

THE TRAGEDIE OF
ROMEO and JULIET.

Adapted for Avatar Repertory Theater from the Brandeis First Folio by Judith Adele/Ada Radius

Notes:

Romeo and Juliet is set in Verona, in Shakespeare's time - modern 1590's, but foreign enough not to offend his English patrons. I have added the famous Prologue, from the 1st Quarto, to this transcription. The rest is from the Brandeis First Folio.

If this is performed as it was in the 16thC, fast (the hysterical speeches even faster) and with simple carry-on set pieces, running time is about 2 1/2 hours.

I conformed printing characters: j for i, u for v, v for u, vv to w, fixed obvious typos and connected a few hyphenations to make it easier to speak.

I did not change spelling or punctuation. Elizabethan and Jacobean spelling is phonetic: sound it out, paying attention to rhythm, rhyme, and understandability. Shakespeare writes in both prose and poetry. A poetic line may be split between two speeches. Punctuation matters. Line spacing often matters. This is not grammar, it's stage direction. Pause and breathe accordingly.

16th century English did not sound like modern posh Brit, so please don't unless that's your native dialect. Some regional American and U.K. accents are closer (see history of Appalachia), as is modern Welsh or Scots. It's not just consonants and vowel shapes - rhythm, phrasing and the length of the vowels can matter. See: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Shakespeare_in_Original_Pronunciation, especially the bibliography. and <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=WeW1eV7Oc5A>. And experiment.

To keep actors and directors from going nuts: I standardized character titles in italic caps, with the folio title in red italic, if different. The character titles in the folio change, depending on scene and character intent. For example, Capulet is referred to as Old Cap. to differentiate him from all the young Capulets, and as Father when he is yelling at Juliet or mourning her. His wife's titles range from "Wife" to "Old Lady" to "Mother" It's a stage direction. Character names can also change within speeches, indicating differences in pronunciation, intent, or relationship between characters.

We are working on formatting for readability on digital devices such as Kindle, retaining the line breaks of the original printing, best possible.

Music is available in Shakespeare's Songbook by Ross W. Duffin. Also: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dGxdIJ63sc4>, https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=_9fq6jINAeo, <https://www.youtube.com/shorts/cdHujFicPEI>

Color coding is adapted from entertainment industry script standards (actor, sound, sets, props & costume, effects, notes). Chapter titles label each scene, with a list of the characters who will be playing in that scene.

THE TRAGEDIE OF ROMEO and JULIET.

30 PROLOGUE. Two houshold Friends alike in dignitie,
(In faire Verona, where we lay our Scene)
From civill broyles broke into enmitie,
Whose civill warre makes civill hands uncleane.
From forth the fatall loynes of these two foes,
A paire of starre-crost Lovers tooke their life:
Whose misadventures, piteous overthrowes,
(Through the continuing of their Fathers strife,
And death-markt passage of their Parents rage)
Is now the two howres traffique of our Stage.
40 The which if you with patient eares attend,
What here we want wee'l studie to amend.

Act 1, Scene 1: Verona. A public place. Sampson, Gregory, Abraham, Benvolio, Tybalt, Officer, Capulet, LadyCap, Mountague, LadyMount, Prince, Romeo
Actus Primus. Scoena Prima.

Enter Sampson and Gregory, with Swords and Bucklers, of the House of Capulet.

SAMP. Gregory: A my word wee'l not carry coales.

50 GREG. No, for then we should be Colliars.

SAMP. I mean, if we be in choller, wee'l draw.

GREG: Aye, While you live, draw your necke out o'th Collar.

SAMP. I strike quickly, being mov'd.

GREG: But thou art not quickly mov'd to strike.

SAMP. A dog of the house of Mountague, moves me.

GREG: To move, is to stir: and to be valiant, is to stand:
Therefore, if thou art mov'd, thou runst away.

SAMP. A dogge of that house shall move me to stand.

60 I will take the wall of any Man or Maid of Mountagues.

GREG: That shewes thee a weake slave, for the weakest goes to the wall.

SAMP. True, and therefore women being the weaker Vessels, are ever thrust to the wall: therefore I will push Mountagues men from the wall, and thrust his Maides to the wall.

GREG: The Quarrell is betweene our Masters, and us their men.

SAMP. 'Tis all one, I will shew my selfe a tyrant: when I have fought with the men, I will bee civill with the 70 Maids, and cut off their heads.

GREG: The heads of the Maids?

SAMP. Aye, the heads of the Maids, or their Maiden-heads,
Take it in what sence thou wilt.

GREG: They must take it sence, that feele it.

SAMP. Me they shall feele while I am able to stand:
And 'tis knowne I am a pretty peece of flesh.

GREG: 'Tis well thou art not Fish: If thou had'st, thou had'st beene poore John. Draw thy Toole, here comes of the House of the Mountagues.

80 Enter two other [Montague] Servingmen. [Abraham]

SAMP. My naked weapon is out: quarrel, I wil back thee

GREG: How? Turne thy backe, and run.

SAMP. Feare me not.

GREG: No marry: I feare thee.

SAMP. Let us take the Law of our sides: let them begin.

GREG: I wil frown as I passe by, & let thẽ take it as they list

SAMP. Nay, as they dare. I wil bite my Thumb at them, which is a disgrace to them, if they beare it.

ABRAHAM. Do you bite your Thumbe at us sir?

90 SAMP. I do bite my Thumbe, sir.

ABRAHAM. Do you bite your Thumb at us, sir?

SAMP. Is the Law of our side, if I say I?

GREG. No.

SAMP. No sir, I do not bite my Thumbe at you sir: but I bite my Thumbe sir.

GREG: Do you quarrell sir?

ABRAHAM. Quarrell sir? no sir.

SAMP. If you do sir, I am for you, I serve as good a man as you

ABRAHAM. No better?

100 SAMP. Well sir.

Enter Benvolio.

GREG: Say better: here comes one of my masters kinsmen.

SAMP. Yes, better.

ABRAHAM. You Lye.

SAMP. Draw if you be men. Gregory, remember thy washing blow.

They Fight.

BENVOLIO. Part Fooles, put up your Swords, you know not what you do.

Enter Tibalt.

110 TYBOLT. What art thou drawne, among these heartlesse
Hindes? Turne thee Benvolio, looke upon thy death.

BENVOLIO. I do but keepe the peace, put up thy Sword,
Or manage it to part these men with me.

TYBOLT. What draw, and talke of peace? I hate the word
As I hate hell, all Mountagues, and thee:
Have at thee Coward. Fight.

Enter three or foure Citizens with Clubs. [OFFICER]

CITIZEN. [Off] Clubs, Bils, and Partisons, strike, beat them down
Downe with the Capulets, downe with the Mountagues.

120 Enter old Capulet in his Gowne, and his wife.

CAPULET. What noise is this? Give me my long Sword ho.

LADY. CAP. [Wife]. A crutch, a crutch: why call you for a Sword?

CAPULET. My Sword I say: Old Mountague is come,
And flourishes his Blade in spight of me.

Enter old Mountague, & his wife.

MOUNT. Thou villaine Capulet. Hold me not, let me go

LADY. MOUN. [2. Wife] Thou shalt not stir a foote to seeke a Foe.

Enter Prince Eskales, with his Traine.

PRINCE. Rebellious Subjects, Enemies to peace,
130 Prophaners of this Neighbor-stained Steele,
Will they not heare? What hoe, you Men, you Beasts,
That quench the fire of your pernicious Rage,
With purple Fountaines issuing from your Veines:
On paine of Torture, from those bloody hands
Throw your mistemper'd Weapons to the ground,
And heare the Sentence of your mooved Prince.
Three civill Broyles, bred of an Ayery word,
By thee old Capulet and Mountague,
Have thrice disturb'd the quiet of our streets,

140 And made Verona's ancient Citizens
Cast by their Grave beseeeming Ornaments,
To wield old Partizans, in hands as old,
Cankred with peace, to part your Cankred hate,
If ever you disturbe our streets againe,
Your lives shall pay the forfeit of the peace.
For this time all the rest depart away:
You Capulet shall goe along with me,
And Mountague come you this afternoone,
To know our Fathers pleasure in this case:

150 To old Free-towne, our common judgement place:
Once more on paine of death, all men depart. Exeunt.

MOUNT. Who set this auncient quarrell new abroach?
Speake Nephew, were you by, when it began:

BENVOLIO. Heere were the servants of your aduersarie,
And yours close fighting ere I did approach,
I drew to part them, in the instant came
The fiery Tibalt, with his sword prepar'd,
Which as he breath'd defiance to my eares,
He swong about his head, and cut the windes,
160 Who nothing hurt withall, hist him in scorne.
While we were enterchanging thrusts and blowes,
Came more and more, and fought on part and part,
Till the Prince came, who parted either part.

LADY MOUNT. [Wife] O where is Romeo, saw you him to day?
Right glad am I, he was not at this fray.

BENVOLIO. Madam, an houre before the worshipt Sun
Peer'd forth the golden window of the East,
A troubled mind drave me to walke abroad,
Where underneath the grove of Sycamour,
170 That West-ward rooteth from this City side:
So earely walking did I see your Sonne:
Towards him I made, but he was ware of me,
And stole into the covert of the wood,
I measuring his affections by my owne,
Which then most sought, wher most might not be found:
Being one too many by my weary selfe,
Pursued my Honour, not pursuing his
And gladly shunn'd, who gladly fled from me.

MOUNT. Many a morning hath he there beene seene, 180 With teares augmenting the fresh mornings dew,
Adding to cloudes, more cloudes with his deepe sighes,
But all so soone as the all-cheering Sunne,
Should in the farthest East begin to draw
The shadie Curtaines from Auroras bed,
Away from light steales home my heavy Sonne,
And private in his Chamber pennes himselfe,
Shuts up his windowes, lockes faire day-light out,
And makes himselfe an artificiall night:
Blacke and portendous must this humour prove,
190 Unlesse good counsell may the cause remove.

BENVOLIO. My Noble Uncle doe you know the cause?

MOUNT. I neither know it, nor can learne of him.

BENVOLIO. Have you importun'd him by any meanes?

MOUNT. Both by my selfe and many others Friends,
But he his owne affections counseller,
Is to himselfe (I will not say how true)
But to himselfe so secret and so close,
So farre from sounding and discovery,
As is the bud bit with an envious worme,
200 Ere he can spread his sweete leaves to the ayre,
Or dedicate his beauty to the same.

Could we but learne from whence his sorrowes grow,
We would as willingly give cure, as know.

Enter Romeo.

BENVOLIO. See where he comes, so please you step aside,
He know his greivance, or be much denide.

MOUNT. I would thou wert so happy by thy stay,
To heare true shrift. Come Madam let's away. Exeunt. [Mountague & Lady]

BENVOLIO. Good morrow Cousin.

210 ROMEO. Is the day so young?

BENVOLIO. But new strooke nine.

ROMEO. Aye me, sad houres seeme long:
Was that my Father that went hence so fast?

BENVOLIO. It was: what sadnes lengthens Romeo's houres?

ROMEO. Not having that, which having, makes them short

BENVOLIO. In love.

ROMEO. Out.

BENVOLIO. Of love.

ROMEO. Out of her favour where I am in love.

220 BENVOLIO. Alas that love so gentle in his view,
Should be so tyrannous and rough in prooffe.

ROMEO. Alas that love, whose view is muffled still,
Should without eyes, see path-ways to his will:
Where shall we dine? O me: what fray was heere?
Yet tell me not, for I have heard it all:
Heere's much to do with hate, but more with love:
Why then, O brawling love, O loving hate,
O any thing, of nothing first created:
O heavie lightnesse, serious vanity,

230 Mishapen Chaos of welseeing formes,
Feather of lead, bright smoake, cold fire, sicke health,
Still waking sleepe, that is not what it is:
This love feelee I, that feelee no love in this.
Doest thou not laugh?

BENVOLIO. No Coze, I rather weepe.

ROMEO. Good heart, at what?

BENVOLIO. At thy good hearts oppression.

ROMEO. Why such is loves transgression.
Griefes of mine owne lie heavie in my breast,
240 Which thou wilt propagate to have it preast
With more of thine, this love that thou hast showne,
Doth adde more griefe, to too much of mine owne.
Love, is a smoake made with the fume of sighes,
Being purg'd, a fire sparkling in Lovers eyes,

Being vext, a Sea nourisht with loving teares,
What is it else? a madnesse, most discreet,
A choking gall, and a preserving sweet:
Farewell my Coze.

BENVOLIO. Soft I will goe along.

250 And if you leave me so, you do me wrong.

ROMEO. Tut I have lost my selfe, I am not here,
This is not Romeo, hee's some other where.

BENVOLIO. Tell me in sadnesse, who is that you love?

ROMEO. What shall I grone and tell thee?

BENVOLIO. Grone, why no: but sadly tell me who.

ROMEO. A sicke man in sadnesse makes his will:
A word ill urg'd to one that is so ill:
In sadnesse Cozin, I do love a woman.

BENVOLIO. I aym'd so neare, when I suppos'd you lov'd.

260 ROMEO. A right good marke man, and shee's faire I love

BENVOLIO. A right faire marke, faire Coze, is soonest hit.

ROMEO. Well in that hit you misse, sheel not be hit
With Cupids arrow, she hath Dians wit:
And in strong prooffe of chastity well arm'd:
From loves weake childish Bow, she lives uncharm'd.
Shee will not stay the siege of loving tearmes,
Nor bid th'incounter of assailing eyes.
Nor open her lap to Saint-seducing Gold:
O she is rich in beautie, onely poore,
270 That when she dies, with beautie dies her store.

BENVOLIO. Then she hath sworne, that she will still live chast?

ROMEO. She hath, and in that sparing make huge wast?
For beauty sterv'd with her severity,
Cuts beauty off from all posteritie.
She is too faire, too wise, wisely too faire,
To merit blisse by making me dispaire:
She hath forsworne to love, and in that vow
Do I live dead, that live to tell it now.

BENVOLIO. Be rul'd by me, forget to thinke of her.

280 ROMEO. O teach me how I should forget to thinke.

BENVOLIO. By giving liberty unto thine eyes,
Examine other beauties,

ROMEO. 'Tis the way to cal hers (exquisit) in question more,
These happy maskes that kisse faire Ladies browes,
Being blacke, puts us in mind they hide the faire:
He that is strooken blind, cannot forget
The precious treasure of his eye-sight lost:
Shew me a Mistresse that is passing faire,

What doth her beauty serue but as a note,
290 Where I may read who past that passing faire.
Farewell thou can'st not teach me to forget,

BENVOLIO. Ile pay that doctrine, or else die in debt. Exeunt

Act 1, Scene 2: A street. Capulet, Paris, Servant, Benvolio, Romeo Enter Capulet, Countie Paris, and the Clowne.

CAPULET. Mountague is bound as well as I,
In penalty alike, and 'tis not hard I thinke,
For men so old as wee, to keepe the peace.

PARIS. Of Honourable reckoning are you both,
300 And pittie 'tis you liv'd at ods so long:
But now my Lord, what say you to my sute?

CAPULET. But saying ore what I have said before,
My Child is yet a stranger in the world,
Shee hath not seene the change of fourteene yeares,
Let two more Summers wither in their pride,
Ere we may thinke her ripe to be a Bride.

PARIS. Younger then she, are happy mothers made.

CAPULET. And too soone mar'd are those so early made:
Earth hath swallowed all my hopes but she,
310 Shee's the hopefull Lady of my earth:
But wooe her gentle Paris, get her heart,
My will to her consent, is but a part,
And shee agree, within her scope of choise,
Lyes my consent, and faire according voice:
This night I hold an old accustom'd Feast,
Whereto I have invited many a Guest,
Such as I love, and you among the store,
One more, most welcome makes my number more:
At my poore house, looke to behold this night,
320 Earth-treading starres, that make darke heaven light,
Such comfort as do lusty young men feele,
When well apparel'd Aprill on the heele
Of limping Winter treads, even such delight
Among fresh Fennell buds shall you this night
Inherit at my house: heare all, all see:
And like her most, whose merit most shall be:
Which one more veiwe, of many, mine being one,
May stand in number, though in reckning none.
Come, goe with me: goe sirrah trudge about,
330 Through faire Verona, find those persons out,
Whose names are written there, and to them say,
My house and welcome, on their pleasure stay. Exit.[Capulet, Paris]

SERVANT. Find them out whose names are written. Heere it is written, that the Shoo-maker should meddle with his Yard, and the Tayler with his Last, the Fisher with his Pensill, and the Painter with his Nets. But I am sent to find those persons whose names are writ, & can never find what names the writing person hath here writ (I must to the learned) in good time.

340 Enter Benvolio, and Romeo.

BENVOLIO. Tut man, one fire burnes out anothers burning,
One paine is lesned by anothers anguish:
Turne giddie, and be holpe by backward turning:
One desparate greefe, cures with anothers lauguish:
Take thou some new infection to the eye,
And the rank poyson of the old wil die.

ROMEO. Your Plantan leafe is excellent for that.

BENVOLIO. For what I pray thee?

ROMEO. For your broken shin.

350 BENVOLIO. Why Romeo art thou mad?

ROMEO. Not mad, but bound more then a mad man is:
Shut up in prison, kept without my foode,
Whipt and tormented: and Godden good fellow,

SERVANT. [holding letter] Godgigoden, I pray sir can you read?

ROMEO. I mine owne fortune in my miserie.

SERVANT. Perhaps you have learn'd it without booke:
But I pray can you read any thing you see?

ROMEO. Aye, if I know the Letters and the Language.

SERVANT. Ye say honestly, rest you merry.

360 ROMEO. Stay fellow, I can read. He reades the Letter.

Seigneur Martino, and his wife and daughter: County Anselme and his beautious sisters: the Lady widdow of Utruvio, Seigneur Placentio, and his lovely Nieces: Mercutio and his brother Valentine: mine uncle Capulet his wife and daughters:
my faire Neece Rosaline, Livia, Seigneur Valentio, & his Cosen Tybalt: Lucio and the lively Helena.
A faire assembly, whither should they come?

SERVANT. Up.

ROMEO. Whither? to supper?

370 SERVANT. To our house.

ROMEO. Whose house?

SERVANT. My Maisters.

ROMEO. Indeed I should have askt you that before.

SERVANT. Now Ile tell you without asking. My maister is the great rich Capulet, and if you be not of the house of Mountagues I pray come and crush a cup of wine. Rest you merry. Exit.

BENVOLIO. At this same auncient Feast of Capulets
Supps the faire Rosaline, whom thou so loves:
380 With all the admired Beauties of Verona,
Go thither and with unattainted eye,
Compare her face with some that I shall show,
And I will make thee thinke thy Swan a Crow.

