitter griefe,

But floods of teares will drowne my Oratorie,
And breake my very uttrance, even in the time
When it should move you to attend me most,
Lending your kind hand Commiseration.
Heere is a Captaine, let him tell the tale,
Your hearts will throb and weepe to heare him speake.

LUCIUS. This Noble Auditory, be it knowne to you,
That cursed Chiron and Demetrius

2700 Were they that mured our Emperours Brother,
And they it were that ravished our Sister,
For their fell faults our Brothers were beheaded,
Our Fathers teares despis'd, and basely cousen'd,
Of that true hand that fought Romes quarrell out,
And sent her enemies unto the grave.

Lastly, myselfe unkindly banished,
The gates shut on me, and turn'd weeping out,
To beg reliefe among Romes Enemies,
Who drown'd their enmity in my true teares,

2710 And op'd their armes to imbrace me as a Friend:
And I am turned forth, be it knowne to you,
That have preserv'd her welfare in my blood,
And from her bosome tooke the Enemies point,
Sheathing the steele in my adventrous body.
Alas you know, I am no Vaunter I,
My scars can witnesse, dumbe although they are,
That my report is just and full of truth:
But soft, me thinkes I do digresse too much,
Cyting my worthlesse praise: Oh pardon me,

2720 For when no Friends are by, men praise themselves,

MARCUS. Now is my turne to speake: Behold this Child,
Of this was Tamora delivered,
The issue of an Irreligious Moore,
Chiefe Architect and plotter of these woes,
The Villaine is alive in Titus house,
And as he is, to witnesse this is true.
Now judge what course had Titus to revenge
These wrongs, unspeakeable past patience,
Or more then any living man could beare.

2730 Now you have heard the truth, what say you Romaines?
Have we done ought amisse? shew us wherein,
And from the place where you behold us now,
The poore remainder of Andronici,
Will hand in hand all headlong cast us downe,
And on the ragged stones beat forth our braines,
And make a mutuall closure of our house:

Speake Romaines speake, and if you say we shall,
Loe hand in hand, Lucius and I will fall.

EMILLIUS. Come come, thou reverent man of Rome,
2740 And bring our Emperour gently in thy hand,
Lucius our Emperour: for well I know,
The common voyce do cry it shall be so.

MARCUS. Lucius, all haile Romes Royall Emperour,
Goe, goe into old Titus sorrowfull house,
And hither hale that misbelieving Moore,
To be adjudg'd some direfull slaughtering death,
As punishment for his most wicked life.
Lucius all haile to Romes gracious Governour.

2750 [Titus kinsmen leave and return with Aaron during next speeches]

LUCIUS. Thankes gentle Romanes, may I governe so,
To heale Romes harmes, and wipe away her woe.
But gentle people, give me ayme a-while,
For Nature puts me to a heavy taske:
Stand all aloofe, but Unckle draw you neere,
To shed obsequious teares upon this Trunke:
Oh take this warme kisse on thy pale cold lips,
These sorrowfull drops upon thy bloud-slaine face,
The last true Duties of thy Noble Sonne.

2760 MARCUS. Teare for teare, and loving kisse for kisse,
Thy Brother Marcus tenders on thy Lips:
O were the summe of these that I should pay
Countlesse, and infinit, yet would I pay them.

LUCIUS. Come hither Boy, come, come, and learne of us
To melt in showres: thy Grandsire lov'd thee well:
Many a time he danc'd thee on his knee:
Sung thee asleepe, his Loving Brest, thy Pillow:
Many a matter hath he told to thee,
Meete, and agreeing with thine Infancie:
2770 In that respect then, like a loving Childe,
Shed yet some small drops from thy tender Spring,
Because kinde Nature doth require it so:
Friends, should associate Friends, in Greefe and Wo.
Bid him farwell, commit him to the Grave,
Do him that kindnesse, and take leave of him.

BOY. O Grandsire, Grandsire: even with all my heart
Would I were Dead, so you did Live againe.
O Lord, I cannot speake to him for weeping,
My teares will choake me, if I ope my mouth.
2780 Romans. You sad Andronici, have done with woes,

Give sentence on this execrable Wretch,
That hath beene breeder of these dire events.

LUCIUS. Set him brest deepe in earth, and famish him:
There let him stand, and rave, and cry for foode:
If any one releeves, or pitties him,
For the offence, he dyes. This is our doome:
Some stay, to see him fast'ned in the earth.

AARON. O why should wrath be mute, & Fury dumbe?
I am no Baby aye, that with base Prayers
2790 I should repent the Evils I have done.
Ten thousand worse, then ever yet I did,
Would I performe if I might have my will:
If one good Deed in all my life I did,
I do repent it from my very Soule.

LUCIUS. Some loving Friends convey the Emperour hence,
And give him buriall in his Fathers grave.
My Father, and Lavinia, shall forthwith
Be closed in our Housholds Monument:
As for that heynous Tyger Tamora,
2800 No Funerall Rite, nor man in mournfull Weeds:
No mournfull Bell shall ring her Buriall:
But throw her foorth to Beasts and Birds of prey:
Her life was Beast-like, and devoid of pitty,
And being so, shall have like want of pitty.
See Justice done on Aaron that damn'd Moore,
From whom, our heavy happes had their beginning:
Then afterwards, to Order well the State,
That like Events, may ne're it Ruinate. Exeunt omnes.