ROMEO. When the devout religion of mine eye
Maintaines such falshood, then turne teares to fire:
And these who often drown'd could never die,
Transparent Heretiques be burnt for liers.
One fairer then my love: the all-seeing Sun
Nere saw her match, since first the world begun.

390 BENVOLIO. Tut, you saw her faire, none else being by,
Herselfe poys'd with herselfe in either eye:
But in that Christall scales, let there be waid,
Your Ladies love against some other Maid
That I will show you, shining at this Feast,
And she shew scant shell, well, that now shewes best.

ROMEO. Ile goe along, no such sight to be showne,
But to rejoyce in splendor of mine owne. [Exeunt]

Act 1, Scene 3: A room in Capulet's house. Lady Capulet, Nurse, Juliet

400 Enter Capulets Wife and Nurse.

LADY. CAP. [Wife] Nurse wher's my daughter? call her forth to me.

NURSE. Now by my Maidenhead, at twelve yeare old
I bad her come, what Lamb: what Ladi-bird, God forbid, Where's this Girle? what Juliet?

Enter Juliet.

JULIET. How now, who calls?

NURSE. Your Mother.

JULIET. Madam I am heere, what is your will?

410 LADY. CAP. [Wife] This is the matter: Nurse give leave awhile, we must talke in secret. Nurse come backe againe, I have remembred me, thou'se heare our counsell. Thou knowest my daughter's of a prety age.

NURSE. Faith I can tell her age unto an houre.

LADY. CAP. [Wife] Shee's not fourteene.

NURSE. Ile lay fourteene of my teeth,
And yet to my teene be it spoken,
I have but foure, shee's not fourteene.
How long is it now to Lammas tide?

420 LADY. CAP. [Wife] A fortnight and odde dayes.

NURSE. Even or odde, of all daies in the yeare come Lammas Eve at night shall she be fourteene. Susan & she, God rest all Christian soules, were of an age. Well Susan is with God, she was too good for me. But as I said, on Lamas
Eve at night shall she be fourteene, that shall she marie,
I remember it well. 'Tis since the Earth-quake now eleven yeares, and she was wean'd I never shall forget it, of all the daies of the yeare, upon that day: for I had then laid Worme-wood to my Dug sitting in the Sunne under 430 the Dovehouse wall, my Lord and you were then at Mantua, nay I doe beare a braine. But as I said, when it did tast the Worme-wood on the nipple of my Dugge, and felt it bitter, pretty foole, to see it teachie, and fall out with the Dugge, Shake quoth the Dove-house, 'twas no need I trow to bid mee trudge: and since that time it is a eleven yeares, for then she could stand alone, nay bi'th' roode she could have runne, & waddled all about: for even the day before she broke her brow, & then my Husband
God be with his soule, a was a merrie man, tooke up the 440 Child, yea quoth hee, doest thou fall upon thy face? thou wilt fall backward when thou hast more wit, wilt thou not Jule? And by my holy-dam, the pretty wretch lefte crying, & said I: to see now how a Jest shall come about.
I warrant, & I shall live a thousand yeares, I never should forget it: wilt thou not Julet quoth he? and pretty foole it stinted, and said I.

LADY. CAP. [Old La.] Inough of this, I pray thee hold thy peace.

NURSE. Yes Madam, yet I cannot chuse but laugh, to thinke it should leave crying, & say I: and yet I warrant 450 it had upon it brow, a bumpe as big as a young Cockrels stone? A perilous knock, and it cryed bitterly. Yea quoth my husband, fall'st upon thy face, thou wilt fall backward when thou commest to age: wilt thou not Jule? It stinted: and said I.

JULIET. And stint thou too, I pray thee Nurse, say I.

NURSE. Peace I have done: God marke thee too his grace thou wast the prettiest Babe that ere I nurst, and I might live to see thee married once, I have my wish.

LADY. CAP. [Old La.] Marry that marry is the very theame 460 I came to talke of, tell me daughter Juliet,
How stands your disposition to be Married?

JULIET. It is an houre that I dreame not of.

NURSE. An houre, were not I thine onely Nurse, I would say thou had'st suckt wisdom from thy teat.

LADY. CAP. [Old La.] Well thinke of marriage now, yonger then you
Heere in Verona, Ladies of esteeme,
Are made already Mothers. By my count
I was your Mother, much upon these yeares

That you are now a Maide, thus then in briefe:

470 The valiant Paris seekes you for his love.

NURSE. A man young Lady, Lady, such a man as all the world. Why hee's a man of waxe.

LADY. CAP. [Old La.] Veronas Summer hath not such a flower.

NURSE. Nay hee's a flower, infaith a very flower.

LADY. CAP. [Old La.] What say you, can you love the Gentleman?

This night you shall behold him at our Feast,
Read ore the volume of young Paris face,
And find delight, writ there with Beauties pen:
Examine every severall liniament,

480 And see how one another lends content:

And what obscur'd in this faire volume lies,
Find written in the Margent of his eyes.
This precious Booke of Love, this unbound Lover,
To Beautifie him, onely lacks a Cover.
The fish lives in the Sea, and 'tis much pride
For faire without, the faire within to hide:
That Booke in manies eyes doth share the glorie,
That in Gold claspes, Lockes in the Golden storie:
So shall you share all that he doth possesse,

490 By having him, making your selfe no lesse.

NURSE. No lesse, nay bigger: women grow by men.

LADY. CAP. [Old La.] Speake briefly, can you like of Paris love?

JULIET. Ile looke to like, if looking liking move.

But no more deepe will I endart mine eye,
Then your consent gives strength to make flye.

Enter a Serving man.

SERVANT. Madam, the guests are come, supper serv'd up, you cal'd, my young Lady askt for, the Nurse cur'st in the Pantery, and every thing in extremitie: I must hence to wait, I

500 beseech you follow straight. Exit.

LADY. CAP. [Mo.] We follow thee, Juliet, the Countie staies.

NURSE. Goe Gyrle, seeke happie nights to happy daies. Exeunt.

Act 1, Scene 4: A street. Romeo, Mercutio, Benvolio, NPC maskers & torch bearers

Enter Romeo, Mercutio, Benvolio, with five or sixe other Maskers, Torch-bearers.

ROMEO. What shall this speech be spoke for our excuse?
Or shall we on without Apologie?

510 BENVOLIO. The date is out of such prolixitie, Weele have no Cupid, hood winkt with a skarfe,
Bearing a Tartars painted Bow of lath,
Skaring the Ladies like a Crow-keeper.

But let them measure us by what they will,
Weele measure them a Measure, and be gone.

ROMEO. Give me a Torch, I am not for this ambling.
Being but heavy I will beare the light.

MERCUTIO. Nay gentle Romeo, we must have you dance.

ROMEO. Not I beleeeve me, you have dancing shooes
520 With nimble soles, I have a soale of Lead
So stakes me to the ground, I cannot move.

MERCUTIO. You are a Lover, borrow Cupids wings,
And soare with them above a common bound.

ROMEO. I am too sore enpearced with his shaft,
To soare with his light feathers, and to bound:
I cannot bound a pitch above dull woe,
Under loves heauy burthen doe I sinke.

BENVOLIO. And to sinke in it should you burthen love,
Too great oppression for a tender thing.

530 ROMEO. Is love a tender thing? it is too rough,
Too rude, too boysterous, and it pricks like thorne.

MERCUTIO. If love be rough with you, be rough with love,
Pricke love for pricking, and you beat love downe,
Give me a Case to put my visage in,
A Visor for a Visor, what care I
What curious eye doth quote deformities:
Here are the Beetle-browes shall blush for me.

BENVOLIO. Come knocke and enter, and no sooner in,
But every man betake him to his legs.

540 ROMEO. A Torch for me, let wantons light of heart
Tickle the sencelesse rushes with their heeles:
For I am proverb'd with a Grandsier Phrase,
Ile be a Candle-holder and looke on,
The game was nere so faire, and I am done.

MERCUTIO. Tut, duns the Mouse, the Constables owne word,
If thou art dun, weele draw thee from the mire.
Or save your reverence love, wherein thou stickest
Up to the eares, come we burne day-light ho.

ROMEO. Nay that's not so.

550 MERCUTIO. I meane sir I delay,
We wast our lights in vaine, lights, lights, by day;
Take our good meaning, for our Judgement sits
Five times in that, ere once in our fine wits.

ROMEO. And we meane well in going to this Maske,
But 'tis no wit to go.

MERCUTIO. Why may one aske?

ROMEO. I dreamt a dreame to night.

MERCUTIO. And so did I.

ROMEO. Well what was yours?

560 MERCUTIO. That dreamers often lye.

ROMEO. In bed a sleepe while they do dreame things true.

MERCUTIO. O then I see Queene Mab hath beene with you:
She is the Fairies Midwife, & she comes in shape no bigger then Agat-stone, on the fore-finger of an Alderman, drawne with a teeme of little Atomies, over mens noses as they lie asleepe: her Waggon Spokes made of long Spinners legs:
the Cover of the wings of Grashoppers, her Traces of the smallest Spiders web, her coullers of the Moonshines watry Beames, her Whip of Crickets bone,
570 the Lash of Philome, her Waggoner, a small gray-coated Gnat, not halfe so bigge as a round little Worme, prickt from the Lazie-finger of a man. Her Chariot is an emptie Haselnut, made by the Joyner Squirrel or old Grub, time out a mind, the Faries Coach-makers: & in this state she gallops night by night, through Lovers braines: and then they dreame of Love. On Courtiers knees, that dreame on Cursies strait: ore Lawyers fingers, who strait dreamt on Fees, ore Ladies lips, who strait on kisses dreame, which oft the angry Mab with blisters plagues, because their 580 breath with Sweet meats tainted are. Sometime she gallops ore a Courtiers nose, & then dreames he of smelling out a sute: & sometime comes she with Tith pigs tale, tickling a Parsons nose as a lies asleepe, then he dreames of another Benefice. Sometime she driveth ore a Souldiers necke, & then dreames he of cutting Forraine throats, of Breaches, Ambuscados, Spanish Blades: Of Healths five Fadome deepe, and then anon drums in his eares, at which he startes and wakes; and being thus frightened, swears a prayer or two & sleepes againe: this is that very Mab that 590 plats the manes of Horses in the night: & bakes the Elkklocks in foule sluttish haire, which once untangled, much misfortune bodes,
This is the hag, when Maides lie on their backs,
That presses them, and learnes them first to beare,
Making them women of good carriage:
This is she.

ROMEO. Peace, peace, Mercutio peace,
Thou talk'st of nothing.

MERCUTIO. True, I talke of dreames:
600 Which are the children of an idle braine,
Begot of nothing, but vaine phantasie,
Which is as thin of substance as the ayre,
And more inconstant then the wind, who wooes
Even now the frozen bosome of the North:
And being anger'd, puffes away from thence,
Turning his side to the dew dropping South.

BENVOLIO. This wind you talke of blowes us from our selves,
Supper is done, and we shall come too late.

ROMEO. I feare too early, for my mind misgives, 610 Some consequence yet hanging in the starres,
Shall bitterly begin his fearefull date
With this nights revels, and expire the tearme
Of a despised life clos'd in my brest:
By some vile forfeit of untimely death.
But he that hath the stirrage of my course,
Direct my sute: on lustie Gentlemen.

BENVOLIO. Strike Drum.

They march about the Stage, and Servingmen come forth with their napkins.

620 Enter Servants.

3SERVANT. Where's Potpan, that he helpes not to take away?
He shift a Trencher? he scrape a Trencher?

1SERVANT. When good manners, shall lie in one or two mens hands, and they unwasht too, 'tis a foule thing.

3SERVANT. Away with the Joynstooles, remove the Court-cubbord, looke to the Plate: good thou, save mee a piece of Marchpane, and as thou lovest me, let the Porter let in Susan Grindstone, and Nell, Anthonie and Potpan.

2SERVANT. Aye Boy readie.

630 3SERVANT. You are lookt for, and cal'd for, askt for, & sought for, in the great Chamber.

1SERVANT. We cannot be here and there too, chearly Boyes,
Be brisk awhile, and the longer liver take all. Exeunt.

Act 1, Scene 5: A hall in Capulet's house. 1Capulet, 2Capulet, 3Capulet, Romeo, Servant, Tybalt, Capulet, Juliet, Nurse, Benvolio

Enter all the Guests and Gentlewomen to the Maskers.

1.CAPULET. Welcome Gentlemen,
Ladies that have their toes
640 Unplagu'd with Cornes, will walke about with you:
Ah my Mistresses, which of you all
Will now deny to dance? She that makes dainty,
She Ile sweare hath Cornes: am I come neare ye now?
Welcome Gentlemen, I have seene the day
That I have worne a Visor, and could tell
A whispering tale in a faire Ladies eare:
Such as would please: 'tis gone, 'tis gone, 'tis gone,
You are welcome Gentlemen, come Musitians play:
Musicke plaies: and the dance.
650 A Hall, Hall, give roome, and foote it Girles,
More light you knaves, and turne the Tables up:
And quench the fire, the Roome is growne too hot.
Ah sirrah, this unlookt for sport comes well:

Nay sit, nay sit, good Cozin Capulet,
For you and I are past our dauncing daies:
How long 'ist now since last your selfe and I
Were in a Maske?

2.CAPULET. Berlady thirty yeares.

1.CAPULET. What man: 'tis not so much, 'tis not so much,
660 'Tis since the Nuptiall of Lucentio,
Come Pentycost as quickly as it will,
Some five and twenty yeares, and then we Maskt.

2.CAPULET. 'Tis more, 'tis more, his Sonne is elder sir:
His Sonne is thirty.

3.CAPULET. Will you tell me that?
His Sonne was but a Ward two yeares agoe.

ROMEO. What Ladie is that which doth inrich the hand
Of yonder Knight?

SERVANT. I know not sir.

670 ROMEO. O she doth teach the Torches to burne bright:
It seemes she hangs upon the cheeke of night,
As a rich Jewel in an Aethiops eare:
Beauty too rich for use, for earth too deare:
So shewes a Snowy Dove trooping with Crowes,
As yonder Lady ore her fellowes showes;
The measure done, Ile watch her place of stand,
And touching hers, make blessed my rude hand.
Did my heart love till now, forswear it sight,
For I never saw true Beauty till this night.

680 TYBOLT. This by his voice, should be a Mountague.
Fetch me my Rapier Boy, what dares the slave
Come hither cover'd with an antique face,
To fleere and scorne at our Solemnitie?
Now by the stocke and Honour of my kin,
To strike him dead I hold it not a sin.

CAPULET. Why how now kinsman,
Wherefore storme you so?

TYBOLT. Uncle this is a Mountague, our foe:
A Villaine that is hither come in spight,
690 To scorne at our Solemnitie this night.

CAPULET. Young Romeo is it?

TYBOLT. 'Tis he, that Villaine Romeo.

CAPULET. Content thee gentle Coz, let him alone,
A beares him like a portly Gentleman:
And to say truth, Verona brags of him,
To be a vertuous and well govern'd youth:
I would not for the wealth of all the towne,
Here in my house do him disparagement:

Therefore be patient, take no note of him,
700 It is my will, the which if thou respect,
Shew a faire presence, and put off these frownes,
An ill beseeeming semblance for a Feast.

TYBOLT. It fits when such a Villaine is a guest,
Ile not endure him.

CAPULET. He shall be endu'rd.
What goodman boy, I say he shall, go too,
Am I the Maister here or you? go too,
Youle not endure him, God shall mend my soule,
Youle make a Mutinie among the Guests:
710 You will set cocke a hoope, youle be the man.

TYBOLT. Why Uncle, 'tis a shame.

CAPULET. Go too, go too,
You are a sawcy Boy, 'ist so indeed?
This tricke may chance to scath you, I know what,
You must contrary me, marry 'tis time.
Well said my hearts, you are a Princox, goe,
Be quiet, or more light, more light for shame,
Ile make you quiet. What, chearely my hearts.

TYBOLT. Patience perforce, with wilfull choler meeting,
720 Makes my flesh tremble in their different greeting:
I will withdraw, but this intrusion shall
Now seeming sweet, conuert to bitter gall. Exit.

ROMEO. [to Juliet] If I prophane with my unworthiest hand,
This holy shrine, the gentle sin is this,
My lips to blushing Pilgrims did ready stand,
To smooth that rough touch, with a tender kisse.

JULIET. Good Pilgrime,
You do wrong your hand too much.
Which mannerly devotion shewes in this,
730 For Saints have hands, that Pilgrims hands do tuch,
And palme to palme, is holy Palmers kisse.

ROMEO. Have not Saints lips, and holy Palmers too?

JULIET. Aye Pilgrim, lips that they must use in prayer.

ROMEO. O then deare Saint, let lips do what hands do,
They pray (grant thou) least faith turne to dispaire.

JULIET. Saints do not move,
Though grant for prayers sake.

ROMEO. Then move not while my prayers effect I take:
Thus from my lips, by thine my sin is purg'd.

740 JULIET. Then have my lips the sin that they have tooke.

ROMEO. Sin from my lips? O trespassse sweetly urg'd:
Give me my sin againe.

JULIET. You kisse by'th'booke.

NURSE. Madam your Mother craves a word with you.

ROMEO. What is her Mother?

NURSE. Marrie Batcheler,

Her Mother is the Lady of the house,
And a good Lady, and a wise, and Vertuous,
I Nur'st her Daughter that you talkt withall:

750 I tell you, he that can lay hold of her,
Shall have the chincks.

ROMEO. Is she a Capulet?

O deare account! My life is my foes debt.

BENVOLIO. Away, be gone, the sport is at the best.

ROMEO. Aye so I feare, the more is my unrest.

CAPULET. Nay Gentlemen prepare not to be gone,

We have a trifling foolish Banquet towards:

Is it e'ne so? why then I thanke you all.

I thanke you honest Gentlemen, good night:

760 More Torches here: come on, then let's to bed.

Ah sirrah, by my faie it waxes late,

Ile to my rest.

JULIET. Come hither Nurse,

What is yond Gentleman:

NURSE. The Sonne and Heire of old Tyberio.

JULIET.. What's he that now is going out of doore?

NURSE. Marrie that I thinke be young Petruchio.

JULIET. What's he that follows here that would not dance?

NURSE. I know not.

770 JULIET. Go aske his name: if he be married,
My grave is like to be my wedded bed.

NURSE. His name is Romeo, and a Mountague,

The onely Sonne of your great Enemie.

JULIET. My onely Love sprung from my onely hate,

Too early seene, unknowne, and knowne too late,

Prodigious birth of Love it is to me,

That I must love a loathed Enemie.

NURSE. What's this? whats this?

JULIET. A rime, I learne even now

780 Of one I dan'st withall.

LADY.CAP. (One cal's within) Juliet.

NURSE. Anon, anon:

Come let's away, the strangers all are gone. Exeunt.

Act 2, Prologue

PROLOGUE (Chorus). Now old desire doth in his death bed lie,
And yong affection gapes to be his Heire,
That faire, for which Love gron'd for and would die,
With tender Juliet matcht, is now not faire.
Now Romeo is beloved, and Loves againe,
790 A like bewitched by the charme of lookes:
But to his foe suppos'd he must complaine,
And she steale Loves sweet bait from fearefull hookes:
Being held a foe, he may not have accesse
To breath such vowes as Lovers use to sweare,
And she as much in Love, her meanes much lesse,
To meete her new Beloved any where:
But passion lends them Power, time, meanes to meete,
Temp'ring extremities with extreame sweete.

800 Act 2, Scene 1: A lane by the wall of Capulet's orchard. Romeo, Benvolio, Mercutio.

Enter Romeo alone.

ROMEO. Can I goe forward when my heart is here?
Turne backe dull earth, and find thy Center out.

Enter Benvolio, with Mercutio.

BENVOLIO. Romeo, my Cozen Romeo, Romeo.

MERCUTIO. He is wise,
And on my life hath stolne him home to bed.

BENVOLIO. He ran this way and leapt this Orchard wall.

810 Call good Mercutio:
Nay, Ile conjure too.

MERCUTIO. Romeo, Humours, Madman, Passion, Lover,
Appeare thou in the likenesse of a sigh,
Speake but one rime, and I am satisfied:
Cry me but ay me, Provant, but Love and day,
Speake to my goship Venus one faire word,
One Nickname for her purblind Sonne and her,
Young Abraham Cupid he that shot so true,
When King Cophetua lov'd the begger Maid,
820 He heareth not, he stirreth not, he moveth not,
The Ape is dead, I must conjure him,
I conjure thee by Rosalines bright eyes,
By her High forehead, and her Scarlet lip,
By her Fine foote, Straight leg, and Quivering thigh,
And the Demeanes, that there Adjacent lie,
That in thy likenesse thou appeare to us.

BENVOLIO. And if he heare thee thou wilt anger him.

MERCUTIO. This cannot anger him, t'would anger him
To raise a spirit in his Mistresse circle,
830 Of some strange nature, letting it stand
Till she had laid it, and conjured it downe,

That were some spight.
My invocation is faire and honest, & in his Mistris name,
I conjure onely but to raise up him.

BENVOLIO. Come, he hath hid himselfe among these Trees
To be consorted with the Humerous night:
Blind is his Love, and best befits the darke.

MERCUTIO. If Love be blind, Love cannot hit the marke,
Now will he sit under a Medler tree,
840 And wish his Mistresse were that kind of Fruite,
As Maides call Medlers when they laugh alone,
O Romeo that she were, O that she were
An open, or thou a Poprin Peare,
Romeo goodnight, Ile to my Truckle bed,
This Field-bed is to cold for me to sleepe,
Come shall we go?

BENVOLIO. Go then, for 'tis in vaine to seeke him here
That meanes not to be found. Exeunt.

850 Act 2, Scene 2: Capulet's orchard. Romeo, Juliet, Nurse

[Romeo enters. Juliet enters, aloft]

ROMEO. He jeasts at Scarres that never felt a wound,
But soft, what light through yonder window breaks?
It is the East, and Juliet is the Sunne,
Arise faire Sun and kill the envious Moone,
Who is already sicke and pale with griefe,
That thou her Maid art far more faire then she:
Be not her Maid since she is envious,
860 Her Vestal livery is but sicke and greene,
And none but fooles do weare it, cast it off:
It is my Lady, O it is my Love, O that she knew she were,
She speakes, yet she sayes nothing, what of that?
Her eye discourses, I will answere it:
I am too bold 'tis not to me she speakes:
Two of the fairest starres in all the Heaven,
Having some businesse do entreat her eyes,
To twinkle in their Spheres till they returne.
What if her eyes were there, they in her head,
870 The brightnesse of her cheeke would shame those starres,
As day-light doth a Lampe, her eye in heaven,
Would through the ayrie Region streame so bright,
That Birds would sing, and thinke it were not night:
See how she leanes her cheeke upon her hand.
O that I were a Glove upon that hand,
That I might touch that cheeke.

JULIET. Ay me.

ROMEO. She speakes.
Oh speake againe bright Angell, for thou art
880 As glorious to this night being ore my head,

As is a winged messenger of heaven
Unto the white upturned wondring eyes
Of mortalls that fall backe to gaze on him,
When he bestrides the lazie puffing Cloudes,
And sailes upon the bosome of the ayre.

JULIET. O Romeo, Romeo, wherefore art thou Romeo?
Denie thy Father and refuse thy name:
Or if thou wilt not, be but sworne my Love,
And Ile no longer be a Capulet.

890 ROMEO. Shall I heare more, or shall I speake at this?

JULIET. 'Tis but thy name that is my Enemy:
Thou art thy selfe, though not a Mountague,
What's Mountague? it is nor hand nor foote,
Nor arme, nor face, O be some other name
Belonging to a man.

What? in a names that which we call a Rose,
By any other word would smell as sweete,
So Romeo would, were he not Romeo cal'd,
Retaine that deare perfection which he owes,
900 Without that title Romeo, doffe thy name,
And for thy name which is no part of thee,
Take all my selfe.

ROMEO. I take thee at thy word:
Call me but Love, and Ile be new baptiz'd,
Hence forth I never will be Romeo.

JULIET. What man art thou, that thus bescreen'd in night
So stumblest on my counsell?

ROMEO. By a name,
I know not how to tell thee who I am:
910 My name deare Saint, is hatefull to my selfe,
Because it is an Enemy to thee,
Had I it written, I would teare the word.

JULIET. My eares have yet not drunke a hundred words
Of thy tongues uttering, yet I know the sound.
Art thou not Romeo, and a Montague?

ROMEO. Neither faire Maid, if either thee dislike.

JULIET. How cam'st thou hither.
Tell me, and wherefore?
The Orchard walls are high, and hard to climbe,
920 And the place death, considering who thou art,
If any of my kinsmen find thee here,

ROMEO. With Loves light wings
Did I ore-perch these Walls,
For stony limits cannot hold Love out,
And what Love can do, that dares Love attempt:
Therefore thy kinsmen are no stop to me.

JULIET. If they do see thee, they will murther thee.

ROMEO. Alacke there lies more perill in thine eye,
Then twenty of their Swords, looke thou but sweete,
930 And I am prooffe against their enmity.

JULIET. I would not for the world they saw thee here.

ROMEO. I have nights cloake to hide me from their eyes
And but thou love me, let them finde me here,
My life were better ended by their hate,
Then death proroged wanting of thy Love.

JULIET. By whose direction found'st thou out this place?

ROMEO. By Love that first did promp me to enquire,
He lent me counsell, and I lent him eyes,
I am no Pylot, yet wert thou as far 940 As that vast-shore-washet with the farthest Sea,
I should adventure for such Marchandise.

JULIET. Thou knowest the maske of night is on my face,
Else would a Maiden blush bepaint my cheeke,
For that which thou hast heard me speake to night,
Faine would I dwell on forme, faine, faine, denie
What I have spoke, but farewell Complement,
Doest thou Love? I know thou wilt say aye,
And I will take thy word, yet if thou swear'st,
Thou maiest prove false: at Lovers perjuries
950 They say Jove laught, oh gentle Romeo,
If thou dost Love, pronounce it faithfully:
Or if thou thinkest I am too quickly wonne,
Ile frowne and be perverse, and say thee nay,
So thou wilt wooe: But else not for the world.
In truth faire Mountague I am too fond:
And therefore thou maiest thinke my behaviour light,
But trust me Gentleman, Ile prove more true,
Then those that have coying to be strange,
I should have beene more strange, I must confesse,
960 But that thou over heard'st ere I was ware
My true Loves passion, therefore pardon me,
And not impute this yeelding to light Love,
Which the darke night hath so discovered.

ROMEO. Lady, by yonder Moone I vow,
That tips with silver all these Fruite tree tops.

JULIET. O sweare not by the Moone, th'inconstant Moone,
That monethly changes in her circled Orbe,
Least that thy Love prove likewise variable.

ROMEO. What shall I sweare by?

970 JULIET. Do not sweare at all:
Or if thou wilt sweare by thy gracious selfe,
Which is the God of my Idolatry,
And Ile beleeeve thee.

ROMEO. If my hearts deare love.

JULIET. Well do not sweare, although I joy in thee:
I have no joy of this contract to night,
It is too rash, too unadvis'd, too sudden,
Too like the lightning which doth cease to be
Ere, one can say, it lightens, Sweete good night:
980 This bud of Love by Summers ripening breath,
May prove a beautious Flower when next we meete:
Goodnight, goodnight, as sweete repose and rest,
Come to thy heart, as that within my brest.

ROMEO. O wilt thou leave me so unsatisfied?

JULIET. What satisfaction can'st thou have to night?

ROMEO. Th'exchange of thy Loves faithfull vow for mine.

JULIET. I gave thee mine before thou did'st request it:
And yet I would it were to give againe.

ROMEO. Would'st thou withdraw it,
990 For what purpose Love?

JULIET. But to be franke and give it thee againe,
And yet I wish but for the thing I have,
My bounty is as boundlesse as the Sea,
My Love as deepe, the more I give to thee
The more I have, for both are Infinite:
I heare some noyse within deare Love adue:

NURSE. (Cals within) Juliet.

JULIET. [to Nurse] Anon good Nurse, [to Romeo] sweet Mountague be true:
Stay but a little, I will come againe.

1000 ROMEO. O blessed blessed night, I am afear'd
Being in night, all this is but a dreame,
Too flattering sweet to be substantiall.

JULIET. Three words deare Romeo,
And goodnight indeed,
If that thy bent of Love be Honourable,
Thy purpose marriage, send me word to morrow,
By one that Ile procure to come to thee,
Where and what time thou wilt performe the right,
And all my Fortunes at thy foote Ile lay,
1010 And follow thee my Lord throughout the world.

NURSE. (Within): Juliet.

JULIET. Madam.
I come, anon: [to Romeo] but if thou meanest not well,
I do beseech thee

NURSE. (Within) Juliet.

JULIET. Madam.
(By and by I come)

[to Romeo] To cease thy strife, and leave me to my griefe,
To morrow will I send.

1020 ROMEO. So thrive my soule.

JULIET. A thousand times goodnight. Exit.

ROMEO. A thousand times the worse to want thy light,
Love goes toward Love as school-boyes frō thier books
But Love frō Love, towards schoole with heavie lookes.

Enter Juliet againe.

JULIET. Hist Romeo hist: O for a Falkners voice,
To lure this Tassell gentle backe againe,
Bondage is hoarse, and may not speake aloud,
Else would I teare the Cave where Eccho lies,
1030 And make her ayrie tongue more hoarse, then
With repetition of my Romeo.

ROMEO. It is my soule that calls upon my name.
How silver sweet, sound Lovers tongues by night,
Like softest Musicke to attending eares.

JULIET. Romeo.

ROMEO. My Neece.

JULIET. What a clock to morrow
Shall I send to thee?

ROMEO. By the houre of nine.

1040 JULIET. I will not faile, 'tis twenty yeares till then,
I have forgot why I did call thee backe.

ROMEO. Let me stand here till thou remember it.

JULIET. I shall forget, to have thee still stand there,
Remembring how I Love thy company.

ROMEO. And Ile still stay, to have thee still forget,
Forgetting any other home but this.

JULIET. 'Tis almost morning, I would have thee gone,
And yet no further then a wantons Bird,
That let's it hop a little from his hand,
1050 Like a poore prisoner in his twisted Gyves,
And with a silken thred plucks it backe againe,
So loving Jealous of his liberty.

ROMEO. I would I were thy Bird.

JULIET. Sweet so would I,
Yet I should kill thee with much cherishing:
Good night, good night.

ROMEO. Parting is such sweete sorrow,
That I shall say goodnight, till it be morrow.

JULIET. Sleepe dwell upon thine eyes, peace in thy brest.

1060 ROMEO. Would I were sleepe and peace so sweet to rest,
The gray ey'd morne smiles on the frowning night,
Checking the Easterne Clouds with streakes of light,
And darknesse fleckel'd like a drunkard reeles,
From forth dayes pathway, made by Titans wheeles.
Hence will I to my ghostly Fries close Cell,
His helpe to crave, and my deare hap to tell. Exit.

Act 2, Scene 3: Friar Laurence's cell. Friar, Romeo
Enter Frier alone with a basket.

1070 FRIAR. The gray ey'd morne smiles on the frowning night,
Checking the Easterne Cloudes with streaks of light:
And fleckled darknesse like a drunkard reeles,
From forth daies path, and Titans burning wheeles:
Now ere the Sun advance his burning eye,
The day to cheere, and nights danke dew to dry,
I must upfill this Osier Cage of ours,
With balefull weedes, and precious Juiced flowers,
The earth that's Natures mother, is her Tombe,
What is her burying grave that is her wombe:
1080 And from her wombe children of divers kind
We sucking on her naturall bosome find:
Many for many vertues excellent:
None but for some, and yet all different.
Omickle is the powerfull grace that lies
In Plants, Hearbs, stones, and their true qualities:
For nought so vile, that on the earth doth live,
But to the earth some speciall good doth give.
Nor ought so good, but strain'd from that faire use,
Revolts from true birth, stumbling on abuse.
1090 Vertue it selfe turnes vice being misapplied,
And vice sometime by action dignified. Enter Romeo.
Within the infant rin'd of this weake flower,
Poyson hath residence, and medicine power:
For this being smelt, with that part cheares each part,
Being tasted slayes all sences with the heart.
Two such opposed Kings encampe them still,
In man as well as Hearbes, grace and rude will:
And where the worser is predominant,
Full soone the Canker death eates up that Plant.

1100 ROMEO. Good morrow Father.

FRIAR. Benedecite.
What early tongue so sweet saluteth me?
Young Sonne, it argues a distempered head,
So soone to bid goodmorrow to thy bed;
Care keepes his watch in every old mans eye,
And where Care lodges, sleepe will never lye:
But where unbrused youth with unstuft braine
Doth couch his lims, there, golden sleepe doth raigne;

Therefore thy earlinesse doth me assure,
1110 Thou art uprousd with some distemprature;
Or if not so, then here I hit it right.
Our Romeo hath not beene in bed to night.

ROMEO. That last is true, the sweeter rest was mine.

FRIAR. God pardon sin: wast thou with Rosaline?

ROMEO. With Rosaline, my ghostly Father? No,
I have forgot that name, and that names woe.

FRIAR. That's my good Son, but wher hast thou bin then?

ROMEO. Ile tell thee ere thou aske it me agen:
I have beene feasting with mine enemie,
1120 Where on a sudden one hath wounded me,
That's by me wounded: both our remedies
Within thy helpe and holy phisicke lies:
I beare no hatred, blessed man: for loe
My intercession likewise steads my foe.

FRIAR. Be plaine good Son, rest homely in thy drift,
Ridling confession, findes but ridling shrift.

ROMEO. Then plainly know my hearts deare Love is set,
On the faire daughter of rich Capulet:
As mine on hers, so hers is set on mine;
1130 And all combin'd, save what thou must combine
By holy marriage: when and where, and how,
We met, we wooed, and made exchange of vow:
Ile tell thee as we passe, but this I pray,
That thou consent to marrie us to day.

FRIAR. Holy Saint Francis, what a change is heere?
Is Rosaline that thou didst Love so deare
So soone forsaken? young mens Love then lies
Not truely in their hearts, but in their eyes.
Jesu Maria, what a deale of brine

1140 Hath washt thy sallow cheekes for Rosaline?
How much salt water throwne away in wast,
To season Love that of it doth not tast.
The Sun not yet thy sighes, from heaven cleares,
Thy old grones yet ringing in my auncient eares:
Lo here upon thy cheeke the staine doth sit,
Of an old teare that is not washt off yet.
If ere thou wast thy selfe, and these woes thine,
Thou and these woes, were all for Rosaline.
And art thou chang'd? pronounce this sentence then,
1150 Women may fall, when there's no strength in men.

ROMEO. Thou chid'st me oft for loving Rosaline.

FRIAR. For doting, not for loving pupill mine.

ROMEO. And bad'st me bury Love.

FRIAR. Not in a grave,
To lay one in, another out to have.

ROMEO. I pray thee chide me not, her I Love now Doth grace for grace, and Love for Love allow:
The other did not so.

FRIAR. O she knew well,
1160 Thy Love did read by rote, that could not spell:
But come young waverer, come goe with me,
In one respect, Ile thy assistant be:
For this alliance may so happy prove,
To turne your houshold rancor to pure Love.

ROMEO. O let us hence, I stand on sudden hast.

FRIAR. Wisely and slow, they stumble that run fast. Exeunt

Act 2, Scene 4: A street. Benvolio, Mercutio, Romeo, Nurse, Peter
Enter Benvolio and Mercutio.

1170 MERCUTIO. Where the devile should this Romeo be? came he not home to night?

BENVOLIO. Not to his Fathers, I spoke with his man.

MERCUTIO. Why that same pale hard-harted wench, that Rosaline torments him so, that he will sure run mad.

BENVOLIO. Tibalt, the kinsman to old Capulet, hath sent a Letter to his Fathers house.

MERCUTIO. A challenge on my life.

BENVOLIO. Romeo will answere it.

MERCUTIO. Any man that can write, may answere a Letter.

1180 BENVOLIO. Nay, he will answere the Letters Maister how he dares, being dared.

MERCUTIO. Alas poore Romeo, he is already dead stab'd with a white wenches blacke eye, runne through the eare with a Love song, the very pinne of his heart, cleft with the blind Bowe-boyes but-shaft, and is he a man to encounter Tybalt?

BENVOLIO. Why what is Tibalt?

MERCUTIO. More then Prince of Cats. Oh hee's the Couragious
Captaine of Complements: he fights as you sing 1190 pricksong, keeps time, distance, and proportion, he rests his minum, one, two, and the third in your bosom: the very butcher of a silk button, a Dualist, a Dualist: a Gentleman of the very first house of the first and second cause: ah the immortall Passado, the Punto reverso, the Hay.

BENVOLIO. The what?

MERCUTIO. The Pox of such antique lisping affecting phantacies, these new tuners of accent: Jesu a very good blade, a very tall man, a very good whore. Why is not this a lamentable thing Grandsire, that we should be thus afflicted 1200 with these strange flies: these fashion Mongers, these pardon-mee's, who stand so much on the new form, that they cannot sit at ease on the old bench. O their bones, their bones.

Enter Romeo.

BENVOLIO. Here comes Romeo, here comes Romeo.

MERCUTIO. Without his Roe, like a dried Hering. O flesh, flesh, how art thou fishified? Now is he for the numbers that Petrarch flow'd in: Laura to his Lady, was a kitchen wench, marrie she had a better Love to berime her: Dido 1210 a dowdie, Cleopatra a Gipsie, Hellen and Hero, hildings and Harlots: Thisbie a gray eie or so, but not to the purpose.
Signior Romeo, Bon jour, there's a French salutation to your French slop: you gave us the the counterfait fairely last night.

ROMEO. Good morrow to you both, what counterfeit did I give you?

MERCUTIO. The slip sir, the slip, can you not conceive?

ROMEO. Pardon Mercutio, my businesse was great, and in such a case as mine, a man may straine curtesie.

1220 MERCUTIO. That's as much as to say, such a case as yours constrains a man to bow in the hams.

ROMEO. Meaning to cursie.

MERCUTIO. Thou hast most kindly hit it.

ROMEO. A most courteous exposition.

MERCUTIO. Nay, I am the very pinck of curtesie.

ROMEO. Pinke for flower.

MERCUTIO. Right.

ROMEO. Why then is my Pump well flow'r'd.

1230 MERCUTIO. Sure wit, follow me this jeast, now till thou hast worne out thy Pump, that when the single sole of it is worne, the jeast may remaine after the wearing, sole-singular.

ROMEO. O single sol'd jeast,
Soly singular for the singlenesse.

MERCUTIO. Come betweene us good Benvolio, my wits faints.

ROMEO. Swits and spurs,
Swits and spurs, or Ile crie a match.

MERCUTIO. Nay, if our wits run the Wild-Goose chase, I am done: For thou hast more of the Wild-Goose in one of 1240 thy wits, then I am sure I have in my whole five. Was I with you there for the Goose?

ROMEO. Thou wast never with mee for any thing, when thou wast not there for the Goose.

MERCUTIO. I will bite thee by the eare for that jest.

ROMEO. Nay, good Goose bite not.

MERCUTIO. Thy wit is a very Bitter-sweeting,
It is a most sharpe sawce.

ROMEO. And is it not well serv'd into a Sweet-Goose?

MERCUTIO. Oh here's a wit of Cheverell, that stretches from 1250 an ynch narrow, to an ell broad.

ROMEO. I stretch it out for that word, broad, which added to the Goose, proves thee farre and wide, abroad Goose.

MERCUTIO. Why is not this better now, then groning for Love, now art thou sociable, now art thou Romeo: now art thou what thou art, by Art as well as by Nature, for this driveling Love is like a great Naturall, that runs lolling up and downe to hid his bable in a hole.

BENVOLIO. Stop there, stop there.

MERCUTIO. Thou desir'st me to stop in my tale against the haire.

1260 BENVOLIO. Thou would'st else have made thy tale large.

MERCUTIO. O thou art deceiv'd, I would have made it short, or I was come to the whole depth of my tale, and meant indeed to occupie the argument no longer.

Enter Nurse and her man.

ROMEO. Here's goodly geare.
A sayle, a sayle.

MERCUTIO. Two, two: a Shirt and a Smocke.

NURSE. Peter?

PETER. Anon.

1270 NURSE. My Fan Peter?

MERCUTIO. Good Peter to hide her face?
For her Fans the fairer face?

NURSE. God ye good morrow Gentlemen.

MERCUTIO. God ye gooden faire Gentlewoman.

NURSE. Is it gooden?

MERCUTIO. 'Tis no lesse I tell you: for the bawdy hand of the Dyall is now upon the pricke of Noone.

NURSE. Out upon you: what a man are you?

ROMEO. One Gentlewoman,

1280 That God hath made, himselfe to mar.

NURSE. By my troth it is said, for himselfe to, mar quatha:
Gentlemen, can any of you tel me where I may find the young Romeo?

ROMEO. I can tell you: but young Romeo will be older when you have found him, then he was when you sought him: I am the youngest of that name, for fault of a worse.

NURSE. You say well.

MERCUTIO. Yea is the worst well,
Very well tooke: Ifaith, wisely, wisely.

1290 NURSE. If you be he sir,
I desire some confidence with you?

BENVOLIO. She will endite him to some Supper.

MERCUTIO. A baud, a baud, a baud. So ho.

ROMEO. What hast thou found?

MERCUTIO. No Hare sir, unlesse a Hare sir in a Lenten pie, that is something stale and hoare ere it be spent.

An old Hare hoare, and an old Hare hoare is very good meat in Lent.

1300 But a Hare that is hoare is too much for a score, when it hoares ere it be spent,
Romeo will you come to your Fathers? Weele to dinner thither.

ROMEO. I will follow you.

MERCUTIO. Farewell auncient Lady:
Farewell Lady, Lady, Lady.

Exit. Mercutio, Benvolio.

NURSE. I pray you sir, what sawcie Merchant was this that was so full of his roperie?

1310 ROMEO. A Gentleman Nurse, that loves to heare himselfe talke, and will speake more in a minute, then he will stand to in a Moneth.

NURSE. And a speake any thing against me, Ile take him downe, & a were lustier then he is, and twentie such Jacks:
and if I cannot, Ile finde those that shall: scurvie knave, I am none of his flurt-gils, I am none of his skaines mates, and thou must stand by too and suffer every knave to use me at his pleasure.

1320 PETER. I saw no man use you at his pleasure: if I had, my weapon should quickly have beene out, I warrant you, I dare draw assoone as another man, if I see occasion in a good quarrell, and the law on my side.

NURSE. Now afore God, I am so vext, that every part about me quivers, skurvy knave: pray you sir a word: and as I told you, my young Lady bid me enquire you out, what she bid me say, I will keepe to my selfe: but first let me tell ye, if ye should leade her in a fooles paradise, as they say, it were a very grosse kind of behaviour, as they say:
for the Gentlewoman is yong: & therefore, if you should deale double with her, truely it were an ill thing to be offered 1330 to any Gentlewoman, and very weake dealing.

ROMEO. Nurse commend me to thy Lady and Mistresse, I protest unto thee.

NURSE. Good heart, and yfaith I will tell her as much:
Lord, Lord she will be a joyfull woman.

ROMEO. What wilt thou tell her Nurse? thou doest not marke me?

NURSE. I will tell her sir, that you do protest, which as I take it, is a Gentleman-like offer.

ROMEO. Bid her devise some meanes to come to shrift this afternoone, 1340 And there she shall at Frier Lawrence Cell
Be shriv'd and married: here is for thy paines.

NURSE. No truly sir not a penny.

ROMEO. Go too, I say you shall.

NURSE. This afternoone sir? well she shall be there.

ROMEO. And stay thou good Nurse behind the Abbey wall,
Within this houre my man shall be with thee,
And bring thee Cords made like a tackled staire,
Which to the high top gallant of my joy,
Must be my convoy in the secret night.
1350 Farewell, be trustie and Ile quite thy paines:
Farewell, commend me to thy Mistresse.

NURSE. Now God in heaven blesse thee: harke you sir,

ROMEO. What saist thou my deare Nurse?

NURSE. Is your man secret, did you nere heare say two may keepe counsell putting one away.

ROMEO. Warrant thee my man as true as steele.

NURSE. Well sir, my Mistresse is the sweetest Lady, Lord, Lord, when 'twas a little prating thing. O there is a Noble man in Towne one Paris, that would faine lay knife aboard:
1360 but she good soule had as leewe a see Toade, a very Toade as see him: I anger her sometimes, and tell her that Paris is the properer man, but Ile warrant you, when I say so, shee lookes as pale as any clout in the versall world.
Doth not Rosemarie and Romeo begin both with a letter?

ROMEO. Aye Nurse, what of that? Both with an R

NURSE. A mocker that's the dogs name. R. is for the no,
I know it begins with some other letter, and she hath the prettiest sententious of it, of you and Rosemary, that it would do you good to heare it.

1370 ROMEO. Commend me to thy Lady.

NURSE. Aye a thousand times. Peter?

PETER. Anon.

NURSE. Before and apace. Exit Nurse and Peter.

Act 2, Scene 5: Capulet's orchard. Juliet, Nurse.
Enter Juliet.

JULIET. The clocke strook nine, when I did send the Nurse,
In halfe an houre she promised to returne,
Perchance she cannot meete him: that's not so:

1380 Oh she is lame, Loves Herauld should be thoughts,
Which ten times faster glides then the Sunnes beames,
Driving backe shadowes over lowring hils.
Therefore do nimble Pinion'd Doves draw Love,
And therefore hath the wind-swift Cupid wings:
Now is the Sun upon the highmost hill
Of this daies journey, and from nine till twelve,
Aye three long houres, yet she is not come.
Had she affections and warme youthfull blood,
She would be as swift in motion as a ball,
1390 My words would bandy her to my sweete Love,
And his to me, but old folkes,
Many faine as they were dead,
Unwieldie, slow, heauy, and pale as lead.

Enter Nurse.

O God she comes, O hony Nurse what newes?
Hast thou met with him? send thy man away.

NURSE. [to offstage] Peter stay at the gate.

JULIET. Now good sweet Nurse:
O Lord, why lookest thou sad?

1400 Though newes, be sad, yet tell them merrily.
If good thou sham'st the musicke of sweet newes,
By playing it to me, with so sower a face.

NURSE. I am a weary, give me leave awhile,
Fie how my bones ake, what a jaunt have I had?

JULIET. I would thou had'st my bones, and I thy newes:
Nay come I pray thee speake, good good Nurse speake.

NURSE. Jesu what hast? can you not stay a while?
Do you not see that I am out of breath?

JULIET. How art thou out of breath, when thou hast breth 1410 To say to me, that thou art out of breath?
The excuse that thou dost make in this delay,

Is longer then the tale thou dost excuse.
Is thy newes good or bad? answere to that,
Say either, and Ile stay the circustance:
Let me be satisfied, ist good or bad?

NURSE. Well, you have made a simple choice, you know not how to chuse a man: Romeo, no not he though his face be better then any mans, yet his legs excels all mens, and for a hand, and a foote, and a body, though they be not to 1420 be talkt on, yet they are past compare: he is not the flower of curtesie, but Ile warrant him as gentle a Lambe: go thy waies wench, serve God. What have you din'd at home?

JULIET. No no: but all this this did I know before
What saies he of our marriage? what of that?

NURSE. Lord how my head akes, what a head have I?
It beates as it would fall in twenty peeces.
My backe a tother side: o my backe, my backe:
Beshrew your heart for sending me about
To catch my death with jaunting up and downe.

1430 JULIET. Ifaith: I am sorrie that thou art so well.
Sweet sweet, sweet Nurse, tell me what saies my Love?

NURSE. Your Love saies like an honest Gentleman,
And a courteous, and a kind, and a handsome,
And I warrant a vertuous: where is your Mother?

JULIET. Where is my Mother?
Why she is within, where should she be?
How odly thou repli'st:
Your Love saies like an honest Gentleman:
Where is your Mother?

1440 NURSE. O Gods Lady deare,
Are you so hot? marrie come up I trow,
Is this the Poultis for my aking bones?
Henceforward do your messages your selfe.

JULIET. Heere's such a coile, come what saies Romeo?

NURSE. Have you got leave to go to shrift to day?

JULIET. I have.

NURSE. Then high you hence to Frier Lawrence Cell,
There staies a Husband to make you a wife:
Now comes the wanton bloud up in your cheekes,
1450 Thei'le be in Scarlet straight at any newes:
Hie you to Church, I must an other way,
To fetch a Ladder by the which your Love
Must climde a birds nest Soone when it is darke:
I am the drudge, and toile in your delight:
But you shall beare the burthen soone at night.
Go Ile to dinner, hie you to the Cell.

JULIET. Hie to high Fortune, honest Nurse, farewell. Exeunt.

Act 2, Scene 6: Friar Laurence's cell. Friar, Romeo, Juliet

1460 Enter Frier and Romeo.

FRIAR. So smile the heavens upon this holy act,
That after houres, with sorrow chide us not.

ROMEO. Amen, amen, but come what sorrow can,
It cannot countervaike the exchange of joy
That one short minute gives me in her sight:
Do thou but close our hands with holy words.
Then Love-devouring death do what he dare,
It is enough. I may but call her mine.

FRIAR. These violent delights have violent endes, 1470 And in their triumph: die like fire and powder;
Which as they kisse consume. The sweetest honey
Is loathsome in his owne deliciousnesse,
And in the taste confoundes the appetite.
Therefore Love moderately, long Love doth so,
Too swift arrives as tardie as too slow.

Enter Juliet.

Here comes the Lady. Oh so light a foot
Will nere weare out the everlasting flint,
A Lover may bestride the Gossamours,
1480 That ydles in the wanton Summer ayre,
And yet not fall, so light is vanitie.

JULIET. Good even to my ghostly Confessor.

FRIAR. Romeo shall thanke thee Daughter for us both.

JULIET. As much to him, else in his thanks too much.

FRIAR. Ah Juliet, if the measure of thy joy
Be heapt like mine, and that thy skill be more
To blason it, then sweeten with thy breath
This neighbour ayre, and let rich musickes tongue,
Unfold the imagin'd happinesse that both 1490 Receive in either, by this deere encounter.

JULIET. Conceit more rich in matter then in words,
Braggs of his substance, not of Ornament:
They are but beggers that can count their worth,
But my true Love is growne to such such excesse,
I cannot sum up some of halfe my wealth.

FRIAR. Come, come with me, & we will make short worke,
For by your leaves, you shall not stay alone,
Till holy Church incorporate two in one. [Exeunt]

1500 Act 3, Scene 1: A public place. Mercutio, Benvolio, Tybalt, Romeo, NPC servingmen, Citizens

Enter Mercutio, Benvolio, and men.

BENVOLIO. I pray thee good Mercutio lets retire,
The day is hot, the Capulets abroad:
And if we meet, we shal not scape a brawle, for now these hot dayes, is the mad blood stirring.

MERCUTIO. Thou art like one of these fellowes, that when he enters the confines of a Taverne, claps me his Sword upon the Table, and sayes, God send me no need of thee: and by 1510 the operation of the second cup, drawes him on the Drawer, when indeed there is no need.

BENVOLIO. Am I like such a Fellow?

MERCUTIO. Come, come, thou art as hot a Jacke in thy mood, as any in Italie: and assoone moved to be moodie, and assoone
moodie to be mov'd.

BENVOLIO. And what too?

MERCUTIO. Nay, and there were two such, we should have none shortly, for one would kill the other: thou, why thou wilt quarrell with a man that hath a haire more, or a haire 1520 lesse in his beard, then thou hast: thou wilt quarrell with a man for cracking Nuts, having no other reason, but because thou hast hasell eyes: what eye, but such an eye, would spie out such a quarrell? thy head is as full of quarrels, as an egge is full of meat, and yet thy head hath bin beaten as addle as an egge for quarreling: thou hast quarrel'd with a man for coffing in the street, because he hath wakened thy Dog that hath laine asleepe in the Sun. Did'st thou not fall out with a Tailor for wearing his new Doublet before Easter? with another, for tying his new shooes 1530 with old Riband, and yet thou wilt Tutor me from quarrelling?

BENVOLIO. And I were so apt to quarell as thou art, any man should buy the Fee-simple of my life, for an houre and a quarter.

MERCUTIO. The Fee-simple? O simple.

Enter Tybalt, ~~Petruchio~~, and others.

BENVOLIO. By my head here comes the Capulets.

MERCUTIO. By my heele I care not.

TYBOLT. Follow me close, for I will speake to them.
Gentlemen, Good den, a word with one of you.

1540 MERCUTIO. And but one word with one of us? couple it with something, make it a word and a blow.

TYBOLT. You shall find me apt inough to that sir, and you will give me occasion.

MERCUTIO. Could you not take some occasion without giving?

TYBOLT. Mercutio thou consort'st with Romeo.

MERCUTIO. Consort? what dost thou make us Minstrels? & thou make Minstrels of us, looke to heare nothing but discords:
heere's my fiddlesticke, heere's that shall make you 1550 daunce. Come consort.

BENVOLIO. We talke here in the publike haunt of men:
Either withdraw unto some private place,
Or reason coldly of your greeuances:
Or else depart, here all eies gaze on us.

MERCUTIO. Mens eyes were made to looke, and let them gaze.
I will not budge for no mans pleasure I.

Enter Romeo.

TYBOLT. Well peace be with you sir, here comes my man.

MERCUTIO. But Ile be hang'd sir if he weare your Livery.
1560 Marry go before to field, heele be your follower,
Your worship in that sense, may call him man.

TYBOLT. Romeo, the love I beare thee, can affoord
No better terme then this: Thou art a Villaine.

ROMEO. Tibalt, the reason that I have to love thee,
Doth much excuse the appertaining rage
To such a greeting: Villaine am I none;
Therefore farewell, I see thou know'st me not.

TYBOLT. Boy, this shall not excuse the injuries
That thou hast done me, therefore turne and draw.

1570 ROMEO. I do protest I never injur'd thee,
But lov'd thee better then thou can'st devise:
Till thou shalt know the reason of my love,
And so good Capulet, which name I tender
As dearly as my owne, be satisfied.

MERCUTIO. O calme, dishonourable, vile submission:
Alla stucatho carries it away.
Tybalt, you Rat-catcher, will you walke?

TYBOLT. What woulds thou have with me?

1580 MERCUTIO. Good King of Cats, nothing but one of your nine lives, that I meane to make bold withall, and as you shall use me hereafter dry beate the rest of the eight. Will you pluck your Sword out of his Pilcher by the eares? Make hast, least mine be about your eares ere it be out.

TYBOLT. I am for you.

ROMEO. Gentle Mercutio, put thy Rapier up.

MERCUTIO. Come sir, your Passado.

ROMEO. Draw Benvolio, beat downe their weapons:
Gentlemen, for shame forbear this outrage,
Tibalt, Mercutio, the Prince expresly hath 1590 Forbidden bandying in Verona streetes.

MERCUTIO. I am hurt.
A plague a both the Houses, I am sped:
Is he gone and hath nothing?

BENVOLIO. What art thou hurt?

MERCUTIO. Aye, aye, a scratch, a scratch, marry 'tis inough,
Where is my Page? go Villaine fetch a Surgeon.

ROMEO. Courage man, the hurt cannot be much.

MERCUTIO. No: 'tis not so deepe as a well, nor so wide as a 1600 Church doore, but 'tis inough, 'twill serve: aske for me tomorrow, and you shall find me a grave man. I am pepper'd
I warrant, for this world: a plague a both your houses.
What, a Dog, a Rat, a Mouse, a Cat to scratch a man to death: a Braggart, a Rogue, a Villaine, that fights by the booke of Arithmeticke, why the dev'le came you betweene us? I was hurt under your arme.

ROMEO. I thought all for the best.

MERCUTIO. Helpe me into some house Benvolio,
Or I shall faint: a plague a both your houses.

1610 They have made wormes meat of me,
I have it, and soundly to your Houses. Exit. [Mercutio and Benvolio]

ROMEO. This Gentleman the Princes neere Alie,
My very Friend hath got his mortall hurt
In my behalfe, my reputation stain'd
With Tibalts slaunder, Tybalt that an houre
Hath beene my Cozin: O Sweet Juliet,
Thy Beauty hath made me Effeminate,
And in my temper softned Valours steele.

Enter Benvolio.

1620 BENVOLIO. O Romeo, Romeo, brave Mercutio's is dead,
That Gallant spirit hath aspir'd the Cloudes,
Which too untimely here did scorne the earth.

ROMEO. This daies blacke Fate, on mo daies doth depend,
This but begins, the wo others must end.

Enter Tybalt.

BENVOLIO. Here comes the Furious Tybalt backe againe.

ROMEO. He gon in triumph, and Mercutio slaine?
Away to heaven respective Lenitie,
And fire and Fury, be my conduct now.

1630 Now Tybalt take the Villaine backe againe
That late thou gav'st me, for Mercutios soule
Is but a little way above our heads,
Staying for thine to keepe him companie:
Either thou or I, or both, must goe with him.

TYBOLT. Thou wretched Boy that didst consort him here,
Shalt with him hence.

ROMEO. This shall determine that.

They fight. Tybalt falles.

BENVOLIO. Romeo, away be gone:
1640 The Citizens are up, and Tybalt slaine,
Stand not amaz'd, the Prince will Doome thee death
If thou art taken: hence, be gone, away.

ROMEO. O! I am Fortunes foole.

BENVOLIO. Why dost thou stay?

Exit Romeo.

Enter Citizens.

CITIZEN. Which way ran he that kild Mercutio?
Tibalt that Murtherer, which way ran he?

BENVOLIO. There lies that Tybalt.

1650 CITIZEN. Up sir go with me:
I charge thee in the Princes names obey.

Enter Prince, old Montague, Capulet, their Wives and all.

PRINCE. Where are the vile beginners of this Fray?

BENVOLIO. O Noble Prince, I can discover all
The unluckie Mannage of this fatall brall:
There lies the man slaine by young Romeo,
That slew thy kinsman brave Mercutio.

LADY. CAP. [Wi.] Tybalt, my Cozin? O my Brothers Child, 1660 O Prince, O Cozin, Husband, O the blood is spild
Of my deare kinsman. Prince as thou art true,
For bloud of ours, shed bloud of Mountague.
O Cozin, Cozin.

PRINCE. Benvolio, who began this Fray?

BENVOLIO. Tybalt here slaine, whom Romeo's hand did slay,
Romeo that spoke him faire, bid him bethinke
How nice the Quarrell was, and urg'd withall
Your high displeasure: all this uttered,
With gentle breath, calme looke, knees humbly bow'd
1670 Could not take truce with the unruly spleene
Of Tybalts deafe to peace, but that he Tilts
With Peircing steele at bold Mercutio's breast,
Who all as hot, turnes deadly point to point,
And with a Martiall scorne, with one hand beates
Cold death aside, and with the other sends
It back to Tybalt, whose dexterity
Retorts it: Romeo he cries aloud,
Hold Friends, Friends part, and swifter then his tongue,

His aged arme, beats downe their fatall points,
1680 And twixt them rushes, underneath whose arme,
An envious thrust from Tybalt, hit the life
Of stout Mercutio, and then Tybalt fled.
But by and by comes backe to Romeo,
Who had but newly entertained Revenge,
And too't they goe like lightning, for ere I
Could draw to part them, was stout Tybalt slaine:
And as he fell, did Romeo turne and flie:
This is the truth, or let Benvolio die.

LADY. CAP. [Wi] He is a kinsman to the Mountague, 1690 Affection makes him false, he speakes not true:
Some twenty of them fought in this blacke strife,
And all those twenty could but kill one life.
I beg for Justice, which thou Prince must give:
Romeo slew Tybalt, Romeo must not live.

PRINCE. Romeo slew him, he slew Mercutio,
Who now the price of his deare blood doth owe.

CAPULET. Not Romeo Prince, he was Mercutios Friend,
His fault concludes, but what the law should end,
The life of Tybalt.

1700 PRINCE. And for that offence,
Immediately we doe exile him hence:
I have an interest in your hearts proceeding:
My bloud for your rude brawles doth lie a bleeding.
But Ile Amerce you with so strong a fine,
That you shall all repent the losse of mine.
It will be deafe to pleading and excuses,
Nor teares, nor prayers shall purchase our abuses.
Therefore use none, let Romeo hence in hast,
Else when he is found, that houre is his last.
1710 Beare hence this body, and attend our will:
Mercy not Murders, pardoning those that kill. Exeunt.

Act 3, Scene 2: Capulet's orchard. Juliet, Nurse
Enter Juliet alone.

JULIET. Gallop apace, you fiery footed steedes,
Towards Phoebus lodging, such a Wagoner
As Phaeton would whip you to the west,
And bring in Cloudie night immediately.
Spred thy close Curtaine Love-performing night,
1720 That run-awayes eyes may wincke, and Romeo
Leape to these armes, untalkt of and unseene,
Lovers can see to doe their Amorous rights,
And by their owne Beauties: or if Love be blind,
It best agrees with night: come civill night,
Thou sober suted Matron all in blacke,
And learne me how to loose a winning match,
Plaid for a paire of stainlesse Maidenhoods,

Hood my unman'd blood bayting in my Cheekes,
With thy Blacke mantle, till strange Love grow bold,
1730 Thinke true Love acted simple modestie:
Come night, come Romeo, come thou day in night,
For thou wilt lie upon the wings of night
Whiter then new Snow upon a Ravens backe:
Come gentle night, come loving blackebrow'd night.
Give me my Romeo, and when I shall die,
Take him and cut him out in little starres,
And he will make the Face of heaven so fine,
That all the world will be in Love with night,
And pay no worship to the Garish Sun.

1740 O I have bought the Mansion of a Love,
But not possest it, and though I am sold,
Not yet enjoy'd, so tedious is this day,
As is the night before some Festivall,
To an impatient child that hath new robes
And may not weare them, O here comes my Nurse: Enter Nurse with cords.
And she brings newes and every tongue that speaks
But Romeos, name, speakes heavenly eloquence:
Now Nurse, what newes? what hast thou there?
The Cords that Romeo bid thee fetch?

1750 NURSE. Aye, aye, the Cords.

JULIET. Ay me, what newes?
Why dost thou wring thy hands.

NURSE. A weladay, hee's dead, hee's dead,
We are undone Lady, we are undone.
Alacke the day, hee's gone, hee's kil'd, he's dead.

JULIET. Can heaven be so envious?

NURSE. Romeo can,
Though heaven cannot. O Romeo, Romeo.
Who ever would have thought it Romeo.

1760 JULIET. What divell art thou,
That dost torment me thus?
This torture should be roar'd in dismall hell,
Hath Romeo slaine himselfe? say thou but aye,
And that bare vowell I shall poyson more
Then the death-darting eye of Cockatrice,
I am not I, if there be such an aye.
Or those eyes shot, that makes thee answere aye:
If he be slaine say aye, or if not, no.
Briefe, sounds, determine of my weale or wo.

1770 NURSE. I saw the wound, I saw it with mine eyes,
God save the marke, here on his manly brest,
A pitteous Coarse, a bloody piteous Coarse:
Pale, pale as ashes, all bedawb'd in blood,
All in gore blood, I sounded at the sight-

JULIET. O breake my heart,
Poore Banckrout breake at once,
To prison eyes, nere looke on libertie.
Vile earth to earth resigne, end motion here,
And thou and Romeo presse on heavie beere.

1780 NURSE. O Tybalt, Tybalt, the best Friend I had:
O curteous Tybalt honest Gentleman,
That ever I should live to see thee dead.

JULIET. What storme is this that blowes so contrarie?
Is Romeo slaughtred? and is Tybalt dead?
My dearest Cozen, and my dearer Lord:
Then dreadfull Trumpet sound the generall doome,
For who is living, if those two are gone?

NURSE. Tybalt is gone, and Romeo banished,
Romeo that kil'd him, he is banished.

1790 JULIET. O God!
Did *Rom'*os hand shed Tybalts blood
It did, it did, alas the day, it did.

NURSE. O Serpent heart, hid with a flowring face.

JULIET. Did ever Dragon keepe so faire a Cave?
Beautifull Tyrant, fiend Angelicall:
Ravenous Dove-feather'd Raven,
Wolvish-ravening Lambe,
Dispised substance of Divinest show:
Just opposite to what thou justly seem'st,

1800 A dimne Saint, an Honourable Villaine:
O Nature! what had'st thou to doe in hell,
When thou did'st bower the spirit of a fiend
In mortall paradise of such sweet flesh?
Was ever booke containing such vile matter
So fairely bound? O that deceit should dwell
In such a gorgeous Pallace.

NURSE. There's no trust, no faith, no honestie in men,
All perjur'd, all forsworne, all naught, all dissemblers,
Ah where's my man? give me some Aqua-vitae?

1810 These griefes, these woes, these sorrowes make me old:
Shame come to Romeo.

JULIET. Blister'd be thy tongue
For such a wish, he was not borne to shame:
Upon his brow shame is asham'd to sit;
For 'tis a throane where Honour may be Crown'd
Sole Monarch of the universall earth:
O what a beast was I to chide him?

NURSE. Will you speake well of him,
That kil'd your Cozen?

1820 JULIET. Shall I speake ill of him that is my husband?
Ah poore my Lord, what tongue shall smooth thy name,

When I thy three houres wife have mangled it.
But wherefore Villaine did'st thou kill my Cozin?
That Villaine Cozin would have kil'd my husband:
Backe foolish teares, backe to your native spring,
Your tributarie drops belong to woe,
Which you mistaking offer up to joy:
My husband lives that Tibalt would have slaine,
And Tibalt dead that would have slaine my husband:

1830 All this is comfort, wherefore weepe I then?
Some words there was worser then Tybalts death
That murdered me, I would forget it feine,
But oh, it presses to my memory,
Like damned guilty deedes to sinners minds,
Tybalt is dead and Romeo banished:
That banished, that one word banished,
Hath slaine ten thousand Tibalts: Tibalts death
Was woe inough if it had ended there:
Or if sower woe delights in fellowship,
1840 And needly will be rankt with other griefes,
Why followed not when she said Tibalts dead,
Thy Father or thy Mother, nay or both,
Which moderne lamentation might have mov'd.
But which a rere-wardⁱ following Tybalts death
Romeo is banished to speake that word,
Is Father, Mother, Tybalt, Romeo, Juliet,
All slaine, all dead: Romeo is banished,
There is no end, no limit, measure, bound,
In that words death, no words can that woe sound.

1850 Where is my Father and my Mother Nurse?

NURSE. Weeping and wailing over Tybalts Coarse,
Will you go to them? I will bring you thither.

JULIET. Wash they his wounds with tears: mine shal be spent
When theirs are drie for Romeo's banishment.
Take up those Cordes, poore ropes you are beguil'd,
Both you and I for Romeo is exild:
He made you for a high-way to my bed,
But I a Maid, die Maiden widowed.

Come Cord, come Nurse, Ile to my wedding bed,
1860 And death not Romeo, take my Maiden head.

NURSE. Hie to your Chamber, Ile find Romeo
To comfort you, I wot well where he is:
Harke ye your Romeo will be heere at night,
Ile to him, he is hid at Lawrence Cell.

JULIET. O find him, give this Ring to my true Knight,
And bid him come, to take his last farewell. Exit.

Act 3, Scene 3: Friar Laurence's cell. Friar, Romeo, Nurse
Enter Frier and Romeo.

1870 FRIAR. Romeo come forth,
 Come forth thou fearfull man,
 Affliction is enamor'd of thy parts:
 And thou art wedded to calamitie.

ROMEO. Father what newes?
 What is the Princes Doome?
 What sorrow craves acquaintance at my hand,
 That I yet know not?

FRIAR. Too familiar
 Is my deare Sonne with such sowre Company:

1880 I bring thee tydings of the Princes Doome.

ROMEO. What lesse then Doomesday,
 Is the Princes Doome?

FRIAR. A gentler judgement vanisht from his lips,
 Not bodies death, but bodies banishment.

ROMEO. Ha, banishment? be mercifull, say death:
 For exile hath more terror in his looke,
 Much more then death: do not say banishment.

FRIAR. Here from Verona art thou banished:
 Be patient, for the world is broad and wide.

1890 ROMEO. There is no world without Verona walles,
 But Purgatorie, Torture, hell it selfe:
 Hence banished, is banisht from the world,
 And worlds exile is death. Then banished,
 Is death, mistearm'd, calling death banished,
 Thou cut'st my head off with a golden Axe,
 And smilest upon the stroke that murders me.

FRIAR. O deadly sin, O rude unthankfulness!
 Thy falt our Law calles death, but the kind Prince
 Taking thy part, hath rusht aside the Law,

1900 And turn'd that blacke word death, to banishment.
 This is deare mercy, and thou seest it not.

ROMEO. 'Tis Torture and not mercy, heaven is here
 Where Juliet lives, and every Cat and Dog,
 And little Mouse, every unworthy thing
 Live here in Heaven and may looke on her,
 But Romeo may not. More Validitie,
 More Honourable state, more Courtship lives
 In carrion Flies, then Romeo: they may seaze
 On the white wonder of deare Juliet's hand,

1910 And steale immortall blessing from her lips,
 Who even in pure and vestall modestie
 Still blush, as thinking their owne kisses sin.
 This may Flies doe, when I from this must flie,
 And saist thou yet, that exile is not death?
 But Romeo may not, hee is banished.
 Had'st thou no poyson mixt, no sharpe ground knife,

No sudden meane of death, though nere so meane,
But banished to kill me? Banished?
O Frier, the damned use that word in hell:
1920 Howlings attends it, how hast thou the hart
Being a Divine, a Ghostly Confessor,
A Sin-Absolver, and my Friend profest:
To mangle me with that word, banished?

FRIAR. Then fond Mad man, heare me speake.

ROMEO. O thou wilt speake againe of banishment.

FRIAR. Ile give thee Armour to keepe off that word,
Adversities sweete milke, Philosophie,
To comfort thee, though thou art banished.

ROMEO. Yet banished? hang up Philosophie:
1930 Unlesse Philosohpie can make a Juliet,
Displant a Towne, reverse a Princes Doome,
It helpes not, it prevailes not, talke no more.

FRIAR. O then I see, that Mad men have no eares.

ROMEO. How should they,
When wisemen have no eyes?

FRIAR. Let me dispaire with thee of thy estate,

ROMEO. Thou can'st not speake of that yu dost not feele,
Wert thou as young as Juliet my Love:
An houre but married, Tybalt murdered,
1940 Doting like me, and like me banished,
Then mightest thou speake,
Then mightest thou teare thy hayre,
And fall upon the ground as I doe now,
Taking the measure of an unmade grave.

Enter Nurse, and knockes.

FRIAR. Arise one knockes,
Good Romeo hide thy selfe.

ROMEO. Not I,
Unlesse the breath of Hartsicke groanes
1950 Mist-like infold me from the search of eyes.

Knocke

FRIAR. Harke how they knocke:
(Who's there) Romeo arise,
Thou wilt be taken, stay a while, stand up: Knocke.
Run to my study: by and by, Gods will
What simplenesse is this: I come, I come. Knocke.
Who knocks so hard?
Whence come you? what's your will?

Enter Nurse.

1960 NURSE. Let me come in,
 And you shall know my errand:
 I come from Lady Juliet.

FRIAR. Welcome then.

NURSE. O holy Frier, O tell me holy Frier, Where's my Ladies Lord? where's Romeo?

FRIAR. There on the ground,
 With his owne teares made drunke.

NURSE. O he is even in my Mistresse case,
 Just in her case. O wofull simpathy:

1970 Pittious predicament, even so lies she,
 Blubbring and weeping, weeping and blubbring,
 Stand up, stand up, stand and you be a man,
 For Juliets sake, for her sake rise and stand:
 Why should you fall into so deepe an O.

ROMEO. Nurse.

NURSE. Ah sir, ah sir, deaths the end of all.

ROMEO. Speak'st thou of Juliet? how is it with her?
 Doth not she thinke me an old Murtherer,
 Now I have stain'd the Childhood of our joy,

1980 With blood removed, but little from her owne?
 Where is she? and how doth she? and what sayes
 My conceal'd Lady to our conceal'd Love?

NURSE. Oh she sayes nothing sir, but weeps and weeps,
 And now fals on her bed, and then starts up,
 And Tybalt calls, and then on Romeo cries,
 And then downe falls againe.

ROMEO. As if that name shot from the dead levell of a Gun,
 Did murder her, as that names cursed hand
 Murdred her kinsman. Oh tell me Frier, tell me,

1990 In what vile part of this Anatomie
 Doth my name lodge? Tell me, that I may sacke
 The hatefull Mansion.

FRIAR. Hold thy desperate hand:
 Art thou a man? thy forme cries out thou art:
 Thy teares are womanish, thy wild acts denote
 The unreasonable Furie of a beast.
 Unseemely woman, in a seeming man,
 And ill beseeming beast in seeming both,
 Thou hast amaz'd me. By my holy order,

2000 I thought thy disposition better temper'd.
 Hast thou slaine Tybalt? wilt thou slay thy selfe?
 And slay thy Lady, that in thy life lies,
 By doing damned hate upon thy selfe?
 Why rayl'st thou on thy birth? the heaven and earth?
 Since birth, and heaven and earth, all three do meete
 In thee at once, which thou at once would'st loose.

Fie, fie, thou sham'st thy shape, thy love, thy wit,
Which like a Usurer abound'st in all:

And usest none in that true use indeed,

2010 Which should bedecke thy shape, thy love, thy wit:

Thy Noble shape, is but a forme of waxe,
Digressing from the Valour of a man,
Thy deare Love sworne but hollow perjurie,
Killing that Love which thou hast vow'd to cherish.

Thy wit, that Ornament, to shape and Love,
Mishapen in the conduct of them both:

Like powder in a skillesse Souldiers flaske,
Is set a fire by thine owne ignorance,
And thou dismembred with thine owne defence.

2020 What, rowse thee man, thy Juliet is alive,
For whose deare sake thou wast but lately dead.
There art thou happy. Tybalt would kill thee,
But thou slew'st Tybalt, there art thou happie.
The law that threatned death became thy Friend,
And turn'd it to exile, there art thou happy.

A packe or blessing light upon thy backe,
Happinesse Courts thee in her best array,
But like a mishaped and sullen wench,
Thou putttest up thy Fortune and thy Love:

2030 Take heed, take heed, for such die miserable.
Goe get thee to thy Love as was decreed,
Ascend her Chamber, hence and comfort her:
But looke thou stay not till the watch be set,
For then thou canst not passe to Mantua,
Where thou shalt live till we can finde a time
To blaze your marriage, reconcile your Friends,
Beg pardon of thy Prince, and call thee backe,
With twenty hundred thousand times more joy
Then thou went'st forth in lamentation.

2040 Goe before Nurse, commend me to thy Lady,
And bid her hasten all the house to bed,
Which heavy sorrow makes them apt unto.
Romeo is comming.

NURSE. O Lord, I could have staid here all night,
To heare good counsell: oh what learning is!
My Lord Ile tell my Lady you will come.

ROMEO. Do so, and bid my Sweete prepare to chide.

NURSE. Heere sir, a Ring she bid me give you sir:
Hie you, make hast, for it growes very late.

2050 ROMEO. How well my comfort is reviv'd by this.

FRIAR. Go hence,
Goodnight, and here stands all your state:
Either be gone before the watch be set,
Or by the breake of day disguis'd from hence,
Sojourne in Mantua, Ile find out your man,

And he shall signifie from time to time,
Every good hap to you, that chaunces heere:
Give me thy hand, 'tis late, farewell, goodnight.

ROMEO. But that a joy past joy, calls out on me, 2060 It were a griefe, so briefe to part with thee:
Farewell. Exeunt.

Act 3, Scene 4: A room in Capulet's house. Capulet, LadyCap, Paris, Enter old Capulet, his Wife and Paris.

CAPULET. Things have falne out sir so unluckily,
That we have had no time to move our Daughter:
Looke you, she Lov'd her kinsman Tybalt dearely,
And so did I. Well, we were borne to die.
'Tis very late, she'l not come downe to night:
2070 I promise you, but for your company,
I would have bin a bed an houre ago.

PARIS. These times of wo, affoord no times to wooue:
Madam goodnight, commend me to your Daughter.

LADY. CAP. [Lady] I will, and know her mind early to morrow,
To night, she is mew'd up to her heavinesse.

CAPULET. Sir Paris, I will make a desperate tender
Of my Childes love: I thinke she will be rul'd
In all respects by me: nay more, I doubt it not.
Wife, go you to her ere you go to bed,
2080 Acquaint her here, of my Sonne Paris Love,
And bid her, marke you me, on Wendsday next,
But soft, what day is this?

PARIS. Monday my Lord.

CAPULET. Monday, ha ha: well Wendsday is too soone,
A Thursday let it be: a Thursday tell her,
She shall be married to this Noble Earle:
Will you be ready? do you like this hast?
Weele keepe no great adoe, a Friend or two,
For harke you, Tybalt being slaine so late,
2090 It may be thought we held him careslesly,
Being our kinsman, if we revell much:
Therefore wee have some halfe a dozen Friends,
And there an end. But what say you to Thursday?

PARIS. My Lord,
I would that Thursday were to morrow.

CAPULET. Well, get you gone, a Thursday, be it then:
Go you to Juliet ere you go to bed,
Prepare her wife, against this wedding day.
Farewell my Lord, light to my Chamber hoa,
2100 Afore me, it is so late, that we may call ir early by and by, Goodnight. Exeunt.

Act 3, Scene 4: A room in Capulet's house. Romeo, Juliet, Nurse, LadyCap, Capulet

Enter Romeo and Juliet aloft.

JULIET. Wilt thou be gone? It is not yet neere day:

It was the Nightingale, and not the Larke,
That pier'st the fearefull hollow of thine eare,
Nightly she sings on yond Pomgranet tree,
Beleeve me Love, it was the Nightingale.

2110 ROMEO. It was the Larke the Herauld of the Morne:
No Nightingale: looke Love what envious streakes
Do lace the severing Cloudes in yonder East:
Nights Candles are burnt out, and Jocond day
Stands tipto on the mistie Mountaines tops,
I must be gone and live, or stay and die.

JULIET. Yond light is not daylight, I know it aye:
It is some Meteor that the Sun exhales,
To be to thee this night a Torch-bearer,
And light thee on thy way to Mantua.

2120 Therefore stay yet, thou need'st not to be gone.

ROMEO. Let me be tane, let me be put to death,
I am content, so thou wilt have it so.
Ile say yon gray is not the mornings eye,
'Tis but the pale reflexe of Cinthias brow.
Nor that is not Larke whose noates do beate
The vaulty heaven so high above our heads,
I have more care to stay, then will to go:
Come death and welcome, Juliet wills it so.
How ist my soule, lets talke, it is not day.

2130 JULIET. It is, it is, hie hence be gone away:
It is the Larke that sings so out of tune,
Straining harsh Discords, and unpleasing Sharpes.
Some say the Larke makes sweete Division;
This doth not so: for she divideth us.
Some say, the Larke and loathed Toad change eyes,
O now I would they had chang'd voyces too:
Since arme from arme that voyce doth us affray,
Hunting thee hence, with Hunts-up to the day,
O now be gone, more light and itlight growes.

2140 ROMEO. More light & light, more darke & darke our woes.

Enter ~~Madam~~ and Nurse.

NURSE. Madam.

JULIET. Nurse.

NURSE. Your Lady Mother is comming to your chamber,
The day is broke, be wary, looke about.

JULIET. Then window let day in, and let life out.

ROMEO. Farewell, farewell, one kisse and Ile descend.

JULIET. Art thou gone so? Love, Lord, ay Husband, Friend,
I must heare from thee every day in the houre,
2150 For in a minute there are many dayes,
O by this count I shall be much in yeares,
Ere I againe behold my Romeo.

ROMEO. Farewell:
I will omit no oportunitie,
That may convey my greetings Love, to thee.

JULIET. O thinkest thou we shall ever meet againe?

ROMEO. I doubt it not, and all these woes shall serue
For sweet discourses in our time to come.

JULIET. O God! I have an ill Divining soule,
2160 Me thinkes I see thee now, thou art so lowe,
As one dead in the bottome of a Tombe,
Either my eye-sight failes, or thou look'st pale.

ROMEO. And trust me Love, in my eye so do you:
Drie sorrow drinkes our blood. Adue, adue. Exit.

JULIET. O Fortune, Fortune, all men call thee fickle,
If thou art fickle, what dost thou with him
That is renown'd for faith? be fickle Fortune:
For then I hope thou wilt not keepe him long,
But send him backe.

2170 Enter Mother.

LADY. CAP. [Lad.] Ho Daughter, are you up?

JULIET. Who ist that calls? Is it my Lady Mother.
Is she not downe so late, or up so early?
What unaccustom'd cause procures her hither?

LADY. CAP. [Lad.] Why how now Juliet?

JULIET. Madam I am not well.

LADY. CAP. [Lad.] Evermore weeping for your Cozins death?
What wilt thou wash him from his grave with teares?
And if thou could'st, thou could'st not make him live:
2180 Therefore have done, some grieve shewes much of Love,
But much of grieve, shewes still some want of wit.

JULIET. Yet let me weepe, for such a feeling losse.

LADY. CAP. [Lad.] So shall you feele the losse, but not the Friend
Which you weepe for.

JULIET. Feeling so the losse,
I cannot chuse but ever weepe the Friend.

LADY. CAP. [Lad.] Well Girle, thou weep'st not so much for his death,
As that the Villaine lives which slaughter'd him.

JULIET. What Villaine, Madam?

2190 LADY. CAP. [Lad.] That same Villaine Romeo.

JULIET. Villaine and he, be many Miles assunder:
God pardon, I doe with all my heart:
And yet no man like he, doth grieve my heart.

LADY. CAP. [Lad.] That is because the Traitor lives.

JULIET. Aye Madam from the reach of these my hands:
Would none but I might venge my Cozins death.

LADY. CAP. [Lad.] We will have vengeance for it, feare thou not.
Then weepe no more, Ile send to one in Mantua,
Where that same banisht Run-agate doth live,
2200 Shall give him such an unaccustom'd dram,
That he shall soone keepe Tybalt company:
And then I hope thou wilt be satisfied.

JULIET. Indeed I never shall be satisfied
With Romeo, till I behold him. Dead
Is my poore heart so for a kinsman vext:
Madam if you could find out but a man
To beare a poyson, I would temper it;
That Romeo should upon receipt thereof,
Soone sleepe in quiet. O how my heart abhors
2210 To heare him nam'd, and cannot come to him,
To wreake the Love I bore my Cozin,
Upon his body that hath slaughter'd him.

LADY. CAP. [Mo.] Find thou the meanes, and Ile find such a man.
But now Ile tell thee joyfull tidings Gyrle.

JULIET. And joy comes well, in such a needy time,
What are they, beseech your Ladyship?

LADY. CAP. [Mo.] Well, well, thou hast a carefull Father Child?
One who to put thee from thy heavinesse,
Hath sorted out a sudden day of joy,
2220 That thou expects not, nor I lookt not for.

JULIET. Madam in happy time, what day is this?

LADY. CAP. [Mo.] Marry my Child, early next Thursday morne,
The gallant, young, and Noble Gentleman,
The Countie Paris at Saint Peters Church,
Shall happily make thee a joyfull Bride.

JULIET. Now by Saint Peters Church, and Peter too,
He shall not make me there a joyfull Bride.
I wonder at this hast, that I must wed
Ere he that should be Husband comes to woe:
2230 I pray you tell my Lord and Father Madam,
I will not marrie yet, and when I doe, I sweare
It shall be Romeo, whom you know I hate
Rather then Paris. These are newes indeed.

LADY. CAP. [Mo.] Here comes your Father, tell him so your selfe,
And see how he will take it at your hands.

Enter Capulet and Nurse.

CAPULET. When the Sun sets, the earth doth drizzle daew
But for the Sunset of my Brothers Sonne,
It raines downright.

2240 How now? A Conduit Gyrle, what still in teares?
Evermore showring in one little body?
Thou counterfaits a Barke, a Sea, a Wind:
For still thy eyes, which I may call the Sea,
Do ebbe and flow with teares, the Barke thy body is Sayling in this salt flood, the windes thy sighes,
Who raging with the teares and they with them,
Without a sudden calme will over set
Thy tempest tossed body. How now wife?
Have you delivered to her our decree?

2250 LADY. CAP. [Lady] Aye sir;
But she will none, she gives you thankses,
I would the foole were married to her grave.

CAPULET. Soft, take me with you, take me with you wife,
How, will she none? doth she not give us thanks?
Is she not proud? doth she not count her blest,
Unworthy as she is, that we have wrought
So worthy a Gentleman, to be her Bridegroom

JULIET. Not proud you have,
But thankfull that you have:
2260 Proud can I never be of what I have,
But thankfull even for hate, that is meant Love.

CAPULET. How now?
How now? Chopt Logicke? what is this?
Proud, and I thanke you: and I thanke you not.
Thanke me no thankings, nor proud me no pouds,
But fettle your fine joints 'gainst Thursday next,
To go with Paris to Saint Peters Church:
Or I will drag thee, on a Hurdle thither.
Out you greene sicknesse carrion, out you baggage,
2270 You tallow face.

LADY. CAP. [Lady] Fie, fie, what are you mad?

JULIET. Good Father, I beseech you on my knees
Heare me with patience, but to speake a word.

CAPULET. [Fa] Hang thee young baggage, disobedient wretch,
I tell thee what, get thee to Church a Thursday,
Or never after looke me in the face.
Speake not, reply not, do not answere me.
My fingers itch, wife: we scarce thought us blest,
That God had lent us but this onely Child,
2280 But now I see this one is one too much,
And that we have a curse in having her:
Out on her Hilding.

NURSE. God in heaven blesse her,
You are too blame my Lord to rate her so.

CAPULET. [Fa] And why my Lady wisdom? hold your tongue,
Good Prudence, smatter with your gossip, go.

NURSE. I speake no treason,
Father, O Godigoden,
May not one speake?

2290 CAPULET. [Fa] Peace you mumbling foole,
Utter your gravitie ore a Gossips bowles
For here we need it not.

LADY. CAP. [La.] You are too hot.

CAPULET. [Fa] Gods bread, it makes me mad:
Day, night, houre, ride, time, worke, play,
Alone in companie, still my care hath bin
To have her matcht, and having now provided
A Gentleman of Noble Parentage,
Of faire Demeanes, Youthfull, and Nobly Allied,
2300 Stuft as they say with Honourable parts,
Proportion'd as ones thought would wish a man,
And then to have a wretched puling foole,
A whining mammet, in her Fortunes tender,
To answer, Ile not wed, I cannot Love:
I am too young, I pray you pardon me.
But, and you will not wed, Ile pardon you.
Graze where you will, you shall not house with me:
Looke too't, thinke on't, I do not use to jest.
Thursday is neere, lay hand on heart, advise,
2310 And you be mine, Ile give you to my Friend:
And you be not, hang, beg, strave, die in the streets,
For by my soule, Ile nere acknowledge thee,
Nor what is mine shall never do thee good:
Trust too't, bethinke you, Ile not be forsworne Exit.

JULIET. Is there no pittie sitting in the Cloudes,
That sees into the bottome of my grieve?
O sweet my Mother cast me not away,
Delay this marriage, for a month, a weeke,
Or if you do not, make the Bridall bed
2320 In that dim Monument where Tybalt lies.

LADY.CAP [Mo.] Talke not to me, for Ile not speake a word,
Do as thou wilt, for I have done with thee. Exit.

JULIET. O God!
O Nurse, how shall this be prevented?
My Husband is on earth, my faith in heaven,
How shall that faith returne againe to earth,
Unlesse that Husband send it me from heaven,
By leaving earth? Comfort me, counsaile me:
Alacke, alacke, that heaven should practise stratagems
2330 Upon so soft a subject as my selfe.
What saist thou? hast thou not a word of joy?
Some comfort Nurse.

NURSE. Faith here it is,
Romeo is banished, and all the world to nothing,
That he dares nere come backe to challenge you:
Or if he do, it needs must be by stealth.
Then since the case so stands as now it doth,
I thinke it best you married with the Countie,
O hee's a Lovely Gentleman:

2340 Romeos a dish-clout to him: an Eagle Madam
Hath not so greene, so quicke, so faire an eye
As Paris hath, beshrow my very heart,
I thinke you are happy in this second match,
For it excels your first: or if it did not,
Your first is dead, or 'twere as good he were,
As living here and you no use of him.

JULIET. Speakest thou from thy heart?

NURSE. And from my soule too,
Or else beshrew them both.

2350 JULIET. Amen.

NURSE. What?

JULIET. Well, thou hast comforted me marve'lous much,
Go in, and tell my Lady I am gone,
Having displeas'd my Father, to Lawrence Cell,
To make confession, and to be absolv'd.

NURSE. Marrie I will, and this is wisely done.

JULIET. Auncient damnation, O most wicked fiend!
It is more sin to wish me thus forsworne,
Or to dispraise my Lord with that same tongue
2360 Which she hath prais'd him with above compare,
So many thousand times? Go Counsellor,
Thou and my bosome henchforth shall be twaine:
Ile to the Frier to know his remedie,
If all else faile, my selfe have power to die. Exeunt.

Act 4, Scene 1: Friar Laurence's cell. Friar, Paris, Juliet
Enter Frier and Countie Paris.

FRIAR. On Thursday sir? the time is very short.

2370 PARIS. My Father Capulet will have it so,
And I am nothing slow to slack his hast.

FRIAR. You say you do not know the Ladies mind?
Uneven is the course, I like it not.

PARIS. Immoderately she weepes for Tybalts death,
And therfore have I little talke of Love,
For Venus smiles not in a house of teares.
Now sir, her Father counts it dangerous
That she doth give her sorrow so much sway:
And in his wisdom, hasts our marriage,

To stop the inundation of her teares,
2380 Which too much minded by her selfe alone,
May be put from her by societie.
Now doe you know the reason of this hast?

FRIAR. I would I knew not why it should be slow'd.
Looke sir, here comes the Lady towards my Cell.

Enter Juliet.

PARIS. Happily met, my Lady and my wife.

JULIET. That may be sir, when I may be a wife.

PARIS. That may be, must be Love, on Thursday next.

JULIET. What must be shall be.

2390 FRIAR. That's a certaine text.

PARIS. Come you to make confession to this Father?

JULIET. To answere that, I should confesse to you.

PARIS. Do not denie to him, that you Love me.

JULIET. I will confesse to you that I Love him.

PARIS. So will ye, I am sure that you Love me.

JULIET. If I do so, it will be of more price,
Being spoke behind your backe, then to your face.

PARIS. Poore soule, thy face is much abus'd with teares.

JULIET. The teares have got small victorie by that:
2400 For it was bad inough before their spight.

PARIS. Thou wrong'st it more then teares with that report.

JULIET. That is no slaunder sir, which is a truth,
And what I spake, I spake it to thy face.

PARIS. Thy face is mine, and thou hast slaundred it.

JULIET. It may be so, for it is not mine owne.
Are you at leisure, Holy Father now,
Or shall I come to you at evening Masse?

FRIAR. My leisure serves me pensive daughter now.
My Lord you must intreat the time alone.

2410 PARIS. Godsheild: I should disturbe Devotion,
Juliet, on Thursday early will I rowse yee,
Till then adue, and keepe this holy kisse. Exit Paris.

JULIET. O shut the doore, and when thou hast done so,
Come weepe with me, past hope, past care, past helpe.

FRIAR. O Juliet, I alreadie know thy griefe,
It streames me past the compasse of my wits:
I heare thou must and nothing may prorogue it,
On Thursday next be married to this Countie.

JULIET. Tell me not Friar that thou hearest of this,

2420 Unlesse thou tell me how I may prevent it:
If in thy wisdom, thou canst give no helpe,
Do thou but call my resolution wise,
And with his knife, Ile helpe it presently.
God joynd my heart, and Romeos, thou our hands,
And ere this hand by thee to Romeo seal'd:
Shall be the Labell to another Deede,
Or my true heart with trecherous revolt,
Turne to another, this shall slay them both:
Therefore out of thy long expetien'st time,
2430 Give me some present counsell, or behold
Twixt my extreames and me, this bloody knife
Shall play the umpeere, arbitrating that,
Which the commission of thy yeares and art,
Could to no issue of true honour bring:
Be not so long to speak, I long to die,
If what thou speak'st, speake not of remedy.

FRIAR. Hold Daughter, I doe spie a kind of hope,
Which craves as desperate an execution,
As that is desperate which we would prevent.

2440 If rather then to marrie Countie Paris
Thou hast the strength of will to stay thy selfe,
Then is it likely thou wilt undertake
A thinglike death to chide away this shame,
That coap'st with death himselfe, to scape fro it:
And if thou dar'st, Ile give thee remedie.

JULIET. Oh bid me leape, rather then marrie Paris,
From of the Battlements of any Tower,
Or walke in theevish waies, or bid me lurke
Where Serpents are: chaine me with roaring Beares
2450 Or hide me nightly in a Charnell house,
O recovered quite with dead mens ratling bones,
With reekie shankes and yellow chappels skulls:
Or bid me go into a new made grave,
And hide me with a dead man in his grave,
Things that to heare them told, have made me tremble,
And I will doe it without feare or doubt,
To live an unstained wife to my sweet Love.

FRIAR. Hold then: goe home, be merrie, give consent,
To marrie Paris: wensday is to morrow,

2460 To morrow night looke that thou lie alone,
Let not thy Nurse lie with thee in thy Chamber:
Take thou this Violl being then in bed,
And this distilling liquor drinke thou off,
When presently through all thy veines shall run,
A cold and drowsie humour: for no pulse
Shall keepe his native progresse, but surcease:
No warmth, no breath shall testifie thou livest,
The Roses in thy lips and cheekes shall fade

To many ashes, the eyes windowes fall
2470 Like death when he shut up the day of life:
Each part depriv'd of supple government,
Shall stiffe and starke, and cold appeare like death,
And in this borrowed likenesse of shrunke death
Thou shalt continue two and forty houres,
And then awake, as from a pleasant sleepe.
Now when the Bridegroome in the morning comes,
To rowse thee from thy bed, there art thou dead:
Then as the manner of our country is,
In thy best Robes uncover'd on the Beere,
2480 Be borne to buriall in thy kindreds grave:
Thou shalt be borne to that same ancient vault,
Where all the kindred of the Capulets lie,
In the meane time against thou shalt awake,
Shall Romeo by my Letters know our drift,
And hither shall he come, and that very night
Shall Romeo beare thee hence to Mantua.
And this shall free thee from this present shame,
If no inconstant toy nor womanish feare,
Abate thy valour in the acting it.

2490 JULIET. Give me, give me, O tell not me of care.

FRIAR. Hold get you gone, be strong and prosperous:
In this resolve, Ile send a Frier with speed
To Mantua with my Letters to thy Lord. Exit

JULIET. Love give me strength,
And strength shall helpe afford:
Farewell deare father. Exit

Act 4, Scene 2: Hall in Capulet's house. Capulet, Lady.Cap, Nurse, Servingman, Juliet

2500 Enter Father Capulet, Mother, Nurse, and Serving men, two or three.

CAPULET. So many guests invite as here are writ,
Sirrah, go hire me twenty cunning Cookes.

1SERVANT. You shall have none ill sir, for Ile trie if they can licke their fingers.

CAPULET. How canst thou trie them so?

1SERVANT. Marrie sir, 'tis an ill Cooke that cannot licke his owne fingers: therefore he that cannot licke his fingers goes not with me.

2510 CAPULET. Go be gone, we shall be much unfurnisht for this time: what is my Daughter gone to Frier Lawrence?

NURSE. Aye forsooth.

CAPULET. Well he may chance to do some good on her,
A peevish selfe-wild harlotry it is.

Enter Juliet.

NURSE. See where she comes from shrift
With merrie looke.

CAPULET. How now my headstrong,
Where have you bin gadding?

2520 JULIET. Where I have learnt me to repent the sin
Of disobedient opposition:
To you and your behests, and am enjoyn'd
By holy Lawrence, to fall prostrate here,
To beg your pardon: pardon I beseech you,
Henceforward I am ever rul'd by you.

CAPULET. Send for the Countie, goe tell him of this,
Ile have this knot knit up to morrow morning.

JULIET. I met the youthfull Lord at Lawrence Cell,
And gave him what becomed Love I might,
2530 Not stepping ore the bounds of modestie.

CAPULET. Why I am glad on't, this is well, stand up,
This is as't should be, let me see the County:
Aye marrie go I say, and fetch him hither.
Now afore God, this reveren'd holy Frier,
All our whole Cittie is much bound to him.

JULIET. Nurse will you goe with me into my Closet,
To helpe me sort such needfull ornaments,
As you thinke fit to furnish me to morrow?

LADY.CAP [Mo.] No not till Thursday, there's time inough.

2540 CAPULET. [Fa.] Go Nurse, go with her,
Weele to Church to morrow.

Exeunt Juliet and Nurse.

LADY.CAP [Mo.] We shall be short in our provision,
'Tis now neere night.

CAPULET. [Fa] Tush, I will stirre about,
And all things shall be well, I warrant thee wife:
Go thou to Juliet, helpe to deckeup her,
Ile not to bed to night, let me alone:
Ile play the huswife for this once. What ho?
2550 They are all forth, well I will walke my selfe
To Countie Paris, to prepare him up
Against to morrow, my heart is wondrous light,
Since this same way-ward Gyrle is so reclaim'd.

Exeunt Father and Mother.

Act 4, Scene 3: Juliet's chamber. Juliet, Nurse,

Enter Juliet and Nurse.

JULIET. Aye those attires are best, but gentle Nurse
I pray thee leave me to my selfe to night:
For I have need of many Orysons,

2560 To move the heavens to smile upon my state,
Which well thou know'st, is crosse and full of sin.

Enter Mother.

LADY.CAP [Mo.] What are you busie ho? need you my help?

JULIET. No Madam, we have cul'd such necessities
As are behoovefull for our state to morrow:
So please you, let me now be left alone;
And let the Nurse this night sit up with you,
For I am sure, you have your hands full all,
In this so sudden businesse.

2570 LADY.CAP [Mo.] Goodnight.
Get thee to bed and rest, for thou hast need. Exeunt. [NURSE, LADY.CAP]

JULIET. Farewell:
God knowes when we shall meete againe.
I have a faint cold feare thrills through my veines,
That almost freezes up the heate of fire:
Ile call them backe againe to comfort me.
Nurse, what should she do here?
My dismall Sceane, I needs must act alone:
Come Viall, what if this mixture do not worke at all?

2580 Shall I be married then to morrow morning?
No, no, this shall forbid it. Lie thou there,
What if it be a poyson which the Frier
Subtilly hath ministred to have me dead,
Least in this marriage he should be dishonour'd,
Because he married me before to Romeo?
I feare it is, and yet me thinkes it should not,
For he hath still beene tried a holy man.
How, if when I am laid into the Tombe,
I wake before the time that Romeo

2590 Come to redeeme me? There's a fearefull point:
Shall I not then be stifled in the Vault?
To whose foule mouth no healthsome ayre breaths in,
And there die strangled ere my Romeo comes.
Or if I live, is it not very like,
The horrible conceit of death and night,
Together with the terror of the place,
As in a Vaulte, an ancient receptacle,
Where for these many hundred yeeres the bones
Of all my buried Auncestors are packt,

2600 Where bloody Tybalt, yet but greene in earth,
Lies festring in his shrow'd, where as they say,
At some houres in the night, Spirits resort:
Alacke, alacke, is it not like that I
So early waking, what with loathsome smels,
And shrikes like Mandrakes torne out of the earth,
That living mortalls hearing them, run mad.
O if I walke, shall I not be distraught,
Invironed with all these hidious feares,

And madly play with my forefathers joynts?
2610 And plucke the mangled Tybalt from his shrow'd?
And in this rage, with some great kinsmans bone,
As (with a club) dash out my desperate braines.
O looke, me thinks I see my Cozins Ghost,
Seeking out Romeo that did spit his body
Upon my Rapiers point: stay Tybalt, stay;
Romeo, Romeo, Romeo, here's drinke: I drinke to thee.

Act 4, Scene 4: Hall in Capulet's house. Lady.Cap, Nurse, Capulet
Enter Lady of the house, and Nurse.

2620 LADY.CAP [Lady.] Hold,
Take these keies, and fetch more spices Nurse.

NURSE. They call for Dates and Quinces in the Pastrie.

Enter old Capulet.

CAPULET. Come, stir, stir, stir,
The second Cocke hath Crow'd,
The Curphew Bell hath rung, 'tis three a clocke:
Looke to the bakte meates, good Angelica,
Spare not for cost.

NURSE. Go you Cot-queane, go,
2630 Get you to bed, faith youle be sicke to morrow
For this nights watching.

CAPULET. No not a whit: what? I have watcht ere now
All night for lesse cause, and nere beene sicke.

LADY.CAP [La.] Aye you have bin a Mouse-hunt in your time,
But I will watch you from such watching now.

Exit Lady and Nurse.

CAPULET. A jealous hood, a jealous hood,
Now fellow, what there?

Enter three or foure with spits, and logs, and baskets.

2640 3SERVANT (Fel.) Things for the Cooke sir, but I know not what.

CAPULET. Make hast, make hast, sirrah, fetch drier Logs.
Call Peter, he will shew thee where they are.

3SERVANT (Fel.) I have a head sir, that will find out logs,
And never trouble Peter for the matter.

CAPULET. Masse and well said, a merrie horson, ha,
Thou shalt be loggerhead; good Father, 'tis day.

Play Musicke

The Countie will be here with Musicke straight,
For so he said he would, I heare him neere,

2650 Nurse, wife, what ho? what Nurse I say? Enter Nurse.
Go waken Juliet, go and trim her up,
Ile go and chat with Paris: hie, make hast,

Make hast, the Bridegroome, he is come already:
Make hast I say.

Act 4, Scene 5: Juliet's chamber. NPC Juliet in bed, Nurse, Lady Capulet, Capulet, Friar, Paris

NURSE. Mistris, what Mistris? Juliet? Fast I warrant her she.
Why Lambe, why Lady? fie you sluggabed,
2660 Why Love I say? Madam, sweet heart: why Bride?
What not a word? You take your peniworths now.
Sleepe for a weeke, for the next night I warrant
The Countie Paris hath set up his rest,
That you shall rest but little, God forgive me:
Marrie and Amen: how sound is she a sleepe?
I must needs wake her: Madam, Madam, Madam,
Aye, let the Countie take you in your bed,
Heele fright you up yfaith. Will it not be?
What drest, and in your clothes, and downe againe?
2670 I must needs wake you: Lady, Lady, Lady?
Alas, alas, helpe, helpe, my Ladyes dead,
Oh weladay, that ever I was borne,
Some Aqua-vitae ho, my Lord, my Lady?

LADY.CAP [Mo.] What noise is heere? Enter Mother.

NURSE. O lamentable day.

LADY.CAP [Mo.] What is the matter?

NURSE. Looke, looke, oh heavie day.

LADY.CAP [Mo.] O me, O me, my Child, my onely life:
Reuive, looke up, or I will die with thee:
2680 Helpe, helpe, call helpe.

Enter Father.

CAPULET. [Fa] For shame bring Juliet forth, her Lord is come.

NURSE. Shee's dead: deceast, shee's dead: alacke the day.

LADY.CAP [M.] Alacke the day, shee's dead, shee's dead, shee's dead.

CAPULET. [Fa] Ha? Let me see her: out alas shee's cold,
Her blood is setled and her joynts are stiffe:
Life and these lips have long bene seperated:
Death lies on her like an untimely frost
Upon the swetest flower of all the field.
2690 NURSE. O Lamentable day!

LADY.CAP [Mo.] O wofull time.

CAPULET. [Fa] Death that hath tane her hence to make me waile,
Ties up my tongue, and will not let me speake.

Enter Frier and the Countie.

FRIAR. Come, is the Bride ready to go to Church?

CAPULET. [Fa] Ready to go, but never to returne.

O Sonne, the night before thy wedding day,
Hath death laine with thy wife: there she lies,
Flower as she was, deflowred by him.

2700 Death is my Sonne in law, death is my Heire,
My Daughter he hath wedded. I will die,
And leave him all life living, all is deaths.

PARIS. Have I thought long to see this mornings face,
And doth it give me such a sight as this?

LADY.CAP [Mo.] Accur'st, unhappie, wretched hatefull day,
Most miserable houre, that ere time saw
In lasting labour of his Pilgrimage.

But one, poore one, one poore and loving Child,
But one thing to rejoyce and solace in,
2710 And cruell death hath catcht it from my sight.

NURSE. O wo, O wofull, wofull, wofull day,
Most lamentable day, most wofull day,
That ever, ever, I did yet behold.
O day, O day, O day, O hatefull day,
Never was seene so blacke a day as this:
O wofull day, O wofull day.

PARIS. Beguild, divorced, wronged, spighted, slaine,
Most detestable death, by thee beguil'd,
By cruell, cruell thee, quite overthrowne:
2720 O love, O life; not life, but love in death.

CAPULET. [Fa] Despis'd, distressed, hated, martir'd, kil'd,
Uncomfortable time, why cam'st thou now
To murther, murther our solemnitie?
O Child, O Child; my soule, and not my Child,
Dead art thou, alacke my Child is dead,
And with my Child, my joyes are buried.

FRIAR. Peace ho for shame, confusions: Care lives not
In these confusions, heaven and your selfe
Had part in this faire Maid, now heaven hath all,
2730 And all the better is it for the Maid:
Your part in her, you could not keepe from death,
But heaven keepes his part in eternall life:
The most you sought was her promotion,
For 'twas your heaven, she shouldst be advan'st,
And weepe ye now, seeing she is advan'st
Above the Cloudes, as high as Heaven it selfe?
O in this love, you love your Child so ill,
That you run mad, seeing that she is well:
Shee's not well married, that lives married long,
2740 But shee's best married, that dies married yong.
Drie up your teares, and sticke your Rosemarie
On this faire Coarse, and as the custome is,
And in her best array beare her to Church:

For though some Nature bids all us lament,
Yet Natures teares are Reasons merriment.

CAPULET. [Fa] All things that we ordained Festivall,
Turne from their office to blacke Funerall:
Our instruments to melancholy Bells,
Our wedding cheare, to a sad buriall Feast:
2750 Our solemne Hymnes, to sullen Dyrge change:
Our Bridall flowers serve for a buried Coarse:
And all things change them to the contrarie.

FRIAR. Sir go you in; and Madam, go with him,
And go sir Paris, every one prepare
To follow this faire Coarse unto her grave:
The heavens do lowre upon you, for some ill:
Move them no more, by crossing their high will. Exeunt

Act 4, Scene 6: Hall in Capulet's house. Musicians, Nurse, Peter [Enter Musicians]

2760 1MUSICIAN. Faith we may put up our Pipes and be gone.

NURSE. Honest goodfellowes: Ah put up, put up,
For well you know, this is a pitifull case.

1MUSICIAN. Aye by my troth, the case may be amended.

Enter Peter.

PETER. Musitions, oh Musitions,
Hearts ease, hearts ease,
O, and you will have me live, play hearts ease.

1MUSICIAN. Why hearts ease;

PETER. O Musitions,
2770 Because my heart it selfe plaies, my heart is full.

1MUSICIAN. Not a dump we, 'tis no time to play now.

PETER. You will not then?

1MUSICIAN. No.

PETER. I will then give it you soundly.

1MUSICIAN. What will you give us?

PETER. No money on my faith, but the gleeke.
I will give you the Minstrell.

1MUSICIAN. Then will I give you the Serving creature.

PETER. Then will I lay the serving Creatures Dagger 2780 on your pate. I will carie no Crochets, Ile Re you, Ile Fa you, do you note me?

1MUSICIAN. And you Re us, and Fa us, you Note us.

2MUSICIAN. Pray you put up your Dagger,
And put out your wit.
Then have at you with my wit.

PETER. I will drie-beate you with an yron wit,
And put up my yron Dagger.
Answer me like men:
When griping griefes the heart doth wound, then Musicke 2790 with her silver sound.
Why silver sound? why Musicke with her silver sound?
what say you Simon Catling?

1MUSICIAN. Mary sir, because silver hath a sweet sound.

PETER. Pratest, what say you Hugh Rebicke?

2MUSICIAN. I say silver sound, because Musitions sound for silver

PETER. Pratest to, what say you James Sound-Post?

3MUSICIAN. Faith I know not what to say.

PETER. O I cry you mercy, you are the Singer.
I will say for you; it is Musicke with her silver sound,
2800 Because Musitions have no gold for sounding:
Then Musicke with her silver sound, with speedy helpe doth lend redresse. Exit.

1MUSICIAN. What a pestilent knave is this same?

2MUSICIAN. Hang him Jacke, come weele in here, tarrie for the Mourners, and stay dinner. Exit.

Act 5, Scene 1: Mantua. A street. Romeo, Man

Enter Romeo.

ROMEO. If I may trust the flattering truth of sleepe, 2810 My dreames presage some joyfull newes at hand:
My bosomes Lord sits lightly in his throne:
And all thisan day an uccustom'd spirit,
Lifts me above the ground with cheerefull thoughts.
I dreamt my Lady came and found me dead,
(Strange dreame that gives a dead man leave to thinke,)
And breath'd such life with kisses in my lips,
That I reviv'd and was an Emperour.
Ah me, how sweet is love it selfe possest,
When but loves shadowes are so rich in joy. Enter Romeo's man.

2820 Newes from Verona, how now Balthazer?
Dost thou not bring me Letters from the Frier?
How doth my Lady? Is my Father well?
How doth my Lady Juliet? that I aske againe,
For nothing can be ill, if she be well.

MAN. Then she is well, and nothing can be ill.
Her body sleepes in Capels Monument,
And her immortall part with Angels live,
I saw her laid low in her kindreds Vault,
And presently tooke Poste to tell it you:
2830 O pardon me for bringing these ill newes,
Since you did leave it for my office Sir.

ROMEO. Is it even so?

Then I denie you Starres.

Thou knowest my lodging, get me inke and paper,
And hire Post-Horses, I will hence to night.

MAN. I do beseech you sir, have patience:
Your lookes are pale and wild, and do import
Some misadventure.

ROMEO. Tush, thou art deceiv'd,
2840 Leave me, and do the thing I bid thee do.
Hast thou no Letters to me from the Frier?

MAN. No my good Lord. Exit Man.

ROMEO. No matter: Get thee gone,
And hyre those Horses, Ile be with thee straight.
Well Juliet, I will lie with thee to night:
Lets see for meanes: O mischiefe thou art swift,
To enter in the thoughts of desperate men:
I do remember an Appothecarie,
And here abouts dwells, which late I noted
2850 In tattred weeds, with overwhelming browes,
Culling of Simples, meager were his lookes,
Sharpe miserie had worne him to the bones:
And in his needie shop a Tortoyrs hung,
An Allegater stuft, and other skins
Of ill shap'd fishes, and about his shelves,
A beggerly account of emptie boxes,
Greene earthen pots, Bladders, and mustie seedes,
Remnants of packthred, and old cakes of Roses
Were thinly scattered, to make up a shew.
2860 Noting this penury, to my selfe I said,
An if a man did need a poyson now,
Whose sale is persent death in Mantua,
Here lives a Caitiffe wretch would sell it him.
O this same thought did but fore-run my need,
And this same needie man must sell it me.
As I remember, this should be the house,
Being holy day, the beggers shop is shut.
What ho? Appothecarie? Enter Appothecarie.

APP. Who call's so low'd?

2870 ROMEO. Come hither man, I see that thou art poore, Hold, there is fortie Duckets, let me have
A dram of poyson, such soone speeding geare,
As will disperse it selfe through all the veines,
That the life-wearie-taker may fall dead,
And that the Trunke may be discharg'd of breath,
As violently, as hastie powder fier'd
Doth hurry from the fatall Canons wombe.

APP. Such mortall drugs I have, but Mantuas law
Is death to any he, that vtters them.

2880 ROMEO. Art thou so bare and full of wretchednesse,
And fear'st to die? Famine is in thy cheekes,
Need and oppression starveth in thy eyes,
Contempt and beggery hangs upon thy backe:
The world is not thy friend, nor the worlds law:
The world affords no law to make thee rich.
Then be not poore, but breake it, and take this.

APP. My poverty, but not my will consents.

ROMEO. I pray thy poverty, and not thy will.

APP. Put this in any liquid thing you will 2890 And drinke it off, and if you had the strength
Of twenty men, it would dispatch you straight.

ROMEO. There's thy Gold,
Worse poyson to mens soules,
Doing more murther in this loathsome world,
Then these poore compounds that thou maiest not sell.
I sell thee poyson, thou hast sold me none,
Farewell, buy food, and get thy selfe in flesh.
Come Cordiall, and not poyson, go with me
To Juliets grave, for there must I use thee. Exeunt.

2900

Act 5, Scene 2: Friar Laurence's cell. Friar, Friar John Enter Frier John to Frier Lawrence.

FRIAR JOHN. Holy Franciscan Frier, Brother, ho? Enter Frier Lawrence.

FRIAR. [Law.] This same should be the voice of Frier John.
Welcome from Mantua, what sayes Romeo?
Or if his mind be writ, give me his Letter.

FRIAR JOHN. Going to find a bare-foote Brother out,
One of our order to associate me,
Here in this Citie visiting the sick,
2910 And finding him, the Searchers of the Towne
Suspecting that we both were in a house
Where the infectious pestilence did raigne,
Seal'd up the doores, and would not let us forth,
So that my speed to Mantua there was staid.

FRIAR. [Law.] Who bare my Letter then to Romeo?

FRIAR JOHN. I could not send it, here it is againe,
Nor get a messenger to bring it thee,
So fearefull were they of infection.

FRIAR. [Law.] Unhappie Fortune: by my Brotherhood
2920 The Letter was not nice, but full of charge,
Of deare import, and the neglecting it
May do much danger: Frier John go hence,
Get me an Iron Crow, and bring it straight
Unto my Cell.

FRIAR JOHN. Brother Ile go and bring it thee. Exit.

FRIAR. [Law.] Now must I to the Monument alone,
Within this three houres will faire Juliet wake,
Shee will beshrew me much that Romeo
Hath had no notice of these accidents:

2930 But I will write againe to Mantua,
And keepe her at my Cell till Romeo come,
Poore living Coarse, clos'd in a dead mans Tombe, Exit.

Act 5, Scene 3: A churchyard; in it a tomb belonging to the Capulets. Paris, Page, Romeo, Man, Peter, Boy, Friar, Juliet, Watches, Prince, Capulet, Lady Capulet, Mountague

Enter Paris and his Page.

PARIS. Give me thy Torch Boy, hence and stand aloft,
Yet put it out, for I would not be seene:

2940 Under yond young Trees lay thee all along,
Holding thy eare close to the hollow ground,
So shall no foot upon the Churchyard tread,
Being loose, unfirme with digging up of Graves,
But thou shalt heare it: whistle then to me,
As signall that thou hearest some thing approach,
Give me those flowers. Do as I bid thee, go.

PAGE. I am almost afraid to stand alone
Here in the Churchyard, yet I will adventure.

PARIS. Sweet Flower with flowers thy Bridall bed I strew:

2950 O woe, thy Canopie is dust and stones,
Which with sweet water nightly I will dewe,
Or wanting that, with teares destil'd by mones;
The obsequies that I for thee will keepe,
Nightly shall be, to strew thy grave, and weepe.
The Boy gives warning, something doth approach,
What cursed foot wanders this wayes to night,
To crosse my obsequies, and true loves right?
What with a Torch? Muffle me night a while.

Whistle Boy.

Enter Romeo, and Peter.

2960 ROMEO. Give me that Mattocke, & the wrenching Iron,
Hold take this Letter, early in the morning
See thou deliver it to my Lord and Father,
Give me the light; upon thy life I charge thee,
What ere thou hear'st or seest, stand all aloofe,
And do not interrupt me in my course.
Why I descend into this bed of death,
Is partly to behold my Ladies face:
But chiefly to take thence from her dead finger,
A precious Ring: a Ring that I must use,
2970 In deare employment, therefore hence be gone:
But if thou jealous dost returne to prie
In what I further shall intend to do,
By heaven I will teare thee joynt by joynt,
And strew this hungry Churchyard with thy limbs:

The time, and my intents are savage wilde:
More fierce and more inexorable farre,
Then emptie Tygers, or the roaring Sea.

PETER. I will be gone sir, and not trouble you

ROMEO. So shalt thou shew me friendship: take thou that, 2980 Live and be prosperous, and farewell good fellow.

PETER. For all this same, Ile hide me here about,
His lookes I feare, and his intents I doubt.

ROMEO. Thou detestable mawe, thou wombe of death,
Gorg'd with the dearest morsell of the earth:
Thus I enforce thy rotten Iawes to open,
And in despight, Ile cram thee with more food.

PARIS. This is that banisht haughtie Mountague,
That murdred my Loves Cozin; with which griefe,
It is supposed the faire Creature died,
2990 And here is come to do some villanous shame
To the dead bodies: I will apprehend him.
Stop thy unhallowed toyle, vile Mountague:
Can vengeance be pursued further then death?
Condemned vallaine, I do apprehend thee.
Obey and go with me, for thou must die,

ROMEO. I must indeed, and therfore came I hither:
Good gentle youth, tempt not a desperate man,
Flie hence and leave me, thinke upon those gone,
Let them affright thee. I beseech thee Youth,
3000 Put not an other sin upon my head,
By urging me to furie. O be gone,
By heaven I love thee better then my selfe,
For I come hither arm'd against my selfe:
Stay not, be gone, live, and hereafter say,
A mad mans mercy bid thee run away.

PARIS. I do defie thy commisseration,
And apprehend thee for a Fellon here.

ROMEO. Wilt thou provoke me? Then have at thee Boy. [Fight, Paris falls]

PETER. O Lord they fight, I will go call the Watch.

3010 PARIS. O I am slaine, if thou be mercifull,
Open the Tombe, lay me with Juliet.

ROMEO. In faith I will, let me peruse this face:
Mercutius kinsman, Noble Countie Paris,
What said my man, when my betossed soule
Did not attend him as we rode? I thinke
He told me Paris should have married Juliet.
Said he not so? Or did I dreame it so?
Or am I mad, hearing him talke of Juliet,
To thinke it was so? O give me thy hand,
3020 One, writ with me in sowre misfortunes booke.

Ile burie thee in a triumphant grave.

A Grave; O no, a Lanthorne; slaughtred Youth: [he opens the vault]

For here lies Juliet, and her beautie makes

This Vault a feasting presence full of light.

Death lie thou there, by a dead man inter'd.

How oft when men are at the point of death,

Have they beene merrie? Which their Keepers call

A lightning before death? Oh how may I

Call this a lightning? O my Love, my Wife,

3030 Death that hath suckt the honey of thy breath,

Hath had no power yet upon thy Beautie:

Thou are not conquer'd: Beauties ensigne yet

Is Crymson in thy lips, and in thy cheekes,

And Deaths pale flag is not advanced there.

Tybalt, ly'st thou there in thy bloudy sheet?

O what more favour can I do to thee,

Then with that hand that cut thy youth in twaine,

To sunder his that was thy enemy?

Forgive me Cozen. Ah deare Juliet:

3040 Why art thou yet so faire? I will beleieve,

Shall I beleieve, that unsubstantiall death is amorous?

And that the leane abhorred Monster keepes

Thee here in darke to be his Paramour?

For feare of that, I still will stay with thee,

And never from this Pallace of dym night

Depart againe: come lie thou in my armes,

Heere's to thy health, where ere thou tumblest in.

O true Appothecarie!

Thy drugs are quicke. Thus with a kisse I die.

3050 Depart againe; here, here will I remaine,

With Wormes that are thy Chambermaides: O here

Will I set up my everlasting rest:

And shake the yoke of inauspicious starres

From this world-wearied flesh: Eyes looke your last:

Armes take your last embrace: And lips, O you

The doores of breath, seale with a righteous kisse

A datelesse bargaine to ingrossing death:

Come bitter conduct, come unsavoury guide,

Thou desperate Pilot, now at once run on 3060 The dashing Rocks, thy Sea-sicke wearie Barke:

Heere's to my Love. O true Appothecary:

Thy drugs are quicke. Thus with a kisse I die. [dies]

Enter Frier with Lanthorne, Crow, and Spade.

FRIAR. St. Francis be my speed, how oft to night

Have my old feet stumbled at graves? Who's there?

MAN. Here's one, a Friend, & one that knowes you well.

FRIAR. Blisse be upon you. Tell me good my Friend

What Torch is yond that vainely lends his light

To grubs, and eyelesse Sculles? As I discerne, 3070 It burneth in the Capels Monument.

MAN. It doth so holy sir,
And there's my Master, one that you love.

FRIAR. Who is it?

MAN. Romeo.

FRIAR. How long hath he bin there?

MAN. Full halfe an houre.

FRIAR. Go with me to the Vault.

MAN. I dare not Sir.

My Master knowes not but I am gone hence,
3080 And fearefully did menace me with death,
If I did stay to looke on his entents.

FRIAR. Stay, then Ile go alone, feares comes upon me.
O much I feare some ill unluckie thing.

MAN. As I did sleepe under this young tree here,
I dreamt my maister and another fought,
And that my Maister slew him.

FRIAR. Romeo.
Alacke, alacke, what blood is this which staines
The stony entrance of this Sepulcher?
3090 What meane these Masterlesse, and goarie Swords
To lie discolour'd by this place of peace?
Romeo, oh pale: who else? what Paris too?
And steept in blood? Ah what an un kind houre
Is guiltie of this lamentable chance?
The Lady stirs.

JULIET. O comfortable Frier, where's my Lord?
I do remember well where I should be:
And there I am, where is my Romeo?

FRIAR. I heare some noyse Lady, come from that nest
3100 Of death, contagion, and unnaturall sleepe,
A greater power then we can contradict
Hath thwarted our entents, come, come away,
Thy husband in thy bosome there lies dead:
And Paris too: come Ile dispose of thee,
Among a Sisterhood of holy Nunnes:
Stay not to question, for the watch is comming.
Come, go good Juliet, I dare no longer stay. Exit.

JULIET. Go get thee hence, for I will not away,
What's here? A cup clos'd in my true loves hand?
3110 Poyson I see hath bin his timelesse end
O churle, drinke all? and left no friendly drop,
To helpe me after, I will kisse thy lips,
Happlie some poyson yet doth hang on them,
To make me die with a restorative.
Thy lips are warme.

Enter Boy and Watch.

1WATCH. Lead Boy, which way?

JULIET. Yea noise?

Then ile be briefe. O happy Dagger.

3120 'Tis in thy sheath, there rust and let me die Kils herselfe.

BOY. This is the place,
There where the Torch doth burne

1WATCH. The ground is bloody,
Search about the Churchyard.
Go some of you, who ere you find attach.
Pittifull sight, here lies the Countie slaine,
And Juliett bleeding, warme and newly dead
Who here hath laine these two dayes buried.
Go tell the Prince, runne to the Capulets,
3130 Raise up the Mountagues, some others search,
We see the ground whereon these woes do lye,
But the true ground of all these piteous woes,
We cannot without circumstance descry.

Enter Romeo's man.

1WATCH. Here's Romeo's man,
We found him in the Churchyard.

2WATCH. [Con.] Hold him in safety, till the Prince come hither.

Enter Frier, and another Watchman.

3. WATCH. Here is a Frier that trembles, sighes, and weepes
3140 We tooke this Mattocke and this Spade from him,
As he was comming from this Church-yard side.

2WATCH. [Con.] A great suspition, stay the Frier too.

Enter the Prince.

PRINCE. What misadventure is so earely up,
That calls our person from our mornings rest?

Enter Capulet and his Wife.

CAPULET. What should it be that they so shrike abroad?

LADY. CAP. [Wife.] O the people in the streete crie Romeo.
Some Juliet, and some Paris, and all runne 3150 With open outcry toward our Monument.

PRINCE. What feare is this which startles in your eares?

WATCH. Soveraigne, here lies the Countie Paris slaine,
And Romeo dead, and Juliet dead before,
Warme and new kil'd.

PRINCE. Search,
Seeke, and know how, this foule murder comes.

WATCH. Here is a Frier, and Slaughter'd Romeos man,
With Instruments upon them fit to open
These dead mens Tombes.

3160 CAPULET. O heaven!
O wife looke how our Daughter bleedeth!
This Dagger hath mistaine, for loe his house
Is empty on the backe of Mountague,
And is misheathed in my Daughters bosome.

LADY. CAP. [Wife.] O me, this sight of death, is as a Bell
That warnes my old age to a Sepulcher.

Enter Mountague.

PRINCE. Come Mountague, for thou art early up
To see thy Sonne and Heire, now early downe.

3170 MOUNT. Alas my liege, my wife is dead to night,
Griefe of my Sonnes exile hath stopt her breath:
What further woe conspires against my age?

PRINCE. Looke: and thou shalt see.

MOUNT. O thou untaught, what manners in is this,
To presse before thy Father to a grave?

PRINCE. Seale up the mouth of outrage for a while,
Till we can cleare these ambiguities,
And know their spring, their head, their true descent,
And then will I be generall of your woes,
3180 And lead you even to death? meane time forbear,
And let mischance be slave to patience,
Bring forth the parties of suspition.

FRIAR. I am the greatest, able to doe least,
Yet most suspected as the time and place
Doth make against me of this direfull murder:
And heere I stand both to impeach and purge
My selfe condemned, and my selfe excus'd.

PRINCE. Then say at once, what thou dost know in this?

FRIAR. I will be briefe, for my short date of breath
3190 Is not so long as is a tedious tale.
Romeo there dead, was husband to that Juliet,
And she there dead, that's Romeos faithfull wife:
I married them; and their stolne marriage day
Was Tybalts Doomesday: whose untimely death
Banish'd the new-made Bridegroome from this Citie:
For whom (and not for Tybalt) Juliet pinde.
You, to remove that siege of Greefe from her,
Betroth'd, and would have married her perforce
To Countie Paris. Then comes she to me,
3200 And (with wilde lookes) bid me devise some meanes
To rid her from this second Marriage,
Or in my Cell there would she kill her selfe.

Then gave I her (so Tutor'd by my Art)
A sleeping Potion, which so tooke effect
As I intended, for it wrought on her
The forme of death. Meane time, I writ to Romeo,
That he should hither come, as this dyre night,
To helpe to take her from her borrowed grave,
Being the time the Potions force should cease.

3210 But he which bore my Letter, Frier John,
Was stay'd by accident; and yesternight
Return'd my Letter backe. Then all alone,
At the prefixed houre of her waking,
Came I to take her from her Kindreds vault,
Meaning to keepe her closely at my Cell,
Till I conveniently could send to Romeo.
But when I came (some Minute ere the time
Of her awaking) heere untimely lay
The Noble Paris, and true Romeo dead.

3220 Shee wakes, and I intreated her come foorth,
And beare this worke of Heaven, with patience:
But then, a noyse did scarre me from the Tombe,
And she (too desperate) would not go with me,
But (as it seemes) did violence on her selfe.
All this I know, and to the Marriage her Nurse is privy:
And if ought in this miscarried by my fault,
Let my old life be sacrific'd, some houre before the time,
Unto the rigour of severest Law.

PRINCE. We still have knowne thee for a Holy man.

3230 Where's Romeo's man? What can he say to this?

BOY. I brought my Master newes of Juliets death,
And then in poste he came from Mantua
To this same place, to this same Monument.
This Letter he early bid me give his Father,
And threatned me with death, going in the Vault,
If I departed not, and left him there.

PRINCE. Give me the Letter, I will look on it.
Where is the Counties Page that rais'd the Watch?
Sirra, what made your Master in this place?

3240 PAGE. He came with flowres to strew his Ladies grave,
And bid me stand aloofe, and so I did:
Anon comes one with light to ope the Tombe,
And by and by my Maister drew on him,
And then I ran away to call the Watch.

PRINCE. This Letter doth make good the Friers words,
Their course of Love, the tydings of her death:
And heere he writes, that he did buy a poyson
Of a poore Pothecarie, and therewithall
Came to this Vault to dye, and lye with Juliet.

3250 Where be these Enemies? Capulet, Mountague,
See what a scourge is laide upon your hate,

That Heaven finds meanes to kill your joyes with Love;
And I, for winking at your discords too,
Have lost a brace of Kinsmen: All are punish'd.

CAPULET. O Brother Mountague, give me thy hand,
This is my Daughters joynture, for no more
Can I demand.

MOUNT. But I can give thee more
For I will raise her Statue in pure Gold,

3260 That whiles Verona by that name is knowne,
There shall no figure at that Rate be set,
As that of True and Faithfull Juliet.

CAPULET. As rich shall Romeo by his Lady ly,
Poore sacrifices of our enmity.

PRINCE. A glooming peace this morning with it brings,
The Sunne for sorrow will not shew his head;
Go hence, to have more talke of these sad things,
Some shall be pardon'd, and some punished.
For never was a Storie of more Wo,

3270 Then this of Juliet, and her Romeo. Exeunt omnes
